The Law Commission – How We Consult

About the Law Commission: The Law Commission was set up by section 1 of the Law Commissions Act 1965 for the purpose of promoting the reform of the law.

The Law Commissioners are: The Rt Hon Lord Justice Bean, Chairman, Professor Nicholas Hopkins, Stephen Lewis, Professor David Ormerod QC and Nicholas Paines QC. The Chief Executive is Elaine Lorimer.

Topic of this consultation: Sentencing law. This is a collection of the current legislation, and we ask consultees:

- have we missed any of the current legislation; and
- is the scope of our exercise correctly defined?

Geographical scope: This consultation paper applies to the law of England and Wales.

Availability of materials: The consultation paper is available on our website at http://www.lawcom.gov.uk/project/sentencing-procedure/.

Duration of the consultation: We invite responses from 9 October 2015 to 9 April 2016.

Comments may be sent:
By email to sentencing@lawcommission.gsi.gov.uk
OR
By post to Paul Humpherson, Law Commission of England & Wales, Post Point 1.54, 52 Queen Anne’s Gate, London, SW1H 9AG. Tel: 020 3334 5713 / Fax: 020 3334 0201

If you send your comments by post, it would be helpful if, whenever possible, you could also send them electronically (for example, on CD or by email to the above address, in any commonly used format).

After the consultation: In the light of the responses we receive, we will decide on our final recommendations and present them to Government.

Consultation Principles: The Law Commission follows the Consultation Principles set out by the Cabinet Office, which provide guidance on type and scale of consultation, duration, timing, accessibility and transparency. The Principles are available on the Cabinet Office website at: https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/consultation-principles-guidance.

The Law Commission will process your personal data in accordance with the Data Protection Act 1998.
Introduction

This is the second of a number of publications seeking consultees’ views on aspects of the Law Commission’s project to create a New Sentencing Code for England and Wales. The first consultation document explained our provisional proposals relating to transition to the New Sentencing Code, and was published on 1st Jul 2015 (http://www.lawcom.gov.uk/project/sentencing-procedure/).

We received a healthy crop of responses to that first consultation, which we are in the process of analysing. The general tenor of these responses is extremely supportive. We will summarise those responses alongside the publication of our next issues paper which we aim to publish in the spring of 2016. That paper will address a number of discrete policy issues which we believe may require resolution as part of our task to consolidate and rationalise the law of sentencing.

Unlike the first issues paper in July, or the upcoming issues paper in spring 2016, this document does not directly address questions of policy to inform our recommendations (and shape the draft bill). Rather, this document is intended to be a complete statement of the current primary legislation governing sentencing, with short extracts from some common law and other guidance (guidelines, practice directions etc.) where these are central to the law in a particular area.

Those with knowledge of the current law of sentencing will be unsurprised to learn that the document runs to in excess of a thousand pages. The material is presented thematically rather than in chronological statute order.

The purpose of the publication of this document at this stage, in addition to illustrating the problematic volume of the current law on this topic, is to receive consultees’ views on three key questions:

(1) Is the document comprehensive? In other words, have we missed any statutory provisions, or are there entire areas, types of sentencing order etc. which are not reflected in the document but which consultees believe should properly fall within the remit of the New Sentencing Code?

(2) Is the document over-inclusive? In other words, are there provisions included in the document that deal with an area of law that consultees consider should properly fall outside the scope of the New Sentencing Code?

(3) Are there errors in the document, for instance provisions which have been repealed or amended?

Given the length of the document, it is not envisaged that many consultees will have time to engage in detail with it in its entirety. However, we encourage all with a particular interest in the law and practice of sentencing to, first, look over the index to the document (which is fully electronically navigable) and, second, to look in detail at any sections in which they have a particular interest or expertise with the above questions in mind. Readers should note that this is a statement of the present law – it is certainly not intended that the New Sentencing Code will be as complex or difficult to navigate!
Introduction

When considering questions (1) and (2) in particular, we would ask consultees to bear in mind the following decisions which have been made about the scope of the project. As a starting point, the New Sentencing Code would ideally contain all of the primary legislative material with which a court might possibly be concerned during the sentencing process, in addition to as much legal guidance from other sources (common law, practice directions, statutory instruments etc.) as proves practical and desirable. This aim is subject to the following qualifications:

(1) We are not addressing the law on confiscation of the proceeds of crime. Whilst we recognise that this is closely related to issues of sentencing law, the sheer volume of the modern law of confiscation means it is not possible for us to include it within the New Sentencing Code. It may be possible for a future codification of confiscation law to take place. Further, given that in the vast majority of cases contested confiscation proceedings are adjourned to be dealt with on a separate occasion from the sentencing hearing, and a separate timetable is set for the confiscation proceedings, we believe that in practice it is possible without great difficulty to separate confiscation from sentencing. That is not to say the New Sentencing Code will contain no reference to confiscation whatsoever. It may do so where that would assist the sentencing court in keeping in mind all of its duties and powers at the sentencing hearing, perhaps by prompting sentencing courts to remember to address confiscation and set a timetable where relevant. However the main body of confiscation law will continue to rest, at least for now, in the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002, and related legislation.

(2) Our provisional view is that it is necessary to include some provisions dealing with the administration of sentences. For instance there are some sections dealing with release from custody which we have included in the document. This is to enable a sentencing court to understand the effect of the sentence it is seeking to impose, and assist it with its obligation to explain the effect of any sentence imposed to the offender. However, it is not our intention to provide a comprehensive source of guidance for those whose role is the administration of sentences handed down by the courts (prison authorities, probation trusts etc.). For instance, the Code would not necessarily assist a prison governor when considering the (often difficult) question of when to release a prisoner serving a sentence handed down under some previous sentencing regime no longer in force. Again, to include all relevant material would be an enormous task in itself, and would not be something we could include in this project with the resources available.

(3) At present we have included provisions and guidance relating to costs in criminal proceedings, as these would often be dealt with at the sentencing stage. We welcome consultees’ views on whether these have been properly included.

(4) However, at present, we have not included provisions relating to the administration or enforcement of financial penalties. This is because such provisions are not typically used at a sentencing hearing, since they relate to separate processes that are merely triggered by the imposition of a sentence, like confiscation (see above). We welcome consultees’ views on whether these have been properly excluded.
Limitations of this publication

We have endeavoured to collect together all of the law on sentencing currently in force, and to display it in an accurate and up to date manner. Some illustration of the difficulty in identifying the present law with accuracy is demonstrated by the fact that this document was created over several months with the assistance of an expert consultant, Lyndon Harris,1 with access to all the legal databases – legislation.gov.uk, LexisNexis, Westlaw, Lawtel and so on. For a lay person to discover the law would be practically impossible. However, given the sheer volume and complexity of the law in this area, the many different sources in which it is now contained and the frequency with which it is amended and added to, we acknowledge the likelihood that there will be some error or omission in our initial efforts.

It is in the nature of this publication, as a consultation document, that we recognise that it would benefit from the input and expertise of other legal professionals engaged in the theory and practice of sentencing. This document should therefore not be used as an authoritative statement of the current law, nor relied on in its current form in practice.

1 Our sincere thanks to Lyndon for his work on this project, and to the providers of those databases.

\(^2\) Commencement: 4 April 2005, 2005/950, art.2 and Sch.1 para.7

\(^3\) R. v Rakib [2011] EWCA Crim 870; [2012] 1 Cr. App. R. (S.) 1 (p.1) underlined the importance of the provision, stressing that courts must have regard to rehabilitation as an aim of any sentence they are imposing. Merely repeating the statute, the case has no effect other than to, albeit briefly, remind judges of their obligations.
s.142(3) - in this Chapter “sentence”, in relation to an offence, includes any order made by a court when dealing with the offender in respect of his offence; and “sentencing” is to be construed accordingly.

Note: “sentence” and “sentencing” includes “any order made by a court when dealing with the offender in respect of his offence” but does not include offences for which minimum or required sentences must be imposed, or hospital orders, interim hospital orders or “hybrid” orders under s.45A of the Mental Health Act 1983.

1.1.2. Youths (Aged under 18 at sentence)

s.37(1) - it shall be the principal aim of the youth justice system to prevent offending by children and young persons.

s.37(2) - in addition to any other duty to which they are subject, it shall be the duty of all persons and bodies carrying out functions in relation to the youth justice system to have regard to that aim.

CJA 2003 s.142A: Purposes etc. of sentencing: offenders under 18 [not in force] s.142A(1) - this section applies where a court is dealing with an offender aged under 18 in respect of an offence.

s.142A(2) - the court must have regard to—

(a) the principal aim of the youth justice system (which is to prevent offending (or re-offending) by persons aged under 18: see section 37(1) of the Crime and Disorder Act 1998),

(b) in accordance with section 44 of the Children and Young Persons Act 1933, the welfare of the offender, and

(c) the purposes of sentencing mentioned in subsection (3) (so far as it is not required to do so by paragraph (a)).

s.142A(3) - those purposes of sentencing are—

(a) the punishment of offenders,

(b) the reform and rehabilitation of offenders,

(c) the protection of the public, and

(d) the making of reparation by offenders to persons affected by their offences.

s.142A(4) - this section does not apply—

(a) to an offence the sentence for which is fixed by law,

(b) to an offence the sentence for which falls to be imposed under a provision mentioned in subsection (5), or,

(c) in relation to the making under Part 3 of the Mental Health Act 1983 of a hospital order (with or without a restriction order), an interim hospital order, a hospital direction or a limitation direction.

4 Commencement: 30 September 1998, 1998/2327 art.2(1)(g)

5 “youth justice system” means the system of criminal justice in so far as it relates to children and young persons, CDA 1998 s.42(1).
s.142A(5) - the provisions referred to in subsection (4)(b) are—

(c) section 139(6B), 139A(5B) or 139AA(7) of the Criminal Justice Act 1988 (minimum sentence for certain offences involving article with blade or point or offensive weapon);

(d) section 226(2) of this Act (detention for life for certain dangerous offenders);

(e) section 29(6) of the Violent Crime Reduction Act 2006 (minimum sentence in certain cases of using someone to mind a weapon).

CYPA 1933 s.44\(^6\): General considerations

s.44(1) - every court in dealing with a child or young person who is brought before it, either as an offender or otherwise, shall have regard to the welfare of the child or young person and shall in a proper case take steps for removing him from undesirable surroundings, and for securing that proper provision is made for his education and training.

CYPA 1933 s.59\(^7\): Miscellaneous provisions as to summary proceedings against juvenile offenders

(a) is not legally represented in that court, and

(b) has not been previously sentenced to that punishment by a court in any part of the United Kingdom, unless he is a person to whom subsection (3) below applies.

s.83(2) - a magistrates' court on summary conviction, or the Crown Court on committal for sentence or on conviction on indictment, shall not:

(a) pass a sentence of detention under section 90 or 91 below,

(b) pass a sentence of custody for life under section 93 or 94 below,

s.83(3) - this subsection applies to a person if either:

(a) representation was made available to him for the purposes of the proceedings under Part 1 of the Legal Aid, Sentencing and Punishment of Offenders Act 2012 but was withdrawn because of his conduct or because it appeared that his financial resources were such that he was not eligible [for such representation;

(aa) he applied for such representation and the application was refused because it appeared that his financial resources were such that he was not eligible for such representation; or

s.83(4) - for the purposes of this section a person is to be treated as legally represented in a court if, but only if, he has the assistance of counsel or a solicitor to represent him in the proceedings in that court at some time after he is found guilty and before he is sentenced.

1.3 Determining the seriousness of an offence and statutory aggravating factors

1.3.1 Seriousness

CJA 2003 s.143: Determining the seriousness of an offence

s.143(1) - in considering the seriousness of any offence, the court must consider the offender’s culpability in committing the offence and any harm which the offence caused, was intended to cause or might foreseeably have caused.

s.143(2) - in considering the seriousness of an offence (“the current offence”) committed by an offender who has one or more previous convictions, the court must treat each previous conviction as an aggravating factor if (in the case of that conviction) the court considers that it can reasonably be so treated having regard, in particular, to—

(a) the nature of the offence to which the conviction relates and its relevance to the current offence, and

(b) the time that has elapsed since the conviction.

s.143(3) - in considering the seriousness of any offence committed while the offender was on bail, the court must treat the fact that it was committed in those circumstances as an aggravating factor.10

s.143(4) - any reference in subsection (2) to a previous conviction is to be read as a reference to—

(a) a previous conviction by a court in the United Kingdom,

(aa) a previous conviction by a court in another member State of a relevant offence under the law of that State,

(b) a previous conviction of a service offence within the meaning of the Armed Forces Act 2006 (“conviction” here including anything that under section 376(1) and (2) of that Act is to be treated as a conviction), or

(c) a finding of guilt in respect of a member State service offence.

s.143(5) - subsections (2) and (4) do not prevent the court from treating:

(a) a previous conviction by a court outside both the United Kingdom and any other member State, or

(b) a previous conviction by a court in any member State (other than the United Kingdom) of an offence which is not a relevant offence, as an aggravating factor in any case where the court considers it appropriate to do so.

s.143(6) - for the purposes of this section—

(a) an offence is “relevant” if the offence would constitute an offence under the law of any part of the United Kingdom if it were done in that part at the time of the conviction of the defendant for the current offence,

(b) “member State service offence” means an offence which—

9 Commencement: 4 April 2005, 2005/950 art.2 and Sch.1 para.7.

10 Note: There is no discretion in this provision.
(i) was the subject of proceedings under the service law of a member State other than the United Kingdom, and
(ii) would constitute an offence under the law of any part of the United Kingdom, or a service offence (within the meaning of the Armed Forces Act 2006), if it were done in any part of the United Kingdom, by a member of Her Majesty's forces, at the time of the conviction of the defendant for the current offence,

(c) “Her Majesty's forces” has the same meaning as in the Armed Forces Act 2006, and
(d) “service law”, in relation to a member State other than the United Kingdom, means the law governing all or any of the naval, military or air forces of that State.

Note: This section has to be read in conjunction with the section detailing the custody threshold and when a community sentence can be imposed.

Note: The Sentencing Guidelines Council’s Overarching Principles: Seriousness Guideline contains guidance as to the assessment of culpability and harm as a part of the assessment of seriousness of an offence.

1.3.2. Racial/religious aggravation

CDA 1998 s.2811: Meaning of “racially or religiously aggravated”

s.28(1) - an offence is [racially or religiously aggravated for the purposes of sections 29 to 32 below if—
(a) at the time of committing the offence, or immediately before or after doing so, the offender demonstrates towards the victim of the offence hostility based on the victim's membership (or presumed membership) of a [racial or religious group; or
(b) the offence is motivated (wholly or partly) by hostility towards members of a racial or religious group based on their membership of that group.

s.28(2) - in subsection (1)(a) above—“membership”, in relation to a racial or religious group, includes association with members of that group; “presumed” means presumed by the offender.

s.28(3) - it is immaterial for the purposes of paragraph (a) or (b) of subsection (1) above whether or not the offender’s hostility is also based, to any extent, on any other factor not mentioned in that paragraph.

s.28(4) - in this section “racial group” means a group of persons defined by reference to race, colour, nationality (including citizenship) or ethnic or national origins.

s.28(5) - in this section “religious group” means a group of persons defined by reference to religious belief or lack of religious belief.

s.145(1) - this section applies where a court is considering the seriousness of an offence other than one under sections 29 to 32 of the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 (c. 37) (racially or religiously aggravated assaults, criminal damage, public order offences and harassment etc).

s.145(2) - if the offence was racially or religiously aggravated, the court:
(a) must treat that fact as an aggravating factor, and
(b) must state in open court that the offence was so aggravated.

s.145(3) - section 28 of the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 (meaning of “racially or religiously aggravated”) applies for the purposes of this section as it applies for the purposes of sections 29 to 32 of that Act.

Note: There is no discretion as with other provisions e.g. s.143(2).

1.3.3. Disability/sexual orientation or transgender identity

CJA 2003 s.146: Increase in sentences for aggravation related to disability, sexual orientation or transgender identity

s.146(1) - this section applies where the court is considering the seriousness of an offence committed in any of the circumstances mentioned in subsection (2).

s.146(2) - those circumstances are—
(a) that, at the time of committing the offence, or immediately before or after doing so, the offender demonstrated towards the victim of the offence hostility based on—
(i) the sexual orientation (or presumed sexual orientation) of the victim,
(ii) a disability (or presumed disability) of the victim, or
(iii) the victim being (or being presumed to be) transgender, or
(b) that the offence is motivated (wholly or partly)—
(i) by hostility towards persons who are of a particular sexual orientation,
(ii) by hostility towards persons who have a disability or a particular disability, or
(iii) by hostility towards persons who are transgender.

s.146(3) - the court—
(a) must treat the fact that the offence was committed in any of those circumstances as an aggravating factor, and
(b) must state in open court that the offence was committed in such circumstances.

s.146(4) - it is immaterial for the purposes of paragraph (a) or (b) of subsection (2) whether or not the offender's hostility is also based, to any extent, on any other factor not mentioned in that paragraph.

   (a) a court is considering the seriousness of an offence under section 4(3) of this Act, and
   (b) at the time the offence was committed the offender had attained the age of 18.

s.4A(2) - if either of the following conditions is met the court–
   (a) must treat the fact that the condition is met as an aggravating factor (that is to say, a factor that increases the seriousness of the offence), and
   (b) must state in open court that the offence is so aggravated.

s.4A(3) - the first condition is that the offence was committed on or in the vicinity of school premises at a relevant time.

s.4A(4) - the second condition is that in connection with the commission of the offence the offender used a courier who, at the time the offence was committed, was under the age of 18.

s.4A(5) - in subsection (3), a relevant time is–
   (a) any time when the school premises are in use by persons under the age of 18;
   (b) one hour before the start and one hour after the end of any such time.

s.4A(6) - for the purposes of subsection (4), a person uses a courier in connection with an offence under section 4(3) of this Act if he causes or permits another person (the courier)–

   (b) to deliver a drug related consideration to himself or a third person.

s.4A(7) - for the purposes of subsection (6), a drug related consideration is a consideration of any description which–

1.3.5. Terrorist connection

CTA 2008 s.30: Sentences for offences with a terrorist connection: England and Wales

- s.30(1) - this section applies where a court in England and Wales is considering for the purposes of sentence the seriousness of an offence specified in Schedule 2 (offences where terrorist connection to be considered).

- s.30(2) - if having regard to the material before it for the purposes of sentencing it appears to the court that the offence has or may have a terrorist connection, the court must determine whether that is the case.

- s.30(3) - for that purpose the court may hear evidence, and must take account of any representations made by the prosecution and the defence, as in the case of any other matter relevant for the purposes of sentence.

- s.30(4) - if the court determines that the offence has a terrorist connection, the court—
  (a) must treat that fact as an aggravating factor, and
  (b) must state in open court that the offence was so aggravated.

- s.30(5) - in this section “sentence”, in relation to an offence, includes any order made by a court when dealing with a person in respect of the offence.

- s.30(6) - this section has effect in relation only to offences committed on or after the day it comes into force.

CTA 2008 Sch.2: Offences where terrorist connection to be considered 15 Commencement: 18 June 2009, SI 2009/1256 art.2(b).

1.4 Custody/Custody threshold/Community sentences

1.4.1. General principles relating to discretionary custodial sentences

CJA 2003 s.153\(^{16}\): Length of discretionary custodial sentences: general provision s.153(1) - This section applies where a court passes a custodial sentence other than one fixed by law or imposed under section 224A, 225 or 226

(2) Subject to section 1A(5) of the Prevention of Crime Act 1953, section 51A(2) of the Firearms Act 1968, section 139AA(7) of the Criminal Justice Act 1988, sections 110(2) and 111(2) of the Sentencing Act, section 29(4) or (6) of the Violent Crime Reduction Act 2006 and sections 226A(4) and 226B(2) of this Act, the custodial sentence must be for the shortest term (not exceeding the permitted maximum) that in the opinion of the court is commensurate with the seriousness of the offence, or the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it.

1.4.2. The custody threshold

CJA 2003 s.152\(^{17}\): General restrictions on imposing discretionary custodial sentences

s.152(1) - this section applies where a person is convicted of an offence punishable with a custodial sentence other than one—

(a) fixed by law, or

(b) falling to be imposed under section 1A(5) of the Prevention of Crime Act 1953, under section 51A(2) of the Firearms Act 1968, under section 139AA(7) of the Criminal Justice Act 1988, under section 110(2) or 111(2) of the Sentencing Act, under section 29(4) or (6) of the Violent Crime Reduction Act 2006 or under 224A, section 225(2) or 226(2) of this Act.

s.152(2) - the court must not pass a custodial sentence unless it is of the opinion that the offence, or the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it, was so serious that neither a fine alone nor a community sentence can be justified for the offence.

s.152(3) - nothing in subsection (2) prevents the court from passing a custodial sentence on the offender if—

(a) he fails to express his willingness to comply with a requirement which is proposed by the court to be included in a community order and which requires an expression of such willingness, or

(b) he fails to comply with an order under section 161(2)\(^{18}\) (pre-sentence drug testing).

CJA 2003 s.166: Savings for powers to mitigate sentences and deal appropriately with mentally disordered offenders

s.166(1) - nothing in—
  (a) section 148 (imposing community sentences),
  (b) section 152, 153 or 157 (imposing custodial sentences),
  (c) section 156 (pre-sentence reports and other requirements),
  (d) section 164 (fixing of fines),
  (e) paragraph 3 of Schedule 1 to the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 (youth rehabilitation order with intensive supervision and surveillance), or
  (f) paragraph 4 of Schedule 1 to that Act (youth rehabilitation order with fostering), prevents a court from mitigating an offender's sentence by taking into account any such matters as, in the opinion of the court, are relevant in mitigation of sentence.

s.166(2) - Section 152(2) does not prevent a court, after taking into account such matters, from passing a community sentence even though it is of the opinion that the offence, or the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it, was so serious that a community sentence could not normally be justified for the offence.

s.166(3) - nothing in the sections mentioned in subsection (1)(a) to (f) prevents a court—
  (a) from mitigating any penalty included in an offender's sentence by taking into account any other penalty included in that sentence, and
  (b) in the case of an offender who is convicted of one or more other offences, from mitigating his sentence by applying any rule of law as to the totality of sentences.

s.166(4) - subsections (2) and (3) are without prejudice to the generality of subsection (1).

s.166(5) - nothing in the sections mentioned in subsection (1)(a) to (f) is to be taken—
  (a) as requiring a court to pass a custodial sentence, or any particular custodial sentence, on a mentally disordered offender, or
  (b) as restricting any power (whether under the Mental Health Act 1983 (c. 20) or otherwise) which enables a court to deal with such an offender in the manner it considers to be most appropriate in all the circumstances.

s.166(6) - in subsection (5) “mentally disordered”, in relation to a person, means suffering from a mental disorder within the meaning of the Mental Health Act 1983.

Commencement: 4 April 2005, 2005/950 arts.2 and Sch.1 para.7. The section is of no effect in relation to offences committed before 4 April 2005, see 2005/950 Sch.2 para.5(2)(a).
1.4.3. Community sentences

CJA 2003 s.148<sup>20</sup>: Restrictions on imposing community sentences<sup>21</sup>

s.148(1) - a court must not pass a community sentence on an offender unless it is of the opinion that the offence, or the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it, was serious enough to warrant such a sentence.

s.148(2) - where a court passes a community sentence—
   (a) the particular requirement or requirements forming part of the community order, or, as the case may be, youth rehabilitation order, comprised in the sentence must be such as, in the opinion of the court, is, or taken together are, the most suitable for the offender, and
   (b) the restrictions on liberty imposed by the order must be such as in the opinion of the court are commensurate with the seriousness of the offence, or the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it.

s.148(2A) - subsection (2) is subject to section 177(2A) (community orders: punitive elements) and to paragraph 3(4) of Schedule 1 to the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 (youth rehabilitation order with intensive supervision and surveillance).

s.148(4) - subsections (1) and (2)(b) have effect subject to section 151(2).

s.148(5) - the fact that by virtue of any provision of this section—
   (a) a community sentence may be passed in relation to an offence; or
   (b) particular restrictions on liberty may be imposed by a community order or youth rehabilitation order, does not require a court to pass such a sentence or to impose those restrictions.

1.5 Concurrent/consecutive sentences

Note: See also the Sentencing Council’s Definitive Guideline on Offences Taken into Consideration and Totality

CJA 2003 s.265\textsuperscript{22}: Restriction on consecutive sentences for released prisoners

s.265(1) - a court sentencing a person to a term of imprisonment may not order the term to commence on the expiry of any other sentence of imprisonment from which he has been released: (a) under CJA 2003 Part 12 Chapter 6; or (b) under Criminal Justice Act 1991 Part 2 s.265(2) - in this section “sentence of imprisonment” includes a sentence of detention under section 91 or 96 of the Sentencing Act or section 227 or 228 of this Act or a sentence of detention in a young offender institution under section 96 of the Sentencing Act or under section 226A, 226B, 227 of this Act, and “term of imprisonment” is to be read accordingly.

CJA 2003 s.155\textsuperscript{23}: Consecutive terms of imprisonment [Not in force]

Note: Section 155 amends MCA 1980 s.133 which deals with the powers of the magistrates’ courts to impose consecutive sentences of imprisonment. Section 155 extends the power to impose consecutive sentences for summary only offences from 6 months to 65 weeks. The distinction between summary only and either way offences is removed. However, s.155 has not been amended to take account of the insertion of MCA 1980 s133(2A).

\textsuperscript{22} Commencement: 26 January 2004 for the purposes of the passing of a sentence of imprisonment to which an intermittent custody order relates and the release on licence of a person serving such a sentence, SI 2003/3282 art.2 and Sch.1. In force 4 April 2005 otherwise, SI 2005/950 art.2(1) and Sch.1 para.19.

1.6 Totality

CJA 2003 s.166\textsuperscript{24}: Mitigating sentence

s.166(1) - nothing in—
(a) section 148 (imposing community sentences),
(b) section 152, 153 or 157 (imposing custodial sentences),
(c) section 156 (pre-sentence reports and other requirements),
(d) section 164 (fixing of fines),
(e) paragraph 3 of Schedule 1 to the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 (youth rehabilitation order with intensive supervision and surveillance), or
(f) paragraph 4 of Schedule 1 to that Act (youth rehabilitation order with fostering), prevents a court from mitigating an offender's sentence by taking into account any such matters as, in the opinion of the court, are relevant in mitigation of sentence.

s.166(3) - nothing in the sections mentioned in subsection (1)(a) to (f) prevents a court:
(a) from mitigating any penalty included in an offender's sentence by taking into account any other penalty included in that sentence, and

\textsuperscript{24} Commencement: 4 April 2005, 2005/950 arts.2 and Sch.1 para.7. The section is of no effect in relation to offences committed before 4 April 2005, see 2005/950 Sch.2 para.5(2)(a).
1.7 Disparity

Note: Although not the subject of statutory provisions, this is a frequent complaint on appeal against sentence to the Court of Appeal (Criminal Division). The principle is to be found in R. v Weekes 1980 2 Cr. App. R. (S.) 377. The headnote reads:

“Where on a trial of two or more defendants, one of them pleads guilty and the other or others not guilty, and the one who pleads guilty proposes to give evidence either for his co-defendants or for the Crown, the better sentencing policy is not to sentence that defendant before he gives evidence; but to sentence all the defendants at the same time and that should be done by the same Court, whenever that is possible.

When a question of disparity of sentence is raised on appeal, the Court of Appeal should ask not only whether the appellants labour under a sense of grievance, but whether there is justification for that grievance.”
1.8 Assistance by offender/Informants

1.8.1. Formal agreements

SOCPA 2005 s.73: Assistance by defendant: reduction in sentence s.73(1) - this section applies if a defendant—

(a) following a plea of guilty is either convicted of an offence in proceedings in the Crown Court or is committed to the Crown Court for sentence, and

(b) has, pursuant to a written agreement made with a specified prosecutor, assisted or offered to assist the investigator or prosecutor in relation to that or any other offence.

s.73(2) - in determining what sentence to pass on the defendant the court may take into account the extent and nature of the assistance given or offered.

s.73(3) - if the court passes a sentence which is less than it would have passed but for the assistance given or offered, it must state in open court—

(a) that it has passed a lesser sentence than it would otherwise have passed, and

(b) what the greater sentence would have been.

s.73(4) - subsection (3) does not apply if the court thinks that it would not be in the public interest to disclose that the sentence has been discounted; but in such a case the court must give written notice of the matters specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (3) to both the prosecutor and the defendant.

s.73(5) - nothing in any enactment which—

(a) requires that a minimum sentence is passed in respect of any offence or an offence of any description or by reference to the circumstances of any offender (whether or not the enactment also permits the court to pass a lesser sentence in particular circumstances), or

(b) in the case of a sentence which is fixed by law, requires the court to take into account certain matters for the purposes of making an order which determines or has the effect of determining the minimum period of imprisonment which the offender must serve (whether or not the enactment also permits the court to fix a lesser period in particular circumstances),

s.73(6) - if, in determining what sentence to pass on the defendant, the court takes into account the extent and nature of the assistance given or offered as mentioned in subsection (2), that does not prevent the court from also taking account of any other matter which it is entitled by virtue of any other enactment to take account of for the purposes of determining—

(a) the sentence, or

(b) in the case of a sentence which is fixed by law, any minimum period of imprisonment which an offender must serve.

s.73(7) - if subsection (3) above does not apply by virtue of subsection (4) above, sections 174(1)(a) and 270 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (c. 44) (requirement to explain reasons for sentence or other order) do not apply to the extent that the explanation will disclose that a sentence has been discounted in pursuance of this section.

s.73(8) - in this section:
(a) a reference to a sentence includes, in the case of a sentence which is fixed by law, a reference to the minimum period an offender is required to serve, and a reference to a lesser sentence must be construed accordingly;
(b) a reference to imprisonment includes a reference to any other custodial sentence within the meaning of section 76 of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 (c. 6) or Article 2 of the Criminal Justice (Northern Ireland) Order 1996 (S.I. 1996/3160).

s.73(9) - an agreement with a specified prosecutor may provide for assistance to be given to that prosecutor or to any other prosecutor.

s.73(10) - references to a specified prosecutor must be construed in accordance with section 71.

Note: Beyond these provisions, the proper approach to discounting sentences for assistance given or offered is to be found in case law. The headnote to R. v King (1985) 7 Cr App R (S) 227 reads, in part, "No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to the amount by which a sentence can be reduced on a large scale informer by reason of the assistance he gives to the police. The Court should first of all turn to the offences which the informer has admitted to assess their gravity and their number, thus enabling a starting figure to be reached… The amount by which the above starting figure should be reduced will depend upon a number of variable features—the quality and quantity of the material disclosed by the informer, its accuracy and his willingness to confront other criminals or give evidence against them and the degree to which he put himself and his family at risk of reprisal. His criminal life would probably be at an end. Consequently, an expectation of some substantial mitigation of what would otherwise be the proper sentence is required in order to produce the desired result, namely the information".

See also e.g. R. v A and B [1999] 1 Cr App R (S)

SOCPA 2005 s.74: Assistance by defendant: review of sentence s.74(1) - this section applies if—

(a) the Crown Court has passed a sentence on a person in respect of an offence, and
(b) the person falls within subsection (2).

s.74(2) - a person falls within this subsection if—
(a) he receives a discounted sentence in consequence of his having offered in pursuance of a written agreement to give assistance to the prosecutor or investigator of an offence but he knowingly fails to any extent to give assistance in accordance with the agreement;
(b) he receives a discounted sentence in consequence of his having offered in pursuance of a written agreement to give assistance to the prosecutor or investigator of an offence and, having given the assistance in accordance with the agreement, in pursuance of another written agreement gives or offers to give further assistance;

26 Commencement: 1 April 2006, 2006/378 art.5(1).
(c) he receives a sentence which is not discounted but in pursuance of a written agreement he subsequently gives or offers to give assistance to the prosecutor or investigator of an offence.

s.74(3) - a specified prosecutor may at any time refer the case back to the court by which the sentence was passed if—

(a) the person is still serving his sentence, and
(b) the specified prosecutor thinks it is in the interests of justice to do so.

s.74(4) - a case so referred must, if possible, be heard by the judge who passed the sentence to which the referral relates.

s.74(5) - if the court is satisfied that a person who falls within subsection (2)(a) knowingly failed to give the assistance it may substitute for the sentence to which the referral relates such greater sentence (not exceeding that which it would have passed but for the agreement to give assistance) as it thinks appropriate.

s.74(6) - in a case of a person who falls within subsection (2)(b) or (c) the court may—

(a) take into account the extent and nature of the assistance given or offered;
(b) substitute for the sentence to which the referral relates such lesser sentence as it thinks appropriate.

s.74(7) - any part of the sentence to which the referral relates which the person has already served must be taken into account in determining when a greater or lesser sentence imposed by subsection (5) or (6) has been served.

s.74(8) - a person in respect of whom a reference is made under this section and the specified prosecutor may with the leave of the Court of Appeal appeal to the Court of Appeal against the decision of the Crown Court.

s.74(9) - Section 33(3) of the Criminal Appeal Act 1968 (c. 19) (limitation on appeal from the criminal division of the Court of Appeal) does not prevent an appeal to the Supreme Court under this section.

s.74(10) - a discounted sentence is a sentence passed in pursuance of section 73 or subsection (6) above.

s.74(11) - references—

(a) to a written agreement are to an agreement made in writing with a specified prosecutor;
(b) to a specified prosecutor must be construed in accordance with section 71.

s.74(12) - in relation to any proceedings under this section:

(a) the Secretary of State may, in relation to proceedings in England and Wales, make an order containing provision corresponding to any provision in the Criminal Appeal Act 1968 (subject to any specified modifications);
(b) the Department of Justice in Northern Ireland may, in relation to proceedings in Northern Ireland, make an order containing provision corresponding to any provision in the Criminal Appeal (Northern Ireland) Act 1980 (subject to any specified modifications).

s.74(13) - a person does not fall within subsection (2) if—

(a) he was convicted of an offence for which the sentence is fixed by law, and
(b) he did not plead guilty to the offence for which he was sentenced.

s.74(14) - Section 174(1)(a) or 270 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (c. 44) (as the case may be) applies to a sentence substituted under subsection (5) above unless the court thinks that it is not in the public interest to disclose that the person falls within subsection (2)(a) above.

s.74(15) - Subsections (3) to (9) of section 73 apply for the purposes of this section as they apply for the purposes of that section and any reference in those subsections to subsection (2) of that section must be construed as a reference to subsection (6) of this section.

SOCPA 2005 s.7527: Proceedings under section 74: exclusion of public

s.75(1) - this section applies to—
(a) any proceedings relating to a reference made under section 74(3), and
(b) any other proceedings arising in consequence of such proceedings.

s.75(2) - the court in which the proceedings will be or are being heard may make such order as it thinks appropriate—
(a) to exclude from the proceedings any person who does not fall within subsection (4);
(b) to give such directions as it thinks appropriate prohibiting the publication of any matter relating to the proceedings (including the fact that the reference has been made).

s.75(3) - an order under subsection (2) may be made only to the extent that the court thinks—
(a) that it is necessary to do so to protect the safety of any person, and
(b) that it is in the interests of justice.

s.75(4) - the following persons fall within this subsection—
(a) a member or officer of the court;
(b) a party to the proceedings;
(c) counsel or a solicitor for a party to the proceedings;
(d) a person otherwise directly concerned with the proceedings.

s.75(5) - this section does not affect any other power which the court has by virtue of any rule of law or other enactment—
(a) to exclude any person from proceedings, or
(b) to restrict the publication of any matter relating to proceedings.

SOCPA 2005 s.75A28: Proceedings under section 74: use of live link

1.8.2. The “text” regime

See R. v H [2009] EWCA Crim 2485; [2010] 2 Cr. App. R. (S.) 18 (p.104) the headnote to which reads, in part, “It was clear that the 2005 Act did not abolish the former system, and that the previous “text” system might still be used where a defendant had provided assistance which did not fall within the new arrangements, and in particular the written agreement. The introduction of the statutory regime did not extinguish the text regime, nor alter the principles which applied to it.

PCC(S)A 2000 s.3 Committal after conviction on summary trial for either way offence s.3(1) - subject to subsection (4) below, this section applies where on the summary trial of an offence triable either way a person aged 18 or over is convicted of the offence.

s.3(2) - if the court is of the opinion—

(a) that the offence or the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it was so serious that the Crown Court should, in the court’s opinion, have the power to deal with the offender in any way it could deal with him if he had been convicted on indictment, the court may commit the offender in custody or on bail to the Crown Court for sentence in accordance with section 5(1) below.

s.3(3) - where the court commits a person under subsection (2) above, section 6 below (which enables a magistrates’ court, where it commits a person under this section in respect of an offence, also to commit him to the Crown Court to be dealt with in respect of certain other offences) shall apply accordingly.

s.3(4) - this section does not apply in relation to an offence as regards which this section is excluded by section 17D or 33 of the Magistrates’ Courts Act 1980 (certain offences where value involved is small).

s.3(5) - the preceding provisions of this section shall apply in relation to a corporation as if—

(a) the corporation were an individual aged 18 or over; and

(b) in subsection (2) above, the words “in custody or on bail” were omitted.

PCC(S)A 2000 s.4 Guilty plea indicated for either way offence, with related offences

(c) proceeding as if section 9(1) of that Act were complied with and he pleaded guilty under it, the court convicts him of the offence.

s.4(1A) - but this section does not apply to an offence as regards which this section is excluded by section 17D of that Act (certain offences where value involved is small).

38 Commencement: 25 August 2000, PCC(S)A 2000 s.168(1)
39 This section may only be used where the court has sent the adult defendant for trial for some offences but has to deal with the defendant for other either way offences in relation to which he has indicated a guilty plea. The defendant may be committed even though the magistrates are not of the view that greater sentencing powers are required.
s.4(2) - if the court has sent the offender to the Crown Court for trial for one or more related offences, that is to say, one or more offences which, in its opinion, are related to the offence, it may commit him in custody or on bail to the Crown Court to be dealt with in respect of the offence in accordance with section 5(1) below.

s.4(3) - if the power conferred by subsection (2) above is not exercisable but the court is still to determine to, or to determine whether to, send the offender to the Crown Court for trial under section 51 or 51A of the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 for one or more related offences—

(a) it shall adjourn the proceedings relating to the offence until after it has made those determinations; and

(b) if it sends the offender to the Crown Court for trial for one or more related offences, it may then exercise that power.

s.4(4) - where the court—

(a) under subsection (2) above commits the offender to the Crown Court to be dealt with in respect of the offence, and

(b) does not state that, in its opinion, it also has power so to commit him under section 3(2) or, as the case may be, section 3A(2) above, section 5(1) below shall not apply unless he is convicted before the Crown Court of one or more of the related offences.

s.4(5) - where section 5(1) below does not apply, the Crown Court may deal with the offender in respect of the offence in any way in which the magistrates’ court could deal with him if it had just convicted him of the offence.

s.4(6) - where the court commits a person under subsection (2) above, section 6 below (which enables a magistrates’ court, where it commits a person under this section in respect of an offence, also to commit him to the Crown Court to be dealt with in respect of certain other offences) shall apply accordingly.

s.4(7) - for the purposes of this section one offence is related to another if, were they both to be prosecuted on indictment, the charges for them could be joined in the same indictment.

s.4(8) - in reaching any decision under or taking any step contemplated by this section—

(a) the court shall not be bound by any indication of sentence given in respect of the offence under section 20 of the Magistrates’ Courts Act 1980 (procedure where summary trial appears more suitable); and

(b) nothing the court does under this section may be challenged or be the subject of any appeal in any court on the ground that it is not consistent with an indication of sentence.

PCC(S)A 2000 s.540: Powers of Crown Court on committal under ss.3, 3A and 4

s.5(1) - where an offender is committed by a magistrates’ court for sentence under section 3, 3A or 4 above, the Crown Court shall inquire into the circumstances of the case and may deal with the offender in any way in which it could deal with him if he had just been convicted of the offence on indictment before the court.

(a) in respect of which the offender is committed under section 3A(2) above; or

(b) in respect of which—

(i) the offender is committed under section 4(2) above; and s.3B(2) - if the court is of the opinion that—

(a) the offence; or

(b) the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it, was such that the Crown Court should, in the court’s opinion, have power to deal with the offender as if the provisions of section 91(3) below applied, the court may commit him in custody or on bail to the Crown Court for sentence in accordance with section 5A(1) below.

s.3B(3) - where the court commits a person under subsection (2) above, section 6 below (which enables a magistrates’ court, where it commits a person under this section in respect of an offence, also to commit him to the Crown Court to be dealt with in respect of certain other offences) shall apply accordingly.

(ii) he subsequently appears or is brought before such a court.

para.8(2) - the court must consider his case and deal with him in one of the following ways—

(a) the court may order that the suspended sentence is to take effect with its original term unaltered,

(b) the court may order that the sentence is to take effect with the substitution for the original term of a lesser term,

(ba) the court may order the offender to pay a fine of an amount not exceeding £2,500,

(c) in the case of a suspended sentence order that imposes one or more community requirements, the court may amend the order by doing any one or more of the following—

(i) imposing more onerous community requirements which the court could include if it were then making the order,

(ii) subject to subsections (3) and (4) of section 189, extending the supervision period, or

(iii) subject to subsection (3) of that section, extending the operational period,

(d) in the case of a suspended sentence order that does not impose any community requirements, the court may, subject to section 189(3), amend the order by extending the operational period.

para.8(6) - where a suspended sentence order was made by the Crown Court and a magistrates' court would (apart from this sub-paragraph) be required to deal with the offender under sub-paragraph (2)(a), (b), (ba) or (c) it may instead commit him to custody or release him on bail until he can be brought or appear before the Crown Court.

para.8(7) - a magistrates' court which deals with an offender’s case under subparagraph (6) must send to the Crown Court—

(a) a certificate signed by a justice of the peace certifying that the offender has failed to comply with the community requirements of the suspended sentence order in the respect specified in the certificate, and

(b) such other particulars of the case as may be desirable;

and a certificate purporting to be so signed is admissible as evidence of the failure before the Crown Court.

para.11(2) - where an offender is convicted by a magistrates’ court of any offence and the court is satisfied that the offence was committed during the operational period of a suspended sentence passed by the Crown Court—

(a) the court may, if it thinks fit, commit him in custody or on bail to the Crown Court, and

(b) if it does not, must give written notice of the conviction to the appropriate officer of the Crown Court.

68 The subsequent provisions of para.8 and para.10 contain, inter alia, supplementary provisions concerning the sentencing powers of the court. These powers are not dealt with here, in the committals section, and are instead dealt with in the Suspended Sentence Order section below.
PCC(S)A 2000 s.7:

s.7(2) - subsection (1) above does not apply where under section 6 above a magistrates’ court commits a person to be dealt with by the Crown Court in respect of a suspended sentence, but in such a case the powers under paragraphs 8 and 9 of Schedule 12 to the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (power of court to deal with suspended sentence) shall be exercisable by the Crown Court.

Youth Rehabilitation Order, Breach of

para.7(1) - sub-paragraph (2) applies if—
(a) the youth rehabilitation order was made by the Crown Court and contains a direction under paragraph 36 of Schedule 1, and
(b) a youth court or other magistrates’ court would (apart from that subparagraph) be required, or has the power, to deal with the offender in one of the ways mentioned in paragraph 6(2).

para.7(2) - the court may instead—
(a) commit the offender in custody, or
(b) release the offender on bail, until the offender can be brought or appear before the Crown Court.

para.7(3) - where a court deals with the offender’s case under sub-paragraph (2) it must send to the Crown Court—
(a) a certificate signed by a justice of the peace certifying that the offender has failed to comply with the youth rehabilitation order in the respect specified in the certificate, and
(b) such other particulars of the case as may be desirable;
and a certificate purporting to be so signed is admissible as evidence of the failure before the Crown Court.

para.8(1) - this paragraph applies where—
(a) an offender appears or is brought before the Crown Court under paragraph 5 or by virtue of paragraph 7(2), and
(b) it is proved to the satisfaction of that court that the offender has failed without reasonable excuse to comply with the youth rehabilitation order.

(2) The Crown Court may deal with the offender in respect of that failure in any one of the following ways—
(a) by ordering the offender to pay a fine of an amount not exceeding £2,500,
(b) by amending the terms of the youth rehabilitation order so as to impose any requirement which could have been included in the order when it was made—

(i) in addition to, or
(ii) in substitution for,
any requirement or requirements already imposed by the order;
(c) by dealing with the offender, for the offence in respect of which the order was made, in any way in which the Crown Court could have dealt with the offender for that offence.

para.8(12) - the court may impose a youth rehabilitation order with intensive supervision and surveillance notwithstanding anything in section 1(4)(a) or (b).

para.8(13) - if—
(a) the order is a youth rehabilitation order with intensive supervision and surveillance, and
(b) the offence mentioned in sub-paragraph (2)(c) was punishable with imprisonment,

para.8(14) - if—
(a) the order is a youth rehabilitation order with intensive supervision and surveillance which was imposed by virtue of paragraph 6(13) or sub-paragraph (12), and
(b) the offence mentioned in sub-paragraph (2)(c) was not punishable with imprisonment, for the purposes of dealing with the offender under sub-paragraph (2)(c), the Crown Court is to be taken to have had power to deal with the offender for that offence by making a detention and training order for a term not exceeding 4 months.

2.1.7. Remitting juvenile for sentence

PCC(S)A 2000 s.872: Power and duty to remit young offender to youth court for sentence s.8(1) - subsection (2) below applies where a child or young person (that is to say, any person aged under 18) is convicted by or before any court of an offence other than homicide.

s.8(2) - the court may and, if it is not a youth court, shall unless satisfied that it would be undesirable to do so, remit the case—
(a) if the offender was sent to the Crown Court for trial under section 51 or 51A of the Crime and Disorder Act 1998, to a youth court acting for the place where he was sent to the Crown Court for trial;
(b) in any other case, to a youth court acting either for the same place as the remitting court or for the place where the offender habitually resides;
but in relation to a magistrates’ court other than a youth court this subsection has effect subject to subsection (6) below.

s.8(3) - where a case is remitted under subsection (2) above, the offender shall be brought before a youth court accordingly, and that court may deal with him in any way in which it might have dealt with him if he had been tried and convicted by that court.

s.8(4) - a court by which an order remitting a case to a youth court is made under subsection (2) above—

(a) may, subject to section 25 of the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994 (restrictions on granting bail), give such directions as appear to be necessary with respect to the custody of the offender or for his release on bail until he can be brought before the youth court; and

(b) shall cause to be transmitted to the designated officer for the youth court a certificate setting out the nature of the offence and stating—

(i) that the offender has been convicted of the offence; and

(ii) that the case has been remitted for the purpose of being dealt with under the preceding provisions of this section.

s.8(5) - where a case is remitted under subsection (2) above, the offender shall have no right of appeal against the order of remission, but shall have the same right of appeal against any order of the court to which the case is remitted as if he had been convicted by that court.

s.8(6) - without prejudice to the power to remit any case to a youth court which is conferred on a magistrates’ court other than a youth court by subsections (1) and (2) above, where such a magistrates’ court convicts a child or young person of an offence it must exercise that power unless the case falls within subsection (7) or (8) below.

s.8(7) - the case falls within this subsection if the court would, were it not so to remit the case, be required by section 16(2) below to refer the offender to a youth offender panel (in which event the court may, but need not, so remit the case).

s.8(8) - the case falls within this subsection if it does not fall within subsection (7) above but the court is of the opinion that the case is one which can properly be dealt with by means of—

(a) an order discharging the offender absolutely or conditionally, or

(b) an order for the payment of a fine, or

(c) an order (under section 150 below) requiring the offender’s parent or guardian to enter into a recognizance to take proper care of him and exercise proper control over him, with or without any other order that the court has power to make when absolutely or conditionally discharging an offender.

s.8(9) - in subsection (8) above “care” and “control” shall be construed in accordance with section 150(11) below.

s.8(10) - a document purporting to be a copy of an order made by a court under this section shall, if it purports to be certified as a true copy by the designated officer for the court, be evidence of the order.
Part 2 – Pre-sentence matters and matters pertaining to the sentencing hearing

PCC(S)A 2000 s.973: Power of youth court to remit offender who attains age of 18 to magistrates’ court other than youth court for sentence s.9(1) - where a person who appears or is brought before a youth court charged with an offence subsequently attains the age of 18, the youth court may, at any time after conviction and before sentence, remit him for sentence to a magistrates’ court (other than a youth court).

s.9(2) - where an offender is remitted under subsection (1) above, the youth court shall adjourn proceedings in relation to the offence, and—

(a) section 128 of the Magistrates’ Courts Act 1980 (remand in custody or on bail) and all other enactments, whenever passed, relating to remand or the granting of bail in criminal proceedings shall have effect, in relation to the youth court’s power or duty to remand the offender on that adjournment, as if any reference to the court to or before which the person remanded is to be brought or appear after remand were a reference to the court to which he is being remitted; and

(b) subject to subsection (3) below, the court to which the offender is remitted (“the other court”) may deal with the case in any way in which it would have power to deal with it if all proceedings relating to the offence which took place before the youth court had taken place before the other court.

s.9(3) - where an offender is remitted under subsection (1) above, section 8(6) above (duty of adult magistrates’ court to remit young offenders to youth court for sentence) shall not apply to the court to which he is remitted.

s.9(4) - where an offender is remitted under subsection (1) above he shall have no right of appeal against the order of remission (but without prejudice to any right of appeal against an order made in respect of the offence by the court to which he is remitted).

s.9(5) - in this section—

(a) “enactment” includes an enactment contained in any order, regulation or other instrument having effect by virtue of an Act; and

(b) “bail in criminal proceedings” has the same meaning as in the Bail Act 1976.

PCC(S)A 2000 s.1074: Power of magistrates’ court to remit case to another magistrates’ court for sentence s.10(1) - where a person aged 18 or over (“the offender”) has been convicted by a magistrates’ court (“the convicting court”) of an offence to which this section applies (“the instant offence”) and—

(a) it appears to the convicting court that some other magistrates’ court (“the other court”) has convicted him of another such offence in respect of which the other court has neither passed sentence on him nor committed him to the Crown Court for sentence nor dealt with him in any other way, and

(b) the other court consents to his being remitted under this section to the other court, the convicting court may remit him to the other court to be dealt with in respect of the instant offence by the other court instead of by the convicting court.

74 Commencement: 25 August 2000, PCC(S)A 2000 s.168(1)
s.10(2) - this section applies to—
   (a) any offence punishable with imprisonment; and
   (b) any offence in respect of which the convicting court has a power or duty to order the offender to be disqualified under section 34, 35 or 36 of the Road Traffic Offenders Act 1988 (disqualification for certain motoring offences).

s.10(3) - where the convicting court remits the offender to the other court under this section, it shall adjourn the trial of the information charging him with the instant offence, and—
   (a) section 128 of the Magistrates' Court Act 1980 (remand in custody or on bail) and all other enactments, whenever passed, relating to remand or the granting of bail in criminal proceedings shall have effect, in relation to the convicting court’s power or duty to remand the offender on that adjournment, as if any reference to the court to or before which the person remanded is to be brought or appear after remand were a reference to the court to which he is being remitted; and
   (b) subject to subsection (7) below, the other court may deal with the case in any way in which it would have power to deal with it if all proceedings relating to the instant offence which took place before the convicting court had taken place before the other court.

s.10(4) - the power conferred on the other court by subsection (3)(b) above includes, where applicable, the power to remit the offender under this section to another magistrates' court in respect of the instant offence.

s.10(5) - where the convicting court has remitted the offender under this section to the other court, the other court may remit him back to the convicting court; and the provisions of subsections (3) and (4) above (so far as applicable) shall apply with the necessary modifications in relation to any remission under this subsection.

s.10(6) - the offender, if remitted under this section, shall have no right of appeal against the order of remission (but without prejudice to any right of appeal against any other order made in respect of the instant offence by the court to which he is remitted).

s.10(7) - nothing in this section shall preclude the convicting court from making any order which it has power to make under section 148 below (restitution orders) by virtue of the offender's conviction of the instant offence.

   (a) “conviction” includes a finding under section 11(1) below (remand for medical examination) that the person in question did the act or made the omission charged, and “convicted” shall be construed accordingly;
   (b) “enactment” includes an enactment contained in any order, regulation or other instrument having effect by virtue of an Act; and
   (c) “bail in criminal proceedings” has the same meaning as in the Bail Act 1976.
2.1.8. Common law rules/principles concerning committals/remission for sentence

2.1.8.1. Committals

Magistrates’ Court

Where a magistrates’ court has accepted jurisdiction to summarily try an either-way offence, there is an unfettered discretion to commit to Crown Court where it subsequently considers that the offence(s) require(s) greater punishment.\(^75\)

\textit{MCA 1980 s 20: Procedure where summary trial appears more suitable}

s.20(2) The court shall explain to the accused in ordinary language—

(a) that it appears to the court more suitable for him to be tried summarily for the offence;
(b) that he can either consent to be so tried or, if he wishes, be tried on indictment; and
(c) that if he is tried summarily and is convicted by the court, he may be committed for sentence to the Crown Court under section 3 or (if applicable) section 3A of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 if the court is of such opinion as is mentioned in subsection (2) of the applicable section.

Having adjourned sentence, indicating that the offender will not be committed for sentence, the court may not thereafter commit for sentence absent a change in relevant circumstances.\(^76\)

Having committed for sentence, a magistrates’ court may not exercise the powers of a sentencing court, save for imposing a driving disqualification.\(^77\)

A court which adjourns a case after conviction to obtain a PSR is not prevented from committing the defendant for sentence.\(^78\)

A magistrates’ court may commit a defendant for sentence if it considers its power to impose a financial penalty is insufficient to deal with the offence.\(^79\)

Invalid committals: where a committal has been made under the appropriate section, but the memorandum of conviction records the provision(s) incorrectly, the committal is not invalid.\(^80\)

\(^77\) \textit{R. v Brogan} (1975) 60 Cr. App. R. 279; on the particular facts, the court held it was inappropriate for the committing court to impose a compensation order.

\(^78\) \textit{R. v Southwark Crown Court Ex p. Commissioner of Police for the Metropolis} (1984) 6 Cr. App. R. (S.) 304, however, where a legitimate expectation of a non-custodial sentence is held by the defendant, the Crown Court should not impose a custodial sentence, see \textit{R. v Rennes} (1985) 7 Cr. App. R. (S.) 343. Other case law in relation to legitimate expectations will be relevant to this point.

Crown Court

Where an offender who appears before a magistrates’ court and ask for offences to be taken into consideration is thereafter committed for sentence, there is no obligation to ask for those offences to be taken into consideration by the Crown Court, and the sentencer in the Crown Court should follow the normal procedure for taking offences into consideration as in the case of a conviction on indictment.81

Where it appears to the Crown Court that a defendant is not guilty of the offences in respect of which he has indicated an intention to plead guilty before the magistrates’ court, the Crown Court may allow him to change his plea and remit the case to the magistrates’ court.82

When an offender appears before the Crown Court for sentence following a committal for sentence, formal evidence of identity and conviction should be given; it is not sufficient to rely on the offender’s own admission.83

2.1.8.2. Remission

Where a juvenile is found guilty of an offence before the Crown Court, it will normally be appropriate for the Crown Court to deal with the juvenile without remitting him to a youth court.84

Before dealing with an offender who has been committed for sentence, the Crown Court should ascertain whether an appeal against his conviction is pending.85 However, the fact that the Crown Court has imposed sentence following a committal does not deprive it of power to hear an appeal subsequently.86

Where a person who has been convicted by a magistrates’ court appeals to the Crown Court, the Crown Court may not in the exercise of its power as an appellate court commit the appellant to the Crown Court for sentence.87

The right to ask for an indication

“Guidelines

53 The objective of these guidelines is to ensure common process and continuing safeguards against the creation or appearance of judicial pressure on the defendant. The potential advantages include, first and foremost, that the defendant himself would make a better informed decision whether to plead, or not. Experience tends to suggest that this would result in an increased number of early guilty pleas, with a consequent reduction in the number of trials, and the number of cases which are listed for trial, and then, to use current language, “crack” at the last minute, usually at considerable inconvenience to those involved in the intended trial, and in particular, victims and witnesses. Properly applied, too, there may be a reduced number of sentences to be considered by the Attorney General, and where appropriate, referred to this court as unduly lenient. In short, an increase in the efficient administration of justice will not impinge on the defendant’s entitlement to tender a voluntary plea.

54 In our judgment, any advance indication of sentence to be given by the judge should normally be confined to the maximum sentence if a plea of guilty were tendered at the stage at which the indication is sought. In essence we accept the recommendation of the Report of the Royal Commission that the judge should treat the request for a sentence indication, in whatever form it reaches him, as if he were being asked to indicate the maximum sentence on the defendant at that stage. For the process to go further, and the judge to indicate his view of the maximum possible level of sentence following conviction by the jury, as well as its level after a plea of guilty, would have two specific disadvantages. First, by definition, the judge could not be sufficiently informed of the likely impact of the trial on him (or the trial judge) in the sentencing context. It would be unwise for him to bind himself to any indication of the sentence after a trial in advance of it, in effect on a hypothetical basis. If he were to do so, to cover all eventualities he would probably have to indicate a very substantial possible maximum sentence. This would lead to a second problem, arising from the comparison between the two alternatives available to the defendant, that is the maximum level after a trial, and the maximum level following an immediate plea. With some defendants at any rate, the very process of comparing the two alternatives would create pressure to tender a guilty plea.

The judge

55 The judge should not give an advance indication of sentence unless one has been sought by the defendant.

56 He remains entitled, if he sees fit, to exercise the power recognised in Turner [1970] 2 QB 321 to indicate that the sentence, or type of sentence, on the defendant would be the same, whether the case proceeded as a plea of guilty or went to trial, with a resulting conviction. Nowadays, given the guidance published by the Sentencing Guidelines Council on the credit to be given for a guilty plea, this would be unusual. He is also entitled in an appropriate case to remind the defence advocate that the defendant is entitled to seek an advance indication of sentence.
57 In whatever circumstances an advance indication of sentence is sought, the judge retains an unfettered discretion to refuse to give one. It may indeed be inappropriate for him to give any indication at all. For example, he may consider that for a variety of reasons the defendant is already under pressure (perhaps from a co-accused), or vulnerable, and that to give the requested indication, even in answer to a request, may create additional pressure. Similarly, he may be troubled that the particular defendant may not fully have appreciated that he should not plead guilty unless in fact he is guilty. Again, the judge may believe that if he were to give a sentence indication at the stage when it is sought, he would not properly be able to judge the true culpability of the defendant, or the differing levels of responsibility between defendants. In a case involving a number of defendants, he may be concerned that an indication given to one defendant who seeks it, may itself create pressure on another defendant. Yet again, the judge may consider that the application is no less than a "try on" by a defendant who intends or would be likely to plead guilty in any event, seeking to take a tactical advantage of the changed process envisaged in this judgment. If so, he would probably refuse to say anything at all, and indeed, a guilty plea tendered after such tactical manoeuvrings may strike the judge as a plea tendered later than the first reasonable opportunity for doing so, with a consequent reduction in the discount for the guilty plea.

58 Just as the judge may refuse to give an indication, he may reserve his position until such time as he feels able to give one, for example, until a pre-sentence report is available. There will be occasions when experience will remind him that in some cases the psychiatric or other reports may provide valuable insight into the level of risk posed by the defendant, and if so, he may justifiably feel disinclined to give an indication at the stage when it is sought. Another problem may simply be that the judge is not sufficiently familiar with the case to give an informed indication, and if so, he may defer doing so until he is.

59 In short, the judge may refuse altogether to give an indication, or may postpone doing so. He may or may not give reasons. In many cases involving an outright refusal, he would probably conclude that it would be inappropriate to give his reasons. If he has in mind to defer an indication, the probability is that he would explain his reasons, and further indicate the circumstances in which, and when, he would be prepared to respond to a request for a sentence indication.

60 If at any stage the judge refuses to give an indication (as opposed to deferring it) it remains open to the defendant to seek a further indication at a later stage. However once the judge has refused to give an indication, he should not normally initiate the process, except, where it arises, to indicate that the circumstances had changed sufficiently for him to be prepared to consider a renewed application for an indication.

61 Once an indication has been given, it is binding and remains binding on the judge who has given it, and it also binds any other judge who becomes responsible for the case. In principle, the judge who has given an indication should, where possible, deal with the case immediately, and if that is not possible, any subsequent hearings should be listed before him. This cannot always apply. We recognise that a new judge has his own sentencing responsibilities, but judicial comity as well as the expectation aroused in a defendant that he will not receive a sentence in excess of whatever the first judge indicated, requires that a later sentencing judge should not exceed the earlier indication. If, after a reasonable opportunity to consider his position in the light of the indication, the defendant does not plead guilty, the indication will cease to have effect. In straightforward cases, once an indication has been sought and given, we do not anticipate an adjournment for the plea to be taken on another day.

62 Later in this judgment we will deal with the obligations of the defence and the prosecution, and to the extent that they may be relevant to the judge's decision, they should be applied. For example, an indication should not be sought on a basis of hypothetical facts. Where appropriate, there must be an agreed, written basis of plea. Unless there is, the judge should refuse to give an indication: otherwise he may become inappropriately involved in negotiations about the acceptance of pleas, and any agreed basis of plea.

The defence

63 Subject to the judge’s power to give an appropriate reminder to the advocate for the defendant (para 51) the process of seeking a sentence indication should normally be started by the defendant.

64 Whether or not the judge has given an appropriate reminder, the defendant’s advocate should not seek an indication without written authority, signed by his client, that he, the client wishes to seek an indication.

65 The advocate is personally responsible for ensuring that his client fully appreciates that:

(a) he should not plead guilty unless he is guilty;

(b) any sentence indication given by the judge remains subject to the entitlement of the Attorney General (where it arises) to refer an unduly lenient sentence to the Court of Appeal;

(c) any indication given by the judge reflects the situation at the time when it is given, and that if a “guilty plea” is not tendered in the light of that indication the indication ceases to have effect;

(d) any indication which may be given relates only to the matters about which an indication is sought. Thus, certain steps, like confiscation proceedings, follow automatically, and the judge cannot dispense with them, nor, by giving an indication of sentence, create an expectation that they will be dispensed with.

66 An indication should not be sought while there is any uncertainty between the prosecution and the defence about an acceptable plea or pleas to the indictment, or any factual basis relating to the plea. Any agreed basis should be reduced into writing before an indication is sought. Where there is a dispute about a particular fact which counsel for the defendant believes to be effectively immaterial to the sentencing decision, the difference should be recorded, so that the judge can make up his own mind.

67 The judge should never be invited to give an indication on the basis of what would be, or what would appear to be a “plea bargain”. He should not be asked or become involved in discussions linking the acceptability to the prosecution of a plea or basis of plea, and the sentence which may be imposed. He is not conducting nor involving himself in any plea bargaining. In short, he is not to be asked to indicate levels of sentence which he may have in mind depending on possible different pleas. Thus, for example, he should refuse to give an indication based on the possibility that the defendant might plead guilty to section 18 , alternatively section 20 , alternatively section 47 of the Offences against the Person Act 1861 (24 & 25 Vict c 100).

68 In the unusual event that the defendant is unrepresented, he would be entitled to seek a sentence indication of his own initiative. There would be difficulties in either the judge or prosecuting counsel taking any initiative, and informing an unrepresented defendant of this right. That might too readily be interpreted as or subsequently argued to have been improper pressure.
The prosecution

69 As the request for an indication comes from the defence, the prosecution is obliged to react, rather than initiate the process. This presented no problem in the days before R v Turner [1970] 2 QB 321, when the common understanding, universally applied, was that the prosecution did not, indeed was obliged not to involve itself in or appeal against a sentencing decision. None of that continues to apply.

70 We must expressly identify a number of specific matters for which the advocate for the prosecution is responsible.

(a) If there is no final agreement about the plea to the indictment, or the basis of plea, and the defence nevertheless proceeds to seek an indication, which the judge appears minded to give, prosecuting counsel should remind him of this guidance, that normally speaking an indication of sentence should not be given until the basis of the plea has been agreed, or the judge has concluded that he can properly deal with the case without the need for a Newton hearing (R v Newton (1982) 77 Cr App R 13).

(b) If an indication is sought, the prosecution should normally inquire whether the judge is in possession of or has had access to all the evidence relied on by the prosecution, including any personal impact statement from the victim of the crime, as well as any information of relevant previous convictions recorded against the defendant.

(c) If the process has been properly followed, it should not normally be necessary for counsel for the prosecution, before the judge gives any indication, to do more than, first, draw the judge’s attention to any minimum or mandatory statutory sentencing requirements, and where he would be expected to offer the judge assistance with relevant guideline cases, or the views of the Sentencing Guidelines Council, to invite the judge to allow him to do so, and second, where it applies, to remind the judge that the position of the Attorney General to refer any eventual sentencing decision as unduly lenient is not affected.

(d) In any event, counsel should not say anything which may create the impression that the sentence indication has the support or approval of the Crown.

Section 36 of the Criminal Justice Act 1988

71 We have reflected on the possible impact of these changes on the exercise by the Attorney General of his responsibilities to refer unduly lenient sentences to this court, in the light of further submissions received in writing from counsel for the prosecution after the conclusion of the hearing. We do not envisage a process by which the judge should give some kind of preliminary indication, leading to comments on it by counsel for the Crown, with the judge then reconsidering his indication, and perhaps raising it to a higher level, with counsel for the defendant then making further submissions to persuade the judge, after all, to reduce his indication. If nothing else, such a process would smack of precisely the kind of bargaining process which should be avoided. In our judgment, if counsel for the prosecution has addressed his responsibilities in accordance with the previous paragraph, the discretion of the Attorney General to refer a sentence would be wholly unaffected by the advance sentence indication process. Of course, if a sentence indication has been given in accordance with these guidelines, before referring the eventual sentencing decision to this court, the Attorney General’s decision would no doubt reflect that the defendant had indeed pleaded guilty in response to the sentence indication, properly sought from and given by the judge. As we have explained, we do not anticipate that counsel for the Crown will have said or done anything which may indicate or convey support for or approval of the sentence indication. If however he has done so, the question whether the sentence should nevertheless be referred to this court as unduly lenient, and the decision of the court whether to interfere with and increase it, will be examined on a case by case basis, in the light of everything said and done by counsel for the Crown.

Appeal against sentence

72 We have expressly dealt with the position of the Attorney General if, in the event, an unduly lenient sentence is imposed. The defendant’s entitlement to apply for leave to appeal against sentence if, for example, insufficient allowance has been made for matters of genuine mitigation, is similarly unaffected.

Process

73 We anticipate that any sentence indication would normally be sought at the plea and case management hearing. In cases “sent” to the Crown Court under section 51 of the Crime and Disorder Act 1998, or transferred under section 4 of the Criminal Justice Act 1987 or section 53 of the Criminal Justice Act 1991, this is usually the first opportunity for the defendant to plead guilty and therefore the moment when the maximum discount for the guilty plea will be available to the defendant. For victims and witnesses, too, there is a huge advantage in the earliest possible conclusion to the case. That said, as the judgment makes clear, we do not rule out the entitlement of a defendant to seek an indication at a later stage, or even, in what we know would be a rare case, during the course of the trial itself.

74 The judge is most unlikely to be able to give an indication, even if it is sought, in complicated or difficult cases, unless issues between the prosecution and the defence have been addressed and resolved. Therefore in such cases, no less than seven days’ notice in writing of an intention to seek an indication should normally be given in writing to the prosecution, and the court. If an application is made without notice when it should have been given, the judge may conclude that any inevitable adjournment should have been avoided and that the discount for the guilty plea should be reduced accordingly. It may be that in due course the Criminal Procedure Rules Committee will wish to consider the question of notice, and its length, and indeed whether either of the relevant case progression forms should be amended.

75 The hearing should normally take place in open court, with a full recording of the entire proceedings, and both sides represented, in the defendant’s presence.

76 As already indicated, in cases of any complexity or difficulty, proper notice should be given to the Crown that a sentence indication will be sought. The fact that notice has been given, and any reference to a request for a sentence indication, or the circumstances in which it was sought, would be inadmissible in any subsequent trial.

77 If the process we envisage is properly followed, there should be very little need for the judge to involve himself in the discussions with the advocates, although obviously he may wish to seek better information on any aspect of the case which is troubling him. We do not anticipate an opening by the Crown, or a mitigation plea by the defence. That must be postponed until after the defendant has pleaded guilty. Generally speaking, we assume that the process will be very short, the judge bearing in mind that the defendant and the public are present, and that he (the judge) may be the trial judge, and that he is simply deciding whether to respond, and if so how, to a request that he give an indication of the maximum sentence he would pass if the defendant pleaded guilty at that stage. The fact that the case may yet proceed as a trial, and that if it does so, no reference may be made to the request for a sentence indication, leads to the conclusion that reporting restrictions should normally be imposed, to be lifted if and when the defendant pleads or is found guilty.
Magistrates’ court

In our judgment it would be impracticable for these new arrangements to be extended to proceedings in the magistrates’ court. We are not at present satisfied that an advance sentence indication can readily be applied to and processed there. We believe that it would be better for the new arrangements in the Crown Court to settle in for some time before considering whether and, if so how, similar arrangements can be made in the context of summary trials. Accordingly, for the time being, the magistrates should confine themselves to the statutory arrangements in Schedule 3 to the 2003 Act.”

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing C.1

C.1 Prior to pleading guilty, it is open to a defendant in the Crown Court to request from the judge an indication of the maximum sentence that would be imposed if a guilty plea were to be tendered at that stage in the proceedings, in accordance with the guidance in R v Goodyear [2005] EWCA Crim 888, [2005] 1 W.L.R. 2532, [2005] 2 Cr. App. R. 20. The defence should notify the court and the prosecution of the intention to seek an indication in advance of any hearing.

C.2 Attention is drawn to the guidance set out in paragraphs 53 and following of R v Goodyear. The objective of the Goodyear guidelines is to safeguard against the creation or appearance of judicial pressure on a defendant. Any advance indication given should be the maximum sentence if a guilty plea were to be tendered at that stage of the proceedings only; the judge should not indicate the maximum possible sentence following conviction by a jury after trial. The judge should only give a Goodyear indication if one is requested by the defendant, although the judge can, in an appropriate case, remind the defence advocate of the defendant’s entitlement to seek an advance indication of sentence.

C.3 Whether to give a Goodyear indication, and whether to give reasons for a refusal, is a matter for the discretion of the judge, to be exercised in accordance with the principles outlined by the Court of Appeal in that case. Such indications should normally not be given if there is a dispute as to the basis of plea unless the judge concludes that he or she can properly deal with the case without the need for a Newton hearing. If there is a basis of plea agreed by the prosecution and defence, it must be reduced into writing and a copy provided to the judge. As always, any basis of plea will be subject to the approval of the court. In cases where a dispute arises, the procedure in R v Underwood should be followed prior to the court considering a sentence indication further, as set out above. The judge should not become involved in negotiations about the acceptance of pleas or any agreed basis of plea, nor should a request be made for an indication of the different sentences that might be imposed if various different pleas were to be offered.

C.4 There should be no prosecution opening nor should the judge hear mitigation. However, during the sentence indication process the prosecution advocate is expected to assist the court by ensuring that the court has received all of the prosecution evidence, any statement from the victim about the impact of the offence, and any relevant previous convictions. Further, where appropriate, the prosecution should provide references to the relevant statutory powers of the court, relevant sentencing guidelines and authorities, and such other assistance as the court requires.

C.5 Attention is drawn to paragraph 70(d) of Goodyear which emphasises that the prosecution “should not say anything which may create the impression that the sentence indication has the support or approval of the Crown.” This prohibition against the Crown indicating its approval of a particular sentence applies in all circumstances when a defendant is being sentenced, including when joint sentencing submissions are made.

C.6 An indication, once given, is, save in exceptional circumstances (such as arose in R v Newman [2010] EWCA Crim 1566, [2011] 1 Cr. App. R. (S.) 68), binding on the judge who gave it, and any other judge, subject to overriding statutory obligations such as those following a finding of “dangerousness”. In circumstances where a judge proposes to depart from a Goodyear indication this must only be done in a way that does not give rise to unfairness (see Newman). However, if the defendant does not plead guilty, the indication will not thereafter bind the court.

C.7 If the offence is a specified offence such that the defendant might be liable to an assessment of ‘dangerousness’ in accordance with the Criminal Justice Act 2003 it is unlikely that the necessary material for such an assessment will be available. The court can still proceed to give an indication of sentence, but should state clearly the limitations of the indication that can be given.

C.8 A Goodyear indication should be given in open court in the presence of the defendant but any reference to the hearing is not admissible in any subsequent trial; and reporting restrictions should normally be imposed.

Additional common law guidance

Judges should not give Goodyear indications in advance of Newton hearings.88

Goodyear indications are not to be taken into account when considering the appropriate discount for a guilty plea.89

An indication should confirm to the guidance given in Goodyear; it is not permissible to seek an indication as to which category in a Sentencing Council guideline an offence “falls” in.90

Where the issue of dangerousness is live, an indication may be given but the court should make clear to the defendant the limitations of the indication, as it is unlikely that the necessary material to make such a determination would be present at that stage.91

Indications have to be able to be relied upon and although revisions are possible, they must be applied in a manner equitable to the defendant. That course may involve allowing the defendant to change his or her plea.92

Multiple Goodyear applications may be made, but where subsequent applications are made before a different judge, the judge should be informed of the earlier indication and the reasons for it being declined.93

2.2.2. Indications in the Magistrates’ Courts

MCA 1980 s.20:

Procedure where summary trial appears more suitable

s.20(1) - if the court decides under section 19 above that the offence appears to it more suitable for summary trial, the following provisions of this section shall apply (unless they are excluded by section 23 below).

s.20(2) - the court shall explain to the accused in ordinary language—

(a) that it appears to the court more suitable for him to be tried summarily for the offence;

(b) that he can either consent to be so tried or, if he wishes, be tried on indictment; and

(c) that if he is tried summarily and is convicted by the court, he may be committed for sentence to the Crown Court under section 3 or (if applicable) section 3A of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 if the court is of such opinion as is mentioned in subsection (2) of the applicable section.

s.20(3) - the accused may then request an indication (“an indication of sentence”) of whether a custodial sentence or non-custodial sentence would be more likely to be imposed if he were to be tried summarily for the offence and to plead guilty.

s.20(4) - if the accused requests an indication of sentence, the court may, but need not, give such an indication.

s.20(5) - if the accused requests and the court gives an indication of sentence, the court shall ask the accused whether he wishes, on the basis of the indication, to reconsider the indication of plea which was given, or is taken to have been given, under section 17A or 17B above.

s.20(6) - if the accused indicates that he wishes to reconsider the indication under section 17A or 17B above, the court shall ask the accused whether (if the offence were to proceed to trial) he would plead guilty or not guilty.

2.3 Factual basis for sentence

Note: The area is governed by the common law and though fairly settled is rather piecemeal. The Criminal Practice Directions 2015 (see CPD VII Sentencing B) set out the approach to be taken, though of course very few references are provided for the statements of the law.

2.3.1 General

The defendant should be given the benefit of any doubt as to the factual basis for sentencing.95

Burden and standard of proof

The judge should openly direct him/herself however a failure to do so is not fatal. The defence version of events must be accepted unless the judge is sure that they are wrong.96

Where the defendant raises extraneous issues in mitigation which are of doubtful validity, there is a civil burden of proof upon the defendant and he should be given the opportunity to call evidence in support. Ordinarily however, the court would accept the accuracy of the advocate’s statement.97

Bad character

The offender must be sentenced only for the offences of which they have been convicted.98 Even where evidence which serves to establish the defendant’s guilt of an offence charged on the indictment is deployed as evidence of bad character, sentencing cannot proceed on the basis that the defendant is guilty of a distinct and separate offence of which he has not been convicted and which he denies.99

These principles apply to ancillary orders too.100

Note: An exception to the principle in Chadderton would be where the defendant asks for offences to be taken into consideration or counts represent sample counts and are so treated by consent.

Using bad character to demonstrate offence was not an isolated incident/refute false mitigation

Where a defendant fell to be sentenced for drug offences and had made a statement detailing his involvement in drugs, to require the court to sentence him only for the drugs detailed in the counts was entirely artificial. The court was entitled to look at the statement to consider whether the incident was isolated.101

Such bad character is able to be used to refute a claim that an incident was isolated, where the contrary was in fact the truth.102

Where there is a documented albeit unproven history of violence towards the victim, the offender cannot have the benefit of positive good character, however where allegations of assault are denied, and remain unproven the violence cannot be an aggravating feature.103

95 See for example R. v Stosiek (1982) 4 Cr. App. R. (S.) 205
96 See for example R. v Kerrigan (1993) 14 Cr. App. R. (S.) 179
100 See Anderson v DPP (1978) 67 Cr. App. R. 185, HL
Non-criminal behaviour

It is open to a judge to have regard to the defendant’s antecedent behaviour, not all of which is evidenced by previous convictions. PSRs frequently refer to attitude and behaviour and allow for example the court to determine whether or not the use of violence reveals an entrenched disregard for others or represents a “one-off”.104

Evidence

In determining the factual basis for sentence, a judge is not bound by the rules of admissibility which would be applicable in a trial. The aim is to provide the judge with the fullest information possible whilst ensuring that the defendant has the opportunity to put his side of the picture.105

It is inappropriate for a judge to rely on evidence in a co-defendant’s trial in order to reject the defendant’s account and sentence on the prosecution’s case.106

Judge or magistrate making findings of fact

Mitigation does not have to be accepted.107 The judge is entitled to determine any matter before him or her, however any doubt is to be resolved in the defendant’s favour.108

When rejecting the defendant’s account in circumstances where the Crown feels it cannot accept the account or cannot challenge it, the court should state clearly that it is rejecting the account and give its reasons.109

Where a judge “rubber stamped” a draft football banning order having not given the defence the chance to deal with an adverse finding, the order would have to be quashed.110

2.3.2. Following a trial

The judge must remain faithful to the verdict of the jury, even where it was logically incomprehensible.111

Jury riders etc.

Regarding jury riders and answers, the only instance the Court of Appeal has found where it might be common practice to go behind the general verdict of the jury and enquire as to its basis is that of manslaughter where the jury may have reached their decision on alternative grounds left to them by the judge.112

110 R. v Irving [2013] EWCA Crim 1932
Where the jury have expressed an opinion, the judge remains entitled to his own view of the facts, where the evidence supports such a conclusion.\textsuperscript{113}

Uncertainty as to factual basis arising from jury’s verdict

Where there is uncertainty over the jury’s verdict, the judge is bound to sentence on the version most favourable to the defendant. In such a situation, the judge is not entitled to reject the defendant’s account without holding a Newton hearing.\textsuperscript{114}

2.3.3. Bases of plea

The key case is that of R. v Underwood [2004] EWCA Crim 2256; [2005] 1 Cr. App. R. (S.) 90 (p.478), which sets out the basic principles where the defendant admits guilt but disputes the factual basis as alleged by the prosecution. The principles are reproduced in the Criminal Practice Directions [2013] EWCA Crim 1631 Sentencing B.8.\textsuperscript{115}

Prosecution acceptance of the basis of plea

If the prosecution accepts the defendant’s basis of plea, it must ensure that the basis of plea is factually accurate and enables the sentencing judge to impose a sentence appropriate to reflect the justice of the case.\textsuperscript{116}

Whatever view may be formed by the Crown on any proposed basis of plea, it is deemed to be conditional on the judge’s acceptance of it.\textsuperscript{117}

The Crown may reject the defendant’s version. If so, the areas of dispute should be identified in writing and the document should focus the court’s attention on the precise fact or facts which are in dispute.\textsuperscript{118}

Where an issue raised by the defence is outside the knowledge of the prosecution, the prosecution’s position may well be that it had no evidence to contradict the defence assertions. That does not mean that the truth of matters outside its own knowledge should be agreed. In those circumstances, particularly if the facts relied on by the defendant arise from his personal knowledge and depend on his own account of the facts, the Crown should not normally agree the defendant’s account unless it is supported by other material. There is an important distinction between assertions about the facts which the Crown is prepared to agree, and its possible agreement to facts about which, in truth, the prosecution is ignorant. Neither the prosecution nor the judge is bound to agree facts merely because the prosecution cannot “gainsay” the defendant’s account. The court should be notified of the points in issue in writing.\textsuperscript{119}

The prosecution’s acceptance of a basis of plea is conditional upon the approval of the judge and the defence cannot hold the prosecution to it without that approval. Where following such an acceptance, a second judge rejects the basis of plea, the prosecution are not barred from advancing a different, more serious case than was the subject of the agreement.\textsuperscript{120}

\textsuperscript{116} CPD 2015 VII Sentencing para B.8(a).

\textsuperscript{120} R. v Beswick (1996) 1 Cr. App. R. (S.) 343
Prosecution does not, or cannot, challenge the basis of plea

Where the defendant, having pleaded guilty, advances an account of the offence which the prosecution does not, or feels it cannot, challenge, but which the court feels unable to accept, it is desirable that the court should make it clear that it does not accept the defence account and why. Failing any other resolution, a hearing can be held and evidence called to resolve the matter. That will ordinarily involve calling the defendant and the prosecutor should ask appropriate questions to test the defendant’s evidence, adopting for this purpose the role of an amicus, exploring matters which the court wishes to be explored. It is not generally desirable that the prosecutor, on the ground that he has no evidence to contradict that of the defendant, should simply fold his hands and leave the questioning to the judge.\(^\text{121}\)

The form and contents of the basis of plea

If the prosecution does accept the defendant’s basis of plea, it must be reduced to writing, be signed by advocates for both sides, and made available to the judge prior to the prosecution’s opening.\(^\text{122}\)

If a plea has already been accepted and approved, then it should be available before the sentencing hearing begins. If the written basis of plea is not signed by the advocates for both sides, the judge is entitled to ignore it; similarly, if the document is not legible.\(^\text{123}\)

In conspiracy cases, it is vital that the basis of plea is clear as to whether the plea is a) guilty to involvement in the overall conspiracy but only to an active role in limited incidents, or b) guilty to an active role in limited incidents and limited involvement in the conspiracy.\(^\text{124}\)

Judicial approach to the basis of plea

Whether or not the basis of plea is “agreed”, the judge is not bound by any such agreement and is entitled of his own motion to insist that any evidence relevant to the facts in dispute should be called before him.\(^\text{125}\)

The judge is responsible for the sentencing decision and he may therefore order a Newton hearing to ascertain the truth about disputed facts.\(^\text{126}\)

Neither the prosecution nor the judge is bound to agree facts merely because the prosecution cannot “gainsay” the defendant’s account. The court should be notified of the points in issue in writing.\(^\text{127}\)

If a defendant seeks to mitigate on the basis of assertions of fact outside the prosecutor’s knowledge (for example as to his state of mind), the judge should be invited not to accept this version unless given on oath and tested in cross examination as set out in CPD [2013] EWCA Crim 1631 Sentencing B12. If evidence is not given in this way, then the judge might draw such inferences as he thought fit from that fact.\(^\text{128}\)

Part 2 – Pre-sentence matters and matters pertaining to the sentencing hearing

Judge rejects basis of plea

If a judge does not accept an important and relevant part of the basis of plea, he or she should make that clear to the defence so that they can decide how they wish to proceed.129

Where a judge rejects the basis of plea and directs a trial of issue, this does not create a ground upon which the defendant should be permitted to vacate a plea of guilty when it is clear that unreal though the agreed facts may be, it does amount to an admission to the offence.130

The prosecution’s acceptance of a basis of plea is conditional upon the approval of the judge and the defence cannot hold the prosecution to it without that approval.131

Multi-defendant cases and cases involving multi-count indictments

At the end of the Newton hearing the judge cannot make findings of fact and sentence on a basis which is inconsistent with the pleas to counts which have already been accepted by the Crown and approved by the court. Particular care is needed in relation to a multi-count indictment involving one defendant, or an indictment involving a number of defendants, and to circumstances in which the Crown accepts, and the court approves, a guilty plea to a reduced charge.132

In cases involving multiple defendants, the bases of plea for each defendant must be factually consistent with each other.133

2.3.4. Dispute as to factual basis for sentencing: Newton hearings

General

Where the defendant pleads guilty, but disputes the basis of offending alleged by the prosecution and agreement as to that has not been reached, the following procedure should be followed:

(a) The defendant’s basis of plea must be set out in writing, identifying what is in dispute and must be signed by the defendant;

(b) The prosecution must respond in writing setting out their alternative contentions and indicating whether or not they submit that a Newton hearing is necessary;

(c) The court may invite the parties to make representations about whether the dispute is material to sentence; and

(d) If the court decides that it is a material dispute, the court will invite such further representations or evidence as it may require and resolve the dispute in accordance with the principles set out in R v Newton.134

129 R. v Lucien [2009] EWCA Crim 2004
134 CPD 2015 VII Sentencing B11
The Newton principles

Where there is a sharp divergence on a question of fact which is relevant to sentence, there are three ways of approaching the problem of determining the matter:

(a) obtain an answer from the jury, where the verdict of the jury on one count or another will determine the issue;

(b) the judge can hear evidence and come to a conclusion

(c) the judge can hear the submissions of an advocate only and come to a conclusion, but if he or she does that, they must come down on the side of the defendant, where there is a substantial conflict between the two sides: the version of the defendant must so far as is possible be accepted.\(^{136}\)

The procedure

The prosecuting advocate should assist the judge by calling any appropriate evidence and testing the evidence advanced by the defence. The defence advocate should similarly call any relevant evidence and, in particular, where the issue arises from facts which are within the exclusive knowledge of the offender and the offender is willing to give evidence in support of his case, be prepared to call the offender. If he is not, and subject to any explanation which may be proffered, the court may draw such inferences as it thinks fit from that fact. The court must then make up its mind about the facts in dispute. The court must direct itself in accordance with ordinary principles, such as, for example, the burden and standard of proof. In short, these self-directions should reflect the relevant directions the judge would have given to the jury. Having reached such conclusions, the judge should explain them in a judgment.\(^{137}\)

Account obviously false: No need for a Newton

A judge is not entitled to reject a defendant’s basis of plea absent a Newton hearing unless it is determined by the court that the basis is manifestly false and as such does not merit examination by way of the calling of evidence or alternatively the defendant declines the opportunity to engage in the process of the Newton hearing whether by giving evidence on his own behalf or otherwise.\(^{138}\)

A judge is entitled to decline to hear evidence about disputed facts if the case advanced on the defendant’s behalf is, for good reason, to be regarded as absurd or obviously untenable. If so, the judge should explain why he or she has reached that conclusion.\(^{139}\)

Judge declines to hold a Newton hearing because divergence of fact not substantial

In such a circumstance, the defendant should be sentenced on his or her version of events.\(^{140}\)

Magistrates’ Courts

The procedure for determining factual disputes outlined in Newton is perfectly appropriate for the magistrates’ courts.\(^{141}\)

\(^{138}\) CPD 2015 VII Sentencing B.10

\(^{140}\) R. v McCreesh [2010] EWCA Crim 314

\(^{141}\) R. v Waltham Forrest Justices ex p. Barton [1990] RTR 49
Part 2 – Pre-sentence matters and matters pertaining to the sentencing hearing

Committals for sentence

Where, upon a committal for sentence, there is a factual dispute relevant to sentence, the Crown Court has the jurisdiction to remit the case in order to determine the dispute, or alternatively it may hear evidence. Which is appropriate will depend on when the dispute arises; if it arises at the magistrates’ court, they should determine the issue. If the magistrates’ court then commits for sentence, the Crown Court should be informed of their findings. If it arises at the Crown Court, they should determine the issue.142

Findings cannot be inconsistent with pleas which have already been accepted

At the end of the Newton hearing the judge cannot make findings of fact and sentence on a basis which is inconsistent with the pleas to counts which have already been accepted by the Crown and approved by the court. Particular care is needed in relation to a multi-count indictment involving one defendant, or an indictment involving a number of defendants, and to circumstances in which the Crown accepts, and the court approves, a guilty plea to a reduced charge.143

Reduction for pleading guilty following a Newton hearing

If the issues at the Newton hearing are wholly resolved in the defendant’s favour, the credit due to him should not be reduced. If for example, however, the defendant is disbelieved, or obliges the prosecution to call evidence from the victim, who is then subjected to a cross-examination, which, because it is entirely unfounded, causes unnecessary and inappropriate distress, or if the defendant conveys to the judge that he has no insight into the consequences of his offence and no genuine remorse for it, these are all matters which may lead the judge to reduce the discount which the defendant would otherwise have received for his guilty plea, particularly if that plea is tendered at a very late stage. Accordingly, there may even be exceptional cases in which the normal entitlement to credit for a plea of guilty is wholly dissipated by the Newton hearing. In such cases, again, the judge should explain his reasons.144

Appeals

The Court of Appeal can hold a Newton hearing.145 However the court cannot order an appellant to give evidence.146

If findings of fact were not made at the Crown Court, the Court of Appeal are to determine the issue.147

2.4  Reports (including mental health)

2.4.1.  Pre-sentence

What is a pre-sentence report?

CJA 2003 s.158\(^{148}\): Meaning of “pre-sentence report” s.158(1) - in this Part “pre-sentence report” means a report which—

(\(a\)) with a view to assisting the court in determining the most suitable method of dealing with an offender, is made or submitted by an appropriate officer, and (\(b\)) contains information as to such matters, presented in such manner, as may be prescribed by rules made by the Secretary of State.

s.158(1A) - subject to any rules made under subsection (1)(b) and to subsection (1B), the court may accept a pre-sentence report given orally in open court.

s.158(1B) - but a pre-sentence report that—(\(a\)) relates to an offender aged under 18, and (\(b\)) is required to be obtained and considered before the court forms an opinion mentioned in section 156(3)(a), must be in writing.

s.158(2) - in subsection (1) “an appropriate officer” means—(\(a\)) where the offender is aged 18 or over, an officer of a local probation board or an officer of a provider of probation services, and (\(b\)) where the offender is aged under 18, an officer of a local probation board, an officer of a provider of probation services, a social worker of a local authority or a member of a youth offending team.

Duty to obtain pre-sentence report

CJA 2003 s.156\(^{149}\): Pre-sentence reports and other requirements

s.156(3) - subject to subsection (4), a court must obtain and consider a pre-sentence report before—
(\(a\)) in the case of a custodial sentence, forming any such opinion as is mentioned in section 152(2), section 153(2), section 225(1)(b), section 226(1)(b), section 226A(1)(b) or section 226B(1)(b), or

(b) in relation to a magistrates’ court, any person who has been convicted by the court of an offence punishable on summary conviction with imprisonment and any person charged with such an offence if the court is satisfied that he did the act or made the omission charged or he has consented to the exercise by the court of the powers conferred by this section.

s.35(3) - subject to subsection (4) below, the powers conferred by this section may be exercised if—

(a) the court is satisfied, on the written or oral evidence of a registered medical practitioner, that there is reason to suspect that the accused person is suffering from mental disorder; and

(b) the court is of the opinion that it would be impracticable for a report on his mental condition to be made if he were remanded on bail;

but those powers shall not be exercised by the Crown Court in respect of a person who has been convicted before the court if the sentence for the offence of which he has been convicted is fixed by law.

s.35(4) - the court shall not remand an accused person to a hospital under this section unless satisfied, on the written or oral evidence of the approved clinician who would be responsible for making the report or of some other person representing the managers of the hospital, that arrangements have been made for his admission to that hospital and for his admission to it within the period of seven days beginning with the date of the remand; and if the court is so satisfied it may, pending his admission, give directions for his conveyance to and detention in a place of safety.

s.35(5) - where a court has remanded an accused person under this section it may further remand him if it appears to the court, on the written or oral evidence of the approved clinician responsible for making the report, that a further remand is necessary for completing the assessment of the accused person’s mental condition.

(b) appropriate medical treatment is available for him.

s.36(2) - for the purposes of this section an accused person is any person who is in custody awaiting trial before the Crown Court for an offence punishable with imprisonment (other than an offence the sentence for which is fixed by law) or who at any time before sentence is in custody in the course of a trial before that court for such an offence.

s.36(3) - the court shall not remand an accused person under this section to a hospital unless it is satisfied, on the written or oral evidence of the approved clinician who would have overall responsibility for his case or of some other person representing the managers of the hospital, that arrangements have been made for his admission to that hospital and for his admission to it within the period of seven days beginning with the date of the remand; and if the court is so satisfied it may, pending his admission, give directions for his conveyance to and detention in a place of safety.

s.36(4) - where a court has remanded an accused person under this section it may further remand him if it appears to the court, on the written or oral evidence of the responsible clinician, that a further remand is warranted.

(d) the court proposes to continue the hearing as a sentencing hearing in relation to the offence.

s.57D(2) - the accused may continue to attend through the live link by virtue of the direction if—
(a) the hearing is continued as a sentencing hearing in relation to the offence; and
(c) the court is satisfied that the accused continuing to attend through the live link is not contrary to the interests of justice.

2.7 Antecedents

2.7.1 The bundle

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 II Preliminary Proceedings

Copies of record

8A.1 The defendant’s record (previous convictions, cautions, reprimands, etc) may be taken into account when the court decides not only on sentence but also, for example, about bail, or when allocating a case for trial. It is therefore important that up to date and accurate information is available. Previous convictions must be provided as part of the initial details of the prosecution case under CrimPR Part 8.

8A.2 The record should usually be provided in the following format:

- Personal details and summary of convictions and cautions – Police National Computer ["PNC"] Court / Defence / Probation Summary Sheet;
- Previous convictions – PNC Court / Defence / Probation printout, supplemented by Form MG16 if the police force holds convictions not shown on PNC;
- Recorded cautions – PNC Court / Defence / Probation printout, supplemented by Form MG17 if the police force holds cautions not shown on PNC.

8A.3 The defence representative should take instructions on the defendant’s record and if the defence wish to raise any objection to the record, this should be made known to the prosecutor immediately.

8A.4 It is the responsibility of the prosecutor to ensure that a copy of the defendant’s record has been provided to the Probation Service.

8A.5 Where following conviction a custodial order is made, the court must ensure that a copy is attached to the order sent to the prison.

8A.6 In the Crown Court, the police should also provide brief details of the circumstances of the last three similar convictions and / or of convictions likely to be of interest to the court, the latter being judged on a case-by-case basis.

8A.7 Where the current alleged offence could constitute a breach of an existing sentence such as a suspended sentence, community order or conditional discharge, and it is known that that sentence is still in force then details of the circumstances of the offence leading to the sentence should be included in the antecedents. The detail should be brief and include the date of the offence.

8A.8 On occasions the PNC printout provided may not be fully up to date. It is the responsibility of the prosecutor to ensure that all of the necessary information is available to the court and the Probation Service and provided to the defence. Oral updates at the hearing will sometimes be necessary, but it is preferable if this information is available in advance.
2.7.2. Taking account of antecedents

s.143(2) - in considering the seriousness of an offence (“the current offence”) committed by an offender who has one or more previous convictions, the court must treat each previous conviction as an aggravating factor if (in the case of that conviction) the court considers that it can reasonably be so treated having regard, in particular, to—

(a) the nature of the offence to which the conviction relates and its relevance to the current offence, and

(b) the time that has elapsed since the conviction.

s.143(4) - any reference in subsection (2) to a previous conviction is to be read as a reference to—

(a) a previous conviction by a court in the United Kingdom,

(aa) a previous conviction by a court in another member State of a relevant offence under the law of that State,

(b) a previous conviction of a service offence within the meaning of the Armed Forces Act 2006 (“conviction” here including anything that under section 376(1) and (2) of that Act is to be treated as a conviction), or

(c) a finding of guilt in respect of a member State service offence.

2.7.3. Spent convictions

ROA 1974 s.4\(^{177}\): Effect of rehabilitation

s.4(1) - subject to sections 7 and 8 below, a person who has become a rehabilitated person for the purposes of this Act in respect of a conviction shall be treated for all purposes in law as a person who has not committed or been charged with or prosecuted for or convicted of or sentenced for the offence or offences which were the subject of that conviction; and, notwithstanding the provisions of any other enactment or rule of law to the contrary, but subject as aforesaid—

(a) no evidence shall be admissible in any proceedings before a judicial authority exercising its jurisdiction or functions in England and Wales to prove that any such person has committed or been charged with or prosecuted for or convicted of or sentenced for any offence which was the subject of a spent conviction; and

(b) a person shall not, in any such proceedings, be asked, and, if asked, shall not be required to answer, any question relating to his past which cannot be answered without acknowledging or referring to a spent conviction or spent convictions or any circumstances ancillary thereto.

(a) in any criminal proceedings before a court in England and Wales (including any appeal or reference in a criminal matter);

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 V Evidence

21A.1 The effect of section 4(1) of the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 is that a person who has become a rehabilitated person for the purpose of the Act in respect of a conviction (known as a ‘spent’ conviction) shall be treated for all purposes in law as a person who has not committed, or been charged with or prosecuted for, or convicted of or sentenced for, the offence or offences which were the subject of that conviction.

21A.2 Section 4(1) of the 1974 Act does not apply, however, to evidence given in criminal proceedings: section 7(2)(a). During the trial of a criminal charge, reference to previous convictions (and therefore to spent convictions) can arise in a number of ways. The most common is when a bad character application is made under the Criminal Justice Act 2003. When considering bad character applications under the 2003 Act, regard should always be had to the general principles of the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974.

21A.3 On conviction, the court must be provided with a statement of the defendant’s record for the purposes of sentence. The record supplied should contain all previous convictions, but those which are spent should, so far as practicable, be marked as such. No one should refer in open court to a spent conviction without the authority of the judge, which authority should not be given unless the interests of justice so require. When passing sentence the judge should make no reference to a spent conviction unless it is necessary to do so for the purpose of explaining the sentence to be passed.

Crown Court

R. v Annesley (1976) 62 Cr. App. R. 113

“It is clear from these authorities and statutory provisions that the Crown Court still enjoys the common law jurisdiction vested in its predecessors to put off passing the whole of a sentence, or indeed part of a sentence, if the circumstances make it necessary. While accepting that this will not generally be good practice, there may be circumstances in which it may be very desirable, when all the material necessary to complete all elements of a sentencing problem is not immediately available, to deal with the substantive sentence at once and postpone what may have to be done in addition, rather than postpone the whole of the sentence till all the material is to hand.”

para.9AB(3) - in deciding for the purposes of paragraph 2(1) of this Part of this Schedule whether it is satisfied that there are substantial grounds for believing that the defendant, if released on bail (whether subject to conditions or not), would fail to surrender to custody, the court shall give particular weight to—

(a) where the defendant did not have reasonable cause for his failure to surrender to custody, the fact that he failed to surrender to custody, or

(b) where he did have reasonable cause for his failure to surrender to custody, the fact that he failed to surrender to custody at the appointed place as soon as reasonably practicable after the appointed time.

2.11.5. Pending appeal to the Supreme Court

CAA 1968 s.36: Bail on appeal by defendant

s.36 - the Court of Appeal may, subject to section 25 of the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994, if it seems fit, on the application of a person appealing or applying for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court, other than a person appealing or applying for leave to appeal from a decision on an appeal under Part 9 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 or section 9(11) of the Criminal Justice Act 1987 or section 35 of the Criminal Procedure and Investigations Act 1996 (appeals against orders or rulings at preparatory hearings) or section 47 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003, grant him bail pending the determination of his appeal.

CAA 1968 s.37: Detention of defendant on appeal by the Crown

(a) an order providing for his detention, or directing that he shall not be released except on bail (which may be granted by the Court as under section 36 above), so long as the appeal is pending, or

(b) an order that he be released without bail.

s.37(2A) - the Court may make an order under subsection (2)(b) only if they think that it is in the interests of justice that the defendant should not be liable to be detained as a result of the decision of the Supreme Court on the appeal.

s.37(3) - an order under subsection (2)(a) shall (unless the appeal has previously been disposed of) cease to have effect at the expiration of the period for which the defendant would have been liable to be detained but for the decision of the Court of Appeal.

s.37(4) - where an order is made under subsection (2)(a) in the case of a defendant who, but for the decision of the Court of Appeal, would be liable to be detained in pursuance of—

(a) an order or direction under Part III of the Mental Health Act 1983 (otherwise than under section 35, 36 or 38 of that Act) (admission to hospital of persons convicted by criminal courts); or

s.37(4A) - where an order is made under subsection (2)(a) in the case of a defendant who, but for the decision of the Court of Appeal, would be liable to be detained in pursuance of a remand under section 36 of the Mental Health Act 1983 or an interim hospital order under section 38 of that Act, the order may, if the Court of Appeal thinks fit, be one authorising his continued detention in a hospital or mental nursing home and in that event—

(a) subsection (3) of this section shall not apply to the order;

(b) Part III of the said Act of 1983 shall apply to him as if he had been ordered under this section to be detained in custody so long as an appeal to the Supreme Court is pending and were detained in pursuance of a transfer direction together with a restriction direction; and

2.12 Impact statements

Note: See also the Victims’ Code.

2.12.1. Victims

Victim personal statements

F.1 Victims of crime are invited to make a statement, known as a Victim Personal Statement (‘VPS’). The statement gives victims a formal opportunity to say how a crime has affected them. It may help to identify whether they have a particular need for information, support and protection. The court will take the statement into account when determining sentence. In some circumstances, it may be appropriate for relatives of a victim to make a VPS, for example where the victim has died as a result of the relevant criminal conduct. The revised Code of Practice for Victims of Crime, published on 29 October 2013 gives further information about victims’ entitlements within the criminal justice system, and the duties placed on criminal justice agencies when dealing with victims of crime.

F.2 When a police officer takes a statement from a victim, the victim should be told about the scheme and given the chance to make a VPS. The decision about whether or not to make a VPS is entirely a matter for the victim; no pressure should be brought to bear on their decision, and no conclusion should be drawn if they choose not to make such a statement. A VPS or a further VPS may be made (in proper s.9 form, see below) at any time prior to the disposal of the case. It will not normally be appropriate for a VPS to be made after the disposal of the case; there may be rare occasions between sentence and appeal when a further VPS may be necessary, for example, when the victim was injured and the final prognosis was not available at the date of sentence. However, VPS after disposal should be confined to presenting up to date factual material, such as medical information, and should be used sparingly.

F.3 If the court is presented with a VPS the following approach, subject to the further guidance given by the Court of Appeal in R v Perkins; Bennett; Hall [2013] EWCA Crim 323, [2013] Crim L.R. 533, should be adopted:

(a) The VPS and any evidence in support should be considered and taken into account by the court, prior to passing sentence.

(b) Evidence of the effects of an offence on the victim contained in the VPS or other statement, must be in proper form, that is a witness statement made under section 9 of the Criminal Justice Act 1967 or an expert’s report; and served in good time upon the defendant’s solicitor or the defendant, if he or she is not represented. Except where inferences can properly be drawn from the nature of or circumstances surrounding the offence, a sentencing court must not make assumptions unsupported by evidence about the effects of an offence on the victim. The maker of a VPS may be cross-examined on its content.

245 As amended.
(c) At the discretion of the court, the VPS may also be read aloud or played in open court, in whole or in part, or it may be summarised. If the VPS is to be read aloud, the court should also determine who should do so. In making these decisions, the court should take account of the victim’s preferences, and follow them unless there is good reason not to do so; examples of this include the inadmissibility of the content or the potentially harmful consequences for the victim or others. Court hearings should not be adjourned solely to allow the victim to attend court to read the VPS. For the purposes of CPD I General matters 5B: Access to information held by the court, a VPS that is read aloud or played in open court in whole or in part should be considered as such, and no longer treated as a confidential document.

(d) In all cases it will be appropriate for a VPS to be referred to in the course of the sentencing hearing and/or in the sentencing remarks.

(e) The court must pass what it judges to be the appropriate sentence having regard to the circumstances of the offence and of the offender, taking into account, so far as the court considers it appropriate, the impact on the victim. The opinions of the victim or the victim’s close relatives as to what the sentence should be are therefore not relevant, unlike the consequences of the offence on them. Victims should be advised of this. If, despite the advice, opinions as to sentence are included in the statement, the court should pay no attention to them.

2.12.2. Family

CPD 2015 VII Sentencing G 246

Families bereaved by homicide and other criminal conduct

G.1 In cases in which the victim has died as a result of the relevant criminal conduct, the victim’s family is not a party to the proceedings, but does have an interest in the case. Bereaved families have particular entitlements under the Code of Practice for Victims of Crime. All parties should have regard to the needs of the victim’s family and ensure that the trial process does not expose bereaved families to avoidable intimidation, humiliation or distress.

G.2 In so far as it is compatible with family members’ roles as witnesses, the court should consider the following measures:

(a) Practical arrangements being discussed with the family and made in good time before the trial, such as seating for family members in the courtroom; if appropriate, in an alternative area, away from the public gallery.

(b) Warning being given to families if the evidence on a certain day is expected to be particularly distressing.

(c) Ensuring that appropriate use is made of the scheme for Victim Personal Statements, in accordance with the paragraphs above.

G.3 The sentencer should consider providing a written copy of the sentencing remarks to the family after sentence has been passed. Sentencers should tend in favour of providing such a copy, unless there is good reason not to do so, and the copy should be provided as soon as is reasonably practicable after the sentencing hearing.

246 As amended.
2.12.3. Community

CPD 2015 VII Sentencing H ②

Community Impact Statements

H.1 A community impact statement may be prepared by the police to make the court aware of particular crime trends in the local area and the impact of these on the local community.

H.2 Such statements must be in proper form, that is a witness statement made under section 9 of the Criminal Justice Act 1967 or an expert’s report; and served in good time upon the defendant’s solicitor or the defendant, if he is not represented.

H.3 The community impact statement and any evidence in support should be considered and taken into account by the court, prior to passing sentence. The statement should be referred to in the course of the sentencing hearing and/or in the sentencing remarks. Subject to the court’s discretion, the contents of the statement may be summarised or read out in open court.

H.4 The court must pass what it judges to be the appropriate sentence having regard to the circumstances of the offence and of the offender, taking into account, so far as the court considers it appropriate, the impact on the local community. Opinions as to what the sentence should be are therefore not relevant. If, despite the advice, opinions as to sentence are included in the statement, the court should pay no attention to them.

H.5 Except where inferences can properly be drawn from the nature of or circumstances surrounding the offence, a sentencing court must not make assumptions unsupported by evidence about the effects of an offence on the local community.

H.6 It will not be appropriate for a Community Impact Statement to be made after disposal of the case but before an appeal.

A community impact statement was to be limited to expressing the effect of particular crimes upon a particular community and should not be used as a character assassination of defendants.

② As amended.
2.12.4. Business

CPD 2015 VII Sentencing

Impact statements for businesses

I.1 Individual victims of crime are invited to make a statement, known as a Victim Personal Statement ('VPS'), see CPD VII Sentencing F. If the victim, or one of the victims, is a business or enterprise (including charities but excluding public sector bodies), of any size, a nominated representative may make an Impact Statement for Business ('ISB'). The ISB gives a formal opportunity for the court to be informed how a crime has affected a business. The court will take the statement into account when determining sentence. This does not prevent individual employees from making a VPS about the impact of the same crime on them as individuals. Indeed the ISB should be about the impact on the business exclusively, and the impact on any individual included within a VPS.

I.2 When a police officer takes statements about the alleged offence, he or she should also inform the business about the scheme. An ISB may be made to the police at that time, or the ISB template may be downloaded from www.police.uk, completed and emailed or posted to the relevant police contact. Guidance on how to complete the form is available on www.police.uk and on the CPS website. There is no obligation on any business to make an ISB.

I.3 An ISB or an updated ISB may be made (in proper s.9 form, see below) at any time prior to the disposal of the case. It will not be appropriate for an ISB to be made after disposal of the case but before an appeal.

I.4 A business wishing to make an ISB should consider carefully who to nominate as the representative to make the statement on its behalf. A person making an ISB on behalf of a business, the nominated representative, must be authorised to do so on behalf of the business, either by nature of their position within the business, such as a director or owner, or by having been suitably authorised, such as by the owner or Board of Directors. The nominated representative must also be in a position to give admissible evidence about the impact of the crime on the business. This will usually be through first hand personal knowledge, or using business documents (as defined in section 117 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003). The most appropriate person will vary depending on the nature of the crime, and the size and structure of the business and may for example include a manager, director, chief executive or shop owner.

I.5 If the nominated representative leaves the business before the case comes to court, he or she will usually remain the representative, as the ISB made by him or her will still provide the best evidence of the impact of the crime, and he or she could still be asked to attend court. Nominated representatives should be made aware of the on-going nature of the role at the time of making the ISB.

I.6 If necessary a further ISB may be provided to the police if there is a change in circumstances. This could be made by an alternative nominated representative. However, the new ISB will usually supplement, not replace, the original ISB and again must contain admissible evidence. The prosecutor will decide which ISB to serve on the defence as evidence, and any ISB that is not served in evidence will be included in the unused material and considered for disclosure to the defence.

248 As amended.
I.7 The ISB must be made in proper form, that is as a witness statement made under section 9 of the Criminal Justice Act 1967 or an expert’s report; and served in good time upon the defendant’s solicitor or the defendant, if he or she is not represented. The maker of an ISB can be cross-examined on its content.

I.8 The ISB and any evidence in support should be considered and taken into account by the court, prior to passing sentence. The statement should be referred to in the course of the sentencing hearing and/or in the sentencing remarks. Subject to the court’s discretion, the contents of the statement may be summarised or read out in open court; the views of the business should be taken into account in reaching a decision.

I.9 The court must pass what it judges to be the appropriate sentence having regard to the circumstances of the offence and of the offender, taking into account, so far as the court considers it appropriate, the impact on the victims, including any business victim. Opinions as to what the sentence should be are therefore not relevant. If, despite the advice, opinions as to sentence are included in the statement, the court should pay no attention to them.

I.10 Except where inferences can properly be drawn from the nature of or circumstances surrounding the offence, a sentencing court must not make assumptions unsupported by evidence about the effects of an offence on a business.

3.1.1 Guilty plea reduction

3.1.1.1 Statutory provisions

Duty to take account of guilty plea

CJA 2003 s.144: Reduction in sentences for a guilty plea s.144(1) - in determining what sentence to pass on an offender who has pleaded guilty to an offence in proceedings before that or another court, a court must take into account:

(a) the stage in the proceedings for the offence at which the offender indicated his intention to plead guilty, and

(b) the circumstances in which this indication was given.

Minimum and required sentences

s.144(2) - in the case of an offender who—

(a) is convicted of an offence the sentence for which falls to be imposed under a provision mentioned in subsection (3), and

(b) is aged 18 or over when convicted, nothing in that provision prevents the court, after taking into account any matter referred to in subsection (1) of this section, from imposing any sentence which is not less than 80 per cent of that specified in that provision.

s.144(3) - the provisions referred to in subsection (2) are:

- section 1(2B) or 1A(5) of the Prevention of Crime Act 1953;
- section 110(2) of the Sentencing Act;
- section 111(2) of the Sentencing Act;

3.1.1.2. Sentencing Guideline

Reduction in sentence for a guilty plea, Sentencing Guidelines Council

Note: The guideline gives guidance as to the way in which the reduction for a guilty plea should be administered. The guideline is not reproduced here.

3.1.1.3. Early Guilty Plea Scheme

Criminal Practice Directions 2015

Early guilty plea hearing

3A.6 The magistrates’ court or the Crown Court may order an early guilty plea hearing, in accordance with directions given by the presiding judges, where a guilty plea is anticipated, to allow the Crown Court promptly to deal with such a case.

3A.7 Sentence should normally be passed at an early guilty plea hearing. The parties must prepare accordingly in advance of the hearing. This may include:

i) addressing any issue arising from a basis of plea,
ii) making timely application for a pre-sentence report and, if granted, ensuring that the Probation Service is provided with details of the offence(s) in respect of which the defendant intends to plead guilty, the details of any basis of plea(s) and of the defendant’s current address and telephone number(s), iii) obtaining medical or other material necessary for sentencing, and
iv) quantifying costs.

3A.8 The court must be notified promptly of any difficulty which may mean that sentence cannot be passed at the hearing so that an alternative date can be considered.

3.1.1.4. Interaction with other sentencing orders

R. v B [2012] EWCA Crim 1272

In argument it was suggested that a guilty plea should have the effect of reducing the licence period under an extended sentence. That proposition could not be accepted; the guideline only referred to the custodial period and the extension period was designed to protect the public.

3.1.2. Time spent on curfew/tag

3.1.2.1. General

Interpretation

CJA 2003 s.240A: Time remanded on bail to count towards time served: terms of imprisonment and detention

s.240A(12) - in this section:

“curfew requirement” means a requirement (however described) to remain at one or more specified places for a specified number of hours in any given day, provided that the requirement is imposed by a court or the Secretary of State and arises as a result of a conviction;

“electronic monitoring condition” means any electronic monitoring requirements imposed under section 3(6ZAA) of the Bail Act 1976 for the purpose of securing the electronic monitoring of a person’s compliance with a qualifying curfew condition;

“qualifying curfew condition” means a condition of bail which requires the person granted bail to remain at one or more specified places for a total of not less than 9 hours in any given day.

CJA 2003 s.242: Interpretations of sections 240ZA, 240A and 241

s.242(1) - for the purposes of sections 240ZA, 240A and 241, the definition of “sentence of imprisonment” in section 305 applies as if for the words from the beginning of the definition to the end of paragraph (a) there were substituted:

“sentence of imprisonment’ does not include a committal:

(a) in default of payment of any sum of money, other than one adjudged to be paid on a conviction,”; and references in those sections to sentencing an offender to imprisonment, and to an offender’s sentence, are to be read accordingly.

s.242(2) - references in sections 240ZA and 241 to an offender’s being remanded in custody are references to his being:

(a) remanded in or committed to custody by order of a court,

(b) remanded to youth detention accommodation under section 91(4) of the Legal Aid, Sentencing and Punishment of Offenders Act 2012, or

(c) remanded, admitted or removed to hospital under section 35, 36, 38 or 48 of the Mental Health Act 1983 (c. 20).

3.1.2.2. Availability

CJA 2003 s.240A\(^{254}\): Time remanded on bail to count towards time served: terms of imprisonment and detention

s.240A(1) - this section applies where:

(a) a court sentences an offender to imprisonment for a term in respect of an offence,

(b) the offender was remanded on bail by a court in course of or in connection with proceedings for the offence, or any related offence, after the coming into force of section 21 of the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008, and

(c) the offender’s bail was subject to a qualifying curfew condition and an electronic monitoring condition (“the relevant conditions”).

Duty to credit period spent on curfew or tag

CJA 2003 s.240A\(^{255}\): Time remanded on bail to count towards time served: terms of imprisonment and detention

s.240A(2) - subject to subsections (3A) and (3B), the court must direct that the credit period is to count as time served by the offender as part of the sentence.

3.1.2.3. Step by step guide

CJA 2003 s.240A\(^{256}\): Time remanded on bail to count towards time served: terms of imprisonment and detention

s.240A(3) - the credit period is calculated by taking the following steps.

Add:

(a) the day on which the offender’s bail was first subject to the relevant conditions (and for this purpose a condition is not prevented from being a relevant condition by the fact that it does not apply for the whole of the day in question), and

(b) the number of other days on which the offender’s bail was subject to those conditions (but exclude the last of those days if the offender spends the last part of it in custody).

Deduct the number of days on which the offender, whilst on bail subject to the relevant conditions, was also:

(a) subject to any requirement imposed for the purpose of securing the electronic monitoring of the offender’s compliance with a curfew requirement, or
(b) on temporary release under rules made under section 47 of the Prison Act 1952.

Step 3
From the remainder, deduct the number of days during that remainder on which the offender has broken either or both of the relevant conditions.

Step 4
Divide the result by 2.

Step 5
If necessary, round up to the nearest whole number.

3.1.2.4. Applying the discount

How does the credit manifest itself?

CJA 2003 s.240A257: Time remanded on bail to count towards time served: terms of imprisonment and detention

s.240A(3A) - a day of the credit period counts as time served:
(a) in relation to only one sentence, and
(b) only once in relation to that sentence.

s.240A(3B) - a day of the credit period is not to count as time served as part of any automatic release period served by the offender (see section 255B(1)).

Duty to state discount in open court

CJA 2003 s.240A258: Time remanded on bail to count towards time served: terms of imprisonment and detention

s.240A(8) - where the court gives a direction under subsection (2) it shall state in open court:
(a) the number of days on which the offender was subject to the relevant conditions, and
(b) the number of days (if any) which it deducted under each of steps 2 and 3.

Non-custodial sentences

Time on remand

1.1.37 The court will need to consider whether to give any credit for time spent in custody on remand.10 (For further detail from the Panel’s Advice, see Annex A)

The court should seek to give credit for time spent on remand (in custody or equivalent status) in all cases. It should make clear, when announcing sentence, whether or not credit for time on remand has been given (bearing in mind that there will be no automatic reduction in sentence once section 67 of the Criminal Justice Act 1967 is repealed) and should explain its reasons for not giving credit when it considers either that this is not justified, would not be practical, or would not be in the best interests of the offender.

1.1.38 Where an offender has spent a period of time in custody on remand, there will be occasions where a custodial sentence is warranted but the length of the sentence justified by the seriousness of the offence would mean that the offender would be released immediately. Under the present framework, it may be more appropriate to pass a community sentence since that will ensure supervision on release.

1.1.39 However, given the changes in the content of the second part of a custodial sentence of 12 months or longer, a court in this situation where the custodial sentence would be 12 months or more should, under the new framework, pass a custodial sentence in the knowledge that licence requirements will be imposed on release from custody. This will ensure that the sentence imposed properly reflects the seriousness of the offence.

1.1.40 Recommendations made by the court at the point of sentence will be of particular importance in influencing the content of the licence. This will properly reflect the gravity of the offence(s) committed.

Retrial

CAA 1968 Sch.2: Procedural and other provisions applicable on order for retrial

Para.2(4) - Sections 240ZA and 240A of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (crediting of periods of remand in custody or on bail subject to certain types of condition: terms of imprisonment and detention) shall apply to any sentence imposed on conviction on retrial as if it had been imposed on the original conviction.
3.1.4. Explaining sentences

3.1.4.1. The general rule

Sentencers’ duties

CJA 2003 s.174\(^{278}\): Duty to give reasons for and to explain effect of sentence s.174(2) - the court must state in open court, in ordinary language and in general terms, the court’s reasons for deciding on the sentence.

s.174(3) - the court must explain to the offender in ordinary language—

(a) the effect of the sentence,

(b) the effects of non-compliance with any order that the offender is required to comply with and that forms part of the sentence,

(c) any power of the court to vary or review any order that forms part of the sentence, and

(d) the effects of failure to pay a fine, if the sentence consists of or includes a fine.

Sentencing Guidelines

CJA 2003 s.174\(^{279}\): Duty to give reasons for and to explain effect of sentence

s.174(2) - the court must state in open court, in ordinary language and in general terms, the court’s reasons for deciding on the sentence.

s.174(5) - subsections (6) to (8) are particular duties of the court in complying with the duty in subsection (2).

(a) explain how the court discharged any duty imposed on it by section 125 of the Coroners and Justice Act 2009 (duty to follow guidelines unless satisfied it would be contrary to the interests of justice to do so);

(b) where the court was satisfied it would be contrary to the interests of justice to follow the guidelines, state why.

s.174(9) - in this section “definitive sentencing guidelines” means sentencing guidelines issued by the Sentencing Council for England and Wales under section 120 of the Coroners and Justice Act 2009 as definitive guidelines, as revised by any subsequent guidelines so issued.

Guilty pleas

CJA 2003 s.174: Duty to give reasons for and to explain effect of sentence

s.174(7) - where, as a result of taking into account any matter referred to in section 144(1) (guilty pleas), the court imposes a punishment on the offender which is less severe than the punishment it would otherwise have imposed, the court must state that fact.

Offenders aged under 18

s.174(8) - where the offender is under 18 and the court imposes a sentence that may only be imposed in the offender’s case if the court is of the opinion mentioned in—

Criminal Procedure Rules 2015 (SI 2015/1490)

rule.28.1(1) This rule applies where the court decides—

(a) not to follow a relevant sentencing guideline;

(b) not to make, where it could—

(i) a reparation order (unless it passes a custodial or community sentence),

(ii) a compensation order,

(iii) a slavery and trafficking reparation order, or

(iv) a travel restriction order;
(c) not to order, where it could—
   (i) that a suspended sentence of imprisonment is to take effect,
   (ii) the endorsement of the defendant’s driving record, or
   (iii) the defendant’s disqualification from driving, for the usual minimum period or at all;
(d) to pass a lesser sentence than it otherwise would have passed because the defendant has assisted, or has agreed to assist, an investigator or prosecutor in relation to an offence.

rule.28.1(2) The court must explain why it has so decided, when it explains the sentence that it has passed.

rule.28.1(3) Where paragraph (1)(d) applies, the court must arrange for such an explanation to be given to the defendant and to the prosecutor in writing, if the court thinks that it would not be in the public interest to explain in public.

3.1.5.4. Notification regimes

Notification requirements

Criminal Procedure Rules 2015 (SI 2015/1490)

rule.28.3(1) This rule applies where, on a conviction, sentence or order, legislation requires the defendant—

(a)  to notify information to the police; or

(b)  to be included in a barred list.

rule.28.3(2) The court must tell the defendant that such requirements apply, and under what legislation.

Note. 285 For the circumstances in which a defendant is required to notify information to the police, see—

For the circumstances in which a defendant will be included in a barred list, see paragraphs 1, 2, 7, 8 and 24 of Schedule 3 to the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006. See also paragraph 25 of that Schedule.

These requirements are not part of the court’s sentence.

285 This note is contained within the CPR.
3.1.5.5. Variation or alteration of sentence

Varying or altering sentence

Criminal Procedure Rules 2015 (SI 2015/1490)

rule.28.4(1) This rule—

(a) applies where a magistrates’ court or the Crown Court can vary or rescind a sentence or order, other than an order to which rule 24.18 applies (Setting aside a conviction or varying a costs etc. order); and

(b) authorises the Crown Court, in addition to its other powers, to do so within the period of 56 days beginning with another defendant’s acquittal or sentencing where—

(i) defendants are tried separately in the Crown Court on the same or related facts alleged in one or more indictments, and

(ii) one is sentenced before another is acquitted or sentenced.

rule.28.4(2) The court may exercise its power—

(a) on application by a party, or on its own initiative;

(b) at a hearing, in public or in private, or without a hearing.

rule.28.4(3) A party who wants the court to exercise that power must—

(a) apply in writing as soon as reasonably practicable after—

(i) the sentence or order that that party wants the court to vary or rescind, or

(ii) where paragraph (1)(b) applies, the other defendant’s acquittal or sentencing;

(b) serve the application on—

(i) the court officer, and

(ii) each other party; and

(c) in the application—

(i) explain why the sentence should be varied or rescinded,

(ii) specify the variation that the applicant proposes, and

(iii) if the application is late, explain why.

rule.28.4(4) The court must not exercise its power in the defendant’s absence unless—

(a) the court makes a variation—

(i) which is proposed by the defendant, or

(ii) the effect of which is that the defendant is no more severely dealt with under the sentence as varied before; or

(b) the defendant has had an opportunity to make representations at a hearing (whether or not the defendant in fact attends).

rule.28.4(5) The court may—

(a) extend (even after it has expired) the time limit under paragraph (3), unless the court’s power to vary or rescind the sentence cannot be exercised;

(b) allow an application to be made orally.
Note. Under section 142 of the Magistrates’ Courts Act 1980, in some cases a magistrates’ court can vary or rescind a sentence or other order that it has imposed or made, if that appears to be in the interests of justice. The power cannot be exercised if the Crown Court or the High Court has determined an appeal about that sentence or order. See also rule 24.18 (Setting aside a conviction or varying a costs etc. order), which governs the exercise by a magistrates’ court of the power conferred by section 142 of the 1980 Act in the circumstances to which that rule applies.

Under section 155 of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000, the Crown Court can vary or rescind a sentence or other order that it has imposed or made. The power cannot be exercised—

(a) after the period of 56 days beginning with the sentence or order (but see the note below); or
(b) if an appeal or application for permission to appeal against that sentence or order has been determined.

Under section 155(7), Criminal Procedure Rules can extend that period of 56 days where another defendant is tried separately in the Crown Court on the same or related facts alleged in one or more indictments.

(a) apply in writing as soon as practicable after becoming aware of the grounds for doing so;
(b) serve the application on the magistrates’ court officer;
(c) where the order was made in the Crown Court, serve a copy of the application on the Crown Court officer; and
(d) in the application, specify the order that the defendant wants the court to vary or discharge and explain (as applicable)—

(i) what civil court finding shows that the injury, loss or damage was less than it had appeared to be when the order was made,
(ii) in what circumstances the person for whose benefit the order was made has recovered the property for the loss of which it was made,
(iii) why a confiscation order, unlawful profit order or slavery and trafficking reparation order makes the defendant now unable to pay compensation or reparation in full, or
(iv) in what circumstances the defendant’s means have been reduced substantially and unexpectedly, and why they seem unlikely to increase for a considerable period.

286 This note is contained within the CPR.
rule 28.5(3) The court officer must serve a copy of the application on the person for whose benefit the order was made.

rule 28.5(4) The court must not vary or discharge the order unless—
(a) the defendant, and the person for whose benefit it was made, each has had an opportunity to make representations at a hearing (whether or not either in fact attends); and
(b) where the order was made in the Crown Court, the Crown Court has notified its consent.

Note. 287 For the circumstances in which—
(a) the court may make a compensation order, see section 130 of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000;
(b) the court may make a slavery and trafficking reparation order, see section 8 of the Modern Slavery Act 2015;
(c) a magistrates’ court with power to enforce such an order may vary or discharge it under the 2000 Act, see section 133. (Under section 133(4), where the order was made in the Crown Court, the magistrates’ court must first obtain the Crown Court’s consent.)

(a) apply in writing, no earlier than the date on which the court can exercise the power;
(b) serve the application on the court officer; and

(b) revoke or suspend a travel restriction order against a defendant convicted of drug trafficking, see section 35 of the Criminal Justice and Police Act 2001(2). The court may not consider an application made within 2 years of the disqualification, in any case; or, after that, before a specified period has expired.

Application for a restitution order by the victim of a theft

rule 28.7(1) This rule applies where, on application by the victim of a theft, the court can order a defendant to give that person goods obtained with the proceeds of goods stolen in that theft.

(a) apply in writing as soon as practicable (without waiting for the verdict);
(b) serve the application on the court officer; and
(c) in the application—

(i) identify the goods, and
(ii) explain why the applicant is entitled to them.

rule 28.7(3) The court officer must serve a copy of the application on each party.

(a) extend (even after it has expired) the time limit under paragraph (2); and
(b) allow an application to be made orally.

(c) sets out or summarises any relevant information available to the court.

Note. The court may request a medical examination of the defendant and a report in connection with—

(a) section 4 of the Criminal Procedure (Insanity) Act 1964, under which the Crown Court may determine a defendant's fitness to plead;

(b) section 35 of the Mental Health Act 1983, under which the court may order the defendant’s detention in hospital to obtain a further medical report;

(c) section 36 of the 1983 Act, under which the Crown Court may order the defendant’s detention in hospital instead of in custody pending trial;

(d) section 37 of the 1983 Act, under which the court may order the defendant’s detention and treatment in hospital, or make a guardianship order, instead of disposing of the case in another way;

(e) section 38 of the 1983 Act, under which the court may order the defendant’s temporary detention and treatment in hospital instead of disposing of the case in another way;

(f) section 157 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003, under which the court must usually obtain and consider a medical report before passing a custodial sentence if the defendant is, or appears to be, mentally disordered;

(g) section 207 of the 2003 Act (in the case of a defendant aged 18 or over), or section 1(1)(k) of the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 (in the case of a defendant who is under 18), under which the court may impose a mental health treatment requirement.

Under section 74 of the 2005 Act(2), where the Crown Court has sentenced a defendant a prosecutor may apply to the court—

(a) to reduce the sentence, if the defendant subsequently assists, or agrees to assist, in the investigation or prosecution of an offence; or

s.78(6) - definition of “impose imprisonment”: it means pass a sentence of imprisonment or fix a term of imprisonment for failure to pay any sum of money, or for want of sufficient distress to satisfy any sum of money, or for failure to do or abstain from doing anything required to be done or left undone

s.78(7) - MCA 1980 s.132 contains provision about the minimum term of imprisonment which may be imposed by a magistrates’ court.

MCA 1980 s.32<sup>297</sup>: Penalties on summary conviction for offences triable either way s.32(1) - on summary conviction of any of the offences triable either way listed in Schedule 1 to this Act a person shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 6 months or to a fine not exceeding the prescribed sum or both, except that—

(a) a magistrates’ court shall not have power to impose imprisonment for an offence so listed if the Crown Court would not have that power in the case of an adult convicted of it on indictment.

s.32(2) - for any offence triable either way which is not listed in Schedule 1 to this Act, being an offence under a relevant enactment, the maximum fine which may be imposed on summary conviction shall by virtue of this subsection be the prescribed sum unless the offence is one for which by virtue of an enactment other than this subsection a larger fine may be imposed on summary conviction.

s.32(3) - where, by virtue of any relevant enactment, a person summarily convicted of an offence triable either way would, apart from this section, be liable to a maximum fine of one amount in the case of a first conviction and of a different amount in the case of a second or subsequent conviction, subsection (2) above shall apply irrespective of whether the conviction is a first, second or subsequent one.

s.32(4) - subsection (2) above shall not affect so much of any enactment as (in whatever words) makes a person liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding a specified amount for each day on which a continuing offence is continued after conviction or the occurrence of any other specified event.

s.32(5) - subsection (2) above shall not apply on summary conviction of any of the following offences:—

(a) offences under section 5(2) of the Misuse of Drugs Act 1971 (having possession of a controlled drug) where the controlled drug in relation to which the offence was committed was a Class B or Class C drug;

(b) offences under the following provisions of that Act, where the controlled drug in relation to which the offence was committed was a Class C drug, namely—

(i) section 4(2) (production, or being concerned in the production, of a controlled drug);
(ii) section 4(3) (supplying or offering a controlled drug or being concerned in the doing of either activity by another);
(iii) section 5(3) (having possession of a controlled drug with intent to supply it to another);
(iv) section 8 (being the occupier, or concerned in the management, of premises and permitting or suffering certain activities to take place there);
(v) section 12(6) (contravention of direction prohibiting practitioner etc. from possessing, supplying etc. controlled drugs); or
(vi) section 13(3) (contravention of direction prohibiting practitioner etc. from prescribing, supplying etc. controlled drugs).

s.32(6) - where, as regards any offence triable either way, there is under any enactment (however framed or worded) a power by subordinate instrument to restrict the amount of the fine which on summary conviction can be imposed in respect of that offence—

(a) subsection (2) above shall not affect that power or override any restriction imposed in the exercise of that power; and
(b) the amount to which that fine may be restricted in the exercise of that power shall be any amount less than the maximum fine which could be imposed on summary conviction in respect of the offence apart from any restriction so imposed.

s.32(8) - in subsection (5) above “controlled drug”, “Class B drug” and “Class C drug” have the same meaning as in the Misuse of Drugs Act 1971.

s.32(9) - in this section—

“fine” includes a pecuniary penalty but does not include a pecuniary forfeiture or pecuniary compensation;

“the prescribed sum” means £5,000 or such sum as is for the time being substituted in this definition by an order in force under section 143(1) below;

“relevant enactment” means an enactment contained in the Criminal Law Act 1977 or in any Act passed before, or in the same Session as, that Act.

s.32(10) - Section 85 of the Legal Aid, Sentencing and Punishment of Offenders Act 2012 (removal of limit on certain fines on conviction by magistrates’ court) makes provision that affects the application of this section.

MCA 1980 Sch.1: Offences triable either way by virtue of section 17

Magistrates’ Court may impose sentence less than the specified maximum

MCA 1980 s.34\(^{301}\): Mitigation of penalties, etc.

s.34(1) - where under any enactment whether passed before or after the commencement of this Act a magistrates’ court has power to sentence an offender to imprisonment for a period specified by the enactment, or to a fine of an amount specified by the enactment, then, except where an Act passed after 31st December 1879 expressly provides to the contrary, the court may sentence him to imprisonment for less than that period or, as the case may be, to a fine of less than that amount.

s.34(2) - where under any such enactment an offender sentenced on summary conviction to imprisonment or a fine is required to enter into a recognizance with or without sureties to keep the peace or observe any other condition, the court convicting him may dispense with or modify the requirement.

s.34(3) - where under any such enactment a magistrates’ court has power to sentence an offender to imprisonment or other detention but not to a fine, then, except where an Act passed after 31st December 1879 expressly provides to the contrary, the court may, instead of sentencing him to imprisonment or other detention, impose a fine which—

(a) for an offence triable either way, shall not exceed the prescribed sum within the meaning of section 32 above; and

(b) for a summary offence, shall—

(i) not exceed level 3 on the standard scale; and

(ii) not be of such an amount as would subject the offender, in default of payment of the fine, to a longer term of imprisonment or detention than the term to which he is liable on conviction of the offence.

s.135(3) - this section shall have effect in relation to a person aged 18 or over but less than 21 as if references in it to prison were references to detention under section 108 of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 (detention of persons aged 18 to 20 for default).

3.2.1.7. Interaction with other sentencing orders

Criminal Behaviour Orders

Where custodial sentences in excess of a few months are imposed and offenders are able to be released on licence, circumstances in which there is a demonstrable need to make an ASBO are likely to be limited.

Note: The similarity between ASBOs and the new Criminal Behaviour Order make it very likely much of the caselaw will continue to apply. For that reason, this case has been listed under ‘Criminal Behaviour Order’.

Compensation orders

TICs and Totality Guideline, Sentencing Council p.16

A compensation order can be combined with a sentence of immediate custody where the offender is clearly able to pay or has good prospects of employment on his release from custody.

Costs

Practice Direction (Costs in Criminal Proceedings) Amendment No.2 2015 para 3.4

The order is not intended to be in the nature of a penalty which can only be satisfied on the defendant’s release from prison.

313 Commencement: 4 April 2005, SI 2005/950 art.2 and Sch.1 para.7.
Fines

TICs and Totality Guideline, Sentencing Council p.13

A fine should not generally be imposed in combination with a custodial sentence because of the effect of imprisonment on the means of the defendant. However, exceptionally, it may be appropriate to impose a fine in addition to a custodial sentence where:

- the sentence is suspended;
- a confiscation order is not contemplated; and
- there is no obvious victim to whom compensation can be awarded; and
- the offender has, or will have, resources from which a fine can be paid.

Magistrates’ Court Sentencing Guidelines, Sentencing Guidelines Council p.152

A fine and a custodial sentence may be imposed for the same offence although there will be few circumstances in which this is appropriate, particularly where the custodial sentence is to be served immediately. One example might be where an offender has profited financially from an offence but there is no obvious victim to whom compensation can be awarded. Combining these sentences is most likely to be appropriate only where the custodial sentence is short and/or the offender clearly has, or will have, the means to pay.

Care must be taken to ensure that the overall sentence is proportionate to the seriousness of the offence and that better off offenders are not able to ‘buy themselves out of custody’.

Hospital/Guardianship order

Mental Health Act 1983 s.37\(^{314}\): Powers of courts to order hospital admission or guardianship s.37(8) - where a hospital or guardianship order is made under s.37, the court shall not: (a) impose a sentence of imprisonment … in respect of the offence … but the court may make any other order which it has power to make apart from s.37; and for the purposes of s.37(8) “sentence of imprisonment” includes any sentence or order for detention.

Prison in default

PCC(S)A 2000 s.139\(^ {315}\): Powers and duties of Crown Court in relation to fines and forfeited recognizances

s.139(5) - where any person liable for the payment of a fine or a sum due under a recognizance … is sentenced by the court to, or is serving or otherwise liable to serve, a term of imprisonment or detention in a young offender institution etc., the court may order that any prison in default term shall not being to run until after the end of the first-mentioned term

\(^{314}\) Commencement: 30 September 1983, MHA 1983 s.149(2)

\(^{315}\) Commencement: 25 August 2000, PCC(S)A 2000 s.168(1).
3.2.2. Adults

3.2.2.1. Determinate custodial sentences

3.2.2.1.1. Imprisonment

3.2.2.1.1.1. Availability

PCC(S)A 2000 s.89: Restriction on imposing imprisonment on persons under 21

s.89(1) - subject to s.189(2), no court shall:
- pass a sentence of imprisonment on a person for an offence if he is aged under 21 when convicted; or
- commit a person aged under 21 to prison for any reason s.89(2) - nothing in s.89(1) prevents the committal to prison of a person aged under 21 who is:

- remanded in custody;
- committed in custody for sentence; or
- sent in custody for trial under CDA 1998 s.51 or 51A

3.2.2.1.1.2. Interaction with other sentencing orders

Detention in Young Offender Institution

PCC(S)A 2000 s.97: Term of detention in a young offender institution, and consecutive sentences

s.97(5) - subject to PCC(S)A 2000 s.84 (restriction on consecutive sentences for released prisoners), where a defendant who:
- is serving a sentence of detention in a young offender institution, and
- is aged 21 or over,

is convicted of one or more further offences for which he is liable to imprisonment, the court shall have the power to pass one or more sentences of imprisonment to run consecutively upon the sentence of detention in a young offender institution

Suspended sentence order

R. v Butters and Fitzgerald (1971) 55 Cr. App. R. 515

The offender had been made subject to immediate and suspended sentences of imprisonment at the same time. The Court of Appeal held that that was undesirable as a matter of sentencing practice, notwithstanding that there was no statutory bar to so doing. In general, courts should avoid mixing sentences which fall into different categories.

(a) a person aged at least 18 but under 21 is convicted of an offence which is punishable with imprisonment in the case of a person aged 21 or over, and

(b) the court is of the opinion that either or both of PCC(S)A 2000 s.79(2)(a) and (b) (general restrictions on imposing discretionary custodial sentences: repealed) apply or the case falls within PCC(S)A 2000 s.79(3) (general restrictions on imposing discretionary custodial sentences: repealed), the sentence that the court is to pass is a sentence of detention in a young offender institution.

Maximum term

PCC(S)A 2000 s.97[^319]: Term of detention in a young offender institution, and consecutive sentences

s.97(1) - the maximum term of detention in a young offender institution that a court may impose for an offence is the same as the maximum term of imprisonment that it may impose for that offence.

Minimum term

PCC(S)A 2000 s.97[^320]: Term of detention in a young offender institution, and consecutive sentences

s.97(2) - a court shall not pass a sentence for an offender’s detention in a young offender institution for less than 21 days.

Where a sentence for a “dangerous offender” is imposed under the provisions in the Criminal Justice Act 2003, whether the sentence requires the calculation of a minimum term or is an extended sentence, the approach will be the same as for any other determinate sentence (see also section G below).

Consecutive sentences

Note: It is permissible to impose consecutive extended sentences but it is not desirable to do so, see e.g. R. v Lang [2005] EWCA Crim 2864; [2006] 2 Cr. App. R. (S.) 3 (p.13) and R. v Hibbert [2015] EWCA Crim 507.

3.2.2.2.6 Appeals

Fresh evidence

CJA 2003 s.229: The assessment of dangerousness

s.229(1) - application of section: where:
  (a) a person has been convicted of a specified offence, and
  (b) it falls to a court to assess under any of sections 225 to 228 whether there is a significant risk to members of the public of serious harm occasioned by the commission by him of further such offences

s.229(2) - duty/discretion when assessing significant risk: the court:
  (a) must take into account all such information as is available to it about the nature and circumstances of the offence,
  (aa) may take into account all such information as is available to it about the nature and circumstances of any other offences of which the defendant has been convicted by a court anywhere in the world,
  (b) may take into account any information which is before it about any pattern of behaviour of which any of the offences mentioned in paragraph (a) or (aa) forms part, and
  (c) may take into account any information about the defendant which is before it.

CAA 1968 s.23: Evidence

s.23(1) - the Court of Appeal may, if they think it necessary or expedient in the interests of justice:
  (a) order the production of any document, exhibit or other thing connected with the proceedings, the production of which appears to them necessary for the determination of the case;
  (b) order any witness to attend for examination and be examined before the Court (whether or not he was called in the proceedings from which the appeal lies); and
  (c) receive any evidence which was not adduced in the proceedings from which the appeal lies

s.23(1A) - the power conferred by subsection (1)(a) may be exercised so as to require the production of any document, exhibit or other thing mentioned in that subsection to—
  (a) the Court;
  (b) the appellant;
  (c) the respondent.

344 Commencement: 4 April 2005, SI 2005/950 art.2 and Sch.1 para.18. Section 229 was moved to a new part of the Act on 3 December 2012, LASPOA 2012 Sch.19 para.18
s.23(2) - the Court of Appeal shall, in considering whether to receive any evidence, have regard in particular to:

(a) whether the evidence appears to the Court to be capable of belief;

(b) whether it appears to the Court that the evidence may afford any ground for allowing the appeal;

(c) whether the evidence would have been admissible in the proceedings from which the appeal lies on an issue which is the subject of the appeal; and

(d) whether there is a reasonable explanation for the failure to adduce the evidence in those proceedings.

As the provisions in relation to dangerousness require the court to take into account all information and in the light of the practice set out in R. v Roberts [2006] EWCA Crim 2915; [2007] 1 W.L.R. 1109, CAA 1968 s.23 does not constrain the Court of Appeal from receiving further information about the offender where it is right to do so.

Where previous conviction set aside

CJA 2003 s.231345: Appeals where previous convictions set aside

s.231(1) - application of section: CJA 2003 s.231(2) applies where:

(a) a sentence has been imposed on any person under … CJA 2003 s.226A,

(b) the condition in s.226A(2) was met but the condition in s.226A(3) was not, and

(c) any previous conviction of his without which the condition in section 226A(2) would not have been met has been subsequently set aside on appeal s.231(2) - notwithstanding anything in CAA 1968 s.18, notice of appeal against the sentence may be given at any time within 28 days from the date on which the previous conviction was set aside

3.2.2.7 Certificates of conviction

CJA 2003 s.232A346: Certificates of conviction for Sch.15B offence

s.232A - where:

(a) after the commencement of CJA 2003 Sch.15B a person is convicted in England and Wales of an offence listed in that Schedule, and

(b) the court by or before which the person is so convicted states in open court that the person has been convicted of such an offence on that date, and

(c) that court subsequently certifies that fact, that certificate is evidence, for the purposes of CJA 2003 ss.224A and 226A, that the person was convicted of such an offence on that date

345 Commencement: 4 April 2005, SI 2005/950 art.2 and Sch.1 para.18. Section 229 was moved to a new part of the Act on 3 December 2012, LASPOA 2012 Sch.19 para.19. Note that this section has been amended to insert a new subsection (A1) which pertains to appeals relevant to sentences imposed under CJA 2003 s.224A.

346 Commencement: 3 December 2012, as inserted by LASPOA 2012 Sch.19 para.21
3.2.2.8 Interaction with other sentencing orders

Dangerousness provisions

The first question to be considered in all cases where these provisions apply is whether the offender is dangerous. Where s.224A may be relevant there will be a temptation to move straight to a consideration of that provision. That temptation should be resisted. It may lead to the omission of the crucial first question of whether the offender is dangerous.

The order in which a judge should approach sentencing in a case of this type is this:

i) consider the question of dangerousness. If the offender is not dangerous and s.224A does not apply, a determinate sentence should be passed. If the offender is not dangerous and the conditions in s.224A are satisfied then (subject to s.2(a) and (b)), a life sentence must be imposed;

ii) if the offender is dangerous, consider whether the seriousness of the offence and offences associated with it justify a life sentence. Seriousness is to be considered as set out at [22];

iii) if a life sentence is justified then the judge must pass a life sentence in accordance with s.225. If s.224A also applies, the judge should record that fact in open court;

iv) if a life sentence is not justified, then the sentencing judge should consider whether s.224A applies. If it does then (subject to the terms of s.224A) a life sentence must be imposed; and

v) if s.224A does not apply the judge should then consider the provisions of s.226A. Before passing an extended sentence the judge should consider a determinate sentence.

3.2.2.3. Life imprisonment (discretionary under CJA 2003)

3.2.2.3.1 Power to order and test to apply

CJA 2003 s.225: Life sentence or imprisonment for public protection for serious offences

s.225(1) - application of section: where:

(a) a person aged 18 or over is convicted of a serious offence committed after the commencement of this section, and

(b) the court is of the opinion that there is a significant risk to members of the public of serious harm occasioned by the commission by him of further specified offences

s.225(2) - If:

(a) the offence is one in respect of which the defendant would apart from this section be liable to imprisonment for life, and

(b) the court considers that the seriousness of the offence, or of the offence and one or more offences associated with it, is such as to justify the imposition of a sentence of imprisonment for life, the court must impose a sentence of imprisonment for life or in the case of a person aged at least 18 but under 21, a sentence of custody for life.

s.225(5) - sentence under s.225 is not regarded as one fixed by law

PCC(S)A 2000 s.94: Power to impose custody for life in certain other cases where offender at least 18 but under 21

s.94(1) - where a person aged at least 18 but under 21 is convicted of an offence:

(a) for which the sentence is not fixed by law, but

(b) for which a person aged 21 or over would be liable to imprisonment for life, the court shall, if it considers that a sentence for life would be appropriate, sentence him to custody for life.

s.94(2) - subsection (1) above is subject to (in particular) sections 79 and 80, but this subsection does not apply in relation to a sentence which falls to be imposed under section 109(2).

PCC(S)A 2000 s.95: Custody for life: place of detention

s.95(1) - subject to section 22(2)(b) of the Prison Act 1952 (removal to hospital etc.), an offender sentenced to custody for life shall be detained in a young offender institution unless a direction under subsection (2) below is in force in relation to him.

s.95(2) - the Secretary of State may from time to time direct that an offender sentenced to custody for life shall be detained in a prison or remand centre instead of a young offender institution.

Guidance

[...] Taking into account the law prior to the coming into force of the CJA 2003 and the whole of the new statutory provisions, the question in s.225(2)(b) as to whether the seriousness of the offence (or of the offence and one or more offences associated with it) is such as to justify a life sentence requires consideration of:—

i) The seriousness of the offence itself, on its own or with other offences associated with it in accordance with the provisions of CJA 2003 s.143(1). This is always a matter for the judgment of the court.

ii) The defendant's previous convictions (in accordance with CJA 2003 s.143(2)).

iii) The level of danger to the public posed by the defendant and whether there is a reliable estimate of the length of time he will remain a danger.

iv) The available alternative sentences.

It is inevitable that the application of s.225 in its current form will lead to the imposition of life sentences in circumstances where previously the sentence would have been one of IPP. It is what Parliament intended and also ensures (as Parliament also intended), so far as is possible, the effective protection of the public.

(Lord Thomas CJ, at [22]-[23])

3.2.2.3.2 Setting the minimum term

What is a life sentence?

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

L.1 Section 82A of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 empowers a judge when passing a sentence of life imprisonment, where such a sentence is not fixed by law, to specify by order such part of the sentence (‘the relevant part’) as shall be served before the prisoner may require the Secretary of State to refer his case to the Parole Board. This is applicable to defendants under the age of 18 years as well as to adult defendants.

L.2 Thus the life sentence falls into two parts:

(a) the relevant part, which consists of the period of detention imposed for punishment and deterrence, taking into account the seriousness of the offence, and

(b) the remaining part of the sentence, during which the prisoner’s detention will be governed by consideration of risk to the public.

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

L.4 In cases where the judge is to specify the relevant part of the sentence under section 82A, the judge should permit the advocate for the defendant to address the court as to the appropriate length of the relevant part. Where no relevant part is to be specified, the advocate for the defendant should be permitted to address the court as to the appropriateness of this course of action.

(c) the early release provisions as compared with CJA 2003 s.244(1) (duty to release prisoners at half-way point of sentence etc.)

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

L.5 In specifying the relevant part of the sentence, the judge should have regard to the specific terms of section 82A and should indicate the reasons for reaching his decision as to the length of the relevant part.

Note: As to the appropriate length of the minimum term, as a proportion of the notional determinate sentence, see R. v Szczerba [2002] EWCA Crim 440; [2002] 2 Cr. App. R. (S.) 86 (p.387).

PCC(S)A 2000 s.82A 356. Determination of tariffs

s.82A(4) - if the defendant was aged 21 or over when he committed the offence and the court is of the opinion that, because of the seriousness of the offence or of the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it, no order should be made under PCC(S)A 2000 s.82A(2), the court shall order that, the early release provisions shall not apply

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

L.3 The judge is not obliged by statute to make use of the provisions of section 82A when passing a life sentence. However, the judge should do so, save in the very exceptional case where the judge considers that the offence is so serious that detention for life is justified by the seriousness of the offence alone, irrespective of the risk to the public. In such a case, the judge should state this in open court when passing sentence.

Reduction for guilty plea

Reduction in Sentence for a Guilty Plea Guideline, Sentencing Guidelines Council para.5.1

Where a sentence for a “dangerous offender” is imposed under the provisions in the Criminal Justice Act 2003, whether the sentence requires the calculation of a minimum term or is an extended sentence, the approach will be the same as for any other determinate sentence (see also section G below).

356 Commencement: 30 November 2000, as inserted by CJCSA 2000 s.60(1), CJCSA 2000 s.80. The section was amended on 18 December 2003 by CJA 2003 Sch.32 para.109 to bring it in line with the regime for life sentences under s.225 and 226, CJA 2003 s.336(2).
3.2.2.3.3 Interaction with other sentencing orders

The court did not say that no SOPO will ever be appropriate in the case of an indefinite sentence, but the court had not on the material before it been able to envisage an instance when it would. The usual rule ought to be that an indeterminate sentence needs no SOPO, at least unless there was some very unusual feature which means that such an order could add something useful and did not run the risk of undesirably tying the hands of the offender managers later.357

Dangerousness provisions

The first question to be considered in all cases where these provisions apply is whether the offender is dangerous. Where s.224A may be relevant there will be a temptation to move straight to a consideration of that provision. That temptation should be resisted. It may lead to the omission of the crucial first question of whether the offender is dangerous.

The order in which a judge should approach sentencing in a case of this type is this:

i) consider the question of dangerousness. If the offender is not dangerous and s.224A does not apply, a determinate sentence should be passed. If the offender is not dangerous and the conditions in s.224A are satisfied then (subject to s.2(a) and (b)), a life sentence must be imposed;

ii) if the offender is dangerous, consider whether the seriousness of the offence and offences associated with it justify a life sentence. Seriousness is to be considered as set out at [22];

iii) if a life sentence is justified then the judge must pass a life sentence in accordance with s.225. If s.224A also applies, the judge should record that fact in open court;

iv) if a life sentence is not justified, then the sentencing judge should consider whether s.224A applies. If it does then (subject to the terms of s.224A) a life sentence must be imposed; and

v) if s.224A does not apply the judge should then consider the provisions of s.226A. Before passing an extended sentence the judge should consider a determinate sentence.

357 It seems likely that this decision would apply with equal force to the new SHPOs, dealt with in part 3(4)

358 Note that this is not a definitive guideline and that it concerns the old extended sentences under the CJA 2003.
3.2.2.4. Life imprisonment (discretionary where offender not “dangerous”)

3.2.2.4.1 The existence of the power

[...] Neither the 2003 Act, nor LASPOA 2012, imposed any limit on the power of the court to impose a sentence of life imprisonment in cases where a sentence of life imprisonment may be imposed but the case does not fall within either the statutory life sentence (CJA 2003 s.224A) or the discretionary life sentence (CJA 2003 s.225). Some of these offences may involve a significant risk of serious harm to the public, but are not included within the list of “specified” offences in the dangerousness provisions in the 2003 Act. One obvious example is the offender who commits repeated offences of very serious drug supplying which justifies the imposition of the life sentence. In circumstances like these the court is not obliged to impose the sentence in accordance with s.225(2), but its discretion to do so is unaffected.

In reality, the occasions when this second form of discretionary life sentence is likely to be imposed will be rare, and no inconvenience has yet resulted from applying the description “discretionary” to both forms of sentence. We have reflected whether any advantages might accrue to sentencing courts if we were able to offer alternative descriptions which would identify the distinction between these two forms of discretionary life sentence. In reality, none is needed. (Lord Chief Justice, at [11]-[12])

The previous offence condition

CJA 2003 s.224A

CJA 2003 s.224A

CJA 2003 s.224A: Life for second listed offence

s.224A(4) - the previous offence condition is that:

(a) at the time the offence was committed, the offender had been convicted of an offence listed in Schedule 15B (“the previous offence”), and

(b) a relevant life sentence or a relevant sentence of imprisonment or detention for a determinate period was imposed on the offender for the previous offence.

s.224A(5) - a life sentence is relevant for the purposes of subsection (4)(b) if:

(a) the offender was not eligible for release during the first 5 years of the sentence, or

(b) the offender would not have been eligible for release during that period but for the reduction of the period of ineligibility to take account of a relevant pre-sentence period.

s.224A(6) - an extended sentence imposed under this Act (including one imposed as a result of the Armed Forces Act 2006) is relevant for the purposes of subsection (4)(b) if the appropriate custodial term imposed was 10 years or more.

s.224A(9) - an extended sentence or other sentence of imprisonment or detention is also relevant if it would have been relevant under subsection (7) or (8) but for the reduction of the sentence, or any part of the sentence, to take account of a relevant pre-sentence period.

No requirement that the offender satisfies the dangerous criteria

[…] for a life sentence to be imposed under s.224A there is no requirement of a finding that the offender is dangerous within the meaning of the CJA 2003, although it is likely that in most such cases he will be. It follows that the fact that an offender is not dangerous is not something that of itself would make it unjust to pass a life sentence under this section. (Lord Thomas CJ, at [8])

No requirement that the “seriousness” threshold is passed

[…] s.225(2)(b) does not apply to the relevant offence in s.224A. There is no requirement to consider whether the “seriousness” threshold has been passed. (Lord Thomas CJ, at [8])

363 Commencement: 3 December 2012, as inserted by LASPOA 2012 s.122, SI 2012/2906 art.2(e). The coming into force of section 122 is of no effect in relation to a person convicted before 3 December 2012, SI 2012/2906 art.6(a).
Life sentence available where offence does not have life imprisonment as its maximum

[Applying section 224A] could lead in cases that may be rare to the imposition of a life sentence in respect of an offence which does not carry life as a maximum. (Lord Thomas CJ, at [8])

3.2.2.5.3 Duty to impose life sentence unless unjust to do so

CJA 2003 s.224A\(^{364}\) : Life for second listed offence

s.224A(2) - the court must impose a sentence of imprisonment for life or, in the case of a person aged at least 18 but under 21, custody for life under PCC(S)A 2000 s.94 unless the court is of the opinion that there are particular circumstances which:

(a) relate to the offence, to the previous offence referred to in subsection (4) or to the offender, and

(b) would make it unjust to do so in all the circumstances.

3.2.2.5.4 Setting the minimum term

What is a life sentence?

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

L.1 Section 82A of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 empowers a judge when passing a sentence of life imprisonment, where such a sentence is not fixed by law, to specify by order such part of the sentence (‘the relevant part’) as shall be served before the prisoner may require the Secretary of State to refer his case to the Parole Board. This is applicable to defendants under the age of 18 years as well as to adult defendants.

L.2 Thus the life sentence falls into two parts:

(a) the relevant part, which consists of the period of detention imposed for punishment and deterrence, taking into account the seriousness of the offence, and

(b) the remaining part of the sentence, during which the prisoner’s detention will be governed by consideration of risk to the public.

(i) section 240ZA of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (crediting periods of remand in custody);

(ii) section 246 of the Armed Forces Act 2006 (equivalent provision for service courts);

(iii) any direction which the court would have given under section 240A of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (crediting periods of remand on bail subject to certain types of condition); and

(c) the early release provisions as compared with CJA 2003 s.244(1) (duty to release prisoners at half-way point of sentence etc.)

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

L.5 In specifying the relevant part of the sentence, the judge should have regard to the specific terms of section 82A and should indicate the reasons for reaching his decision as to the length of the relevant part.

Note: As to the appropriate length of the minimum term, as a proportion of the notional determinate sentence, see R. v Szczerba [2002] EWCA Crim 440; [2002] 2 Cr. App. R. (S.) 86 (p.387)

Power to impose a “whole life” minimum term

PCC(S)A 2000 s.82A 368. Determination of tariffs

s.82A(4) - if the defendant was aged 21 or over when he committed the offence and the court is of the opinion that, because of the seriousness of the offence or of the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it, no order should be made under PCC(S)A 2000 s.82A(2), the court shall order that, the early release provisions shall not apply

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

L.3 The judge is not obliged by statute to make use of the provisions of section 82A when passing a life sentence. However, the judge should do so, save in the very exceptional case where the judge considers that the offence is so serious that detention for life is justified by the seriousness of the offence alone, irrespective of the risk to the public. In such a case, the judge should state this in open court when passing sentence.

Reduction for guilty plea

Reduction in Sentence for a Guilty Plea Guideline, Sentencing Guidelines Council para.5.1

Where a sentence for a “dangerous offender” is imposed under the provisions in the Criminal Justice Act 2003, whether the sentence requires the calculation of a minimum term or is an extended sentence, the approach will be the same as for any other determinate sentence (see also section G below).
3.2.2.5.5 Interaction with other sentencing orders

Dangerousness provisions

The first question to be considered in all cases where these provisions apply is whether the offender is dangerous. Where s.224A may be relevant there will be a temptation to move straight to a consideration of that provision. That temptation should be resisted. It may lead to the omission of the crucial first question of whether the offender is dangerous.

The order in which a judge should approach sentencing in a case of this type is this:

i) consider the question of dangerousness. If the offender is not dangerous and s.224A does not apply, a determinate sentence should be passed. If the offender is not dangerous and the conditions in s.224A are satisfied then (subject to s.2(a) and (b)), a life sentence must be imposed;

ii) if the offender is dangerous, consider whether the seriousness of the offence and offences associated with it justify a life sentence. Seriousness is to be considered as set out at [22];

iii) if a life sentence is justified then the judge must pass a life sentence in accordance with s.225. If s.224A also applies, the judge should record that fact in open court;

iv) if a life sentence is not justified, then the sentencing judge should consider whether s.224A applies. If it does then (subject to the terms of s.224A) a life sentence must be imposed; and

v) if s.224A does not apply the judge should then consider the provisions of s.226A. Before passing an extended sentence the judge should consider a determinate sentence.

Imprisonment for life

M(ADP)A 1965 s.1 Abolition of death penalty for murder

s.1(1) - no person shall suffer death for murder, and a person convicted of murder shall be sentenced to imprisonment for life.

s.269(4) - if the defendant was 21 or over when he committed the offence and the court is of the opinion that, because of the seriousness of the offence, or of the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it, no order should be made under subsection (2), the court must order that the early release provisions are not to apply to the defendant.

3.2.2.6.3 Giving reasons

s.270(1) - subsection (2) applies where a court makes an order under section 269(2) or (4).

s.270(2) - in complying with the duty under section 174(2) to state its reasons for deciding on the order made, the court must, in particular:
(a) state which of the starting points in Schedule 21 it has chosen and its reasons for doing so, and
(b) state its reasons for any departure from that starting point.

P.1 Having gone through the three or four steps outlined above, the court is then under a duty, under section 270 of the Act, to state in open court, in ordinary language, its reasons for deciding on the minimum term or for passing a whole life order.

P.2 In order to comply with this duty, the court should state clearly the minimum term it has determined. In doing so, it should state which of the starting points it has chosen and its reasons for doing so. Where the court has departed from that starting point due to mitigating or aggravating features, it must state the reasons for that departure and any aggravating or mitigating features which have led to that departure. At that point, the court should also declare how much, if any, time is being deducted for time spent in custody and/or on bail subject to a qualifying curfew condition. The court must then explain that the minimum term is the minimum amount of time the prisoner will spend in prison, from the date of sentence, before the Parole Board can order early release. If it remains necessary for the protection of the public, the prisoner will continue to be detained after that date. The court should also state that where the prisoner has served the minimum term and the Parole Board has decided to direct release, the prisoner will remain on licence for the rest of his life and may be recalled to prison at any time.

P.3 Where the offender was 21 or over when he committed the offence and the court considers that the seriousness of the offence is so exceptionally high that a ‘whole life order’ is appropriate, the court should state clearly its reasons for reaching this conclusion. It should also explain that the early release provisions will not apply.

3.2.2.6.4 Guidance

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

M.1 The purpose of this section is to give practical guidance as to the procedure for passing a mandatory life sentence under section 269 and schedule 21 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (‘the Act’). This direction also gives guidance as to the transitional arrangements under section 276 and schedule 22 of the Act. It clarifies the correct approach to looking at the practice of the Secretary of State prior to December 2002 for the purposes of schedule 22 of the Act, in the light of the judgment in R. v Sullivan, Gibbs, Elener and Elener [2004] EWCA Crim 1762,[2005] 1 Cr. App. R. 3, [2005] 1 Cr. App. R. (S.) 67.

M.2 Section 269 came into force on 18 December 2003. Under section 269, all courts passing a mandatory life sentence must either announce in open court the minimum term the prisoner must serve before the Parole Board can consider release on licence under the provisions of section 28 of the Crime (Sentences) Act 1997 (as amended by section 275 of the Act), or announce that the seriousness of the offence is so exceptionally high that the early release provisions should not apply at all (a ‘whole life order’).

M.3 In setting the minimum term, the court must set the term it considers appropriate taking into account the seriousness of the offence. In considering the seriousness of the offence, the court must have regard to the general principles set out in Schedule 21 of the Act as amended and any guidelines relating to offences in general which are relevant to the case and not incompatible with the provisions of Schedule 21. Although it is necessary to have regard to such guidance, it is always permissible not to apply the guidance if a judge considers there are reasons for not following it. It is always necessary to have regard to the need to do justice in the particular case. However, if a court departs from any of the starting points given in Schedule 21, the court is under a duty to state its reasons for doing so (section 270(2)(b) of the Act).

M.4 Schedule 21 states that the first step is to choose one of five starting points: “whole life”, 30 years, 25 years, 15 years or 12 years. Where the 15 year starting point has been chosen, judges should have in mind that this starting point encompasses a very broad range of murders. At paragraph 35 of Sullivan, the court found it should not be assumed that Parliament intended to raise all minimum terms that would previously have had a lower starting point, to 15 years.
M.5 Where the offender was 21 or over at the time of the offence, and the court takes the view that the murder is so grave that the offender ought to spend the rest of his life in prison, the appropriate starting point is a ‘whole life order’. (paragraph 4(1) of Schedule 21). The effect of such an order is that the early release provisions in section 28 of the Crime (Sentences) Act 1997 will not apply. Such an order should only be specified where the court considers that the seriousness of the offence (or the combination of the offence and one or more other offences associated with it) is exceptionally high. Paragraph 4 (2) sets out examples of cases where it would normally be appropriate to take the ‘whole life order’ as the appropriate starting point.

M.6 Where the offender is aged 18 to 20 and commits a murder that is so serious that it would require a whole life order if committed by an offender aged 21 or over, the appropriate starting point will be 30 years. (Paragraph 5(2)(h) of Schedule 21).

M.7 Where a case is not so serious as to require a ‘whole life order’ but where the seriousness of the offence is particularly high and the offender was aged 18 or over when he committed the offence, the appropriate starting point is 30 years (paragraph 5(1) of Schedule 21). Paragraph 5 (2) sets out examples of cases where a 30 year starting point would normally be appropriate (if they do not require a ‘whole life order’).

M.8 Where the offender was aged 18 or over when he committed the offence, took a knife or other weapon to the scene intending to commit any offence or have it available to use as a weapon, and used it in committing the murder, the offence is normally to be regarded as sufficiently serious for an appropriate starting point of 25 years (paragraph 5A of Schedule 21).

M.9 Where the offender was aged 18 or over when he committed the offence and the case does not fall within paragraph 4 (1), 5 (1) or 5A(1) of Schedule 21, the appropriate starting point is 15 years (see paragraph 6).

M.10 18 to 20 year olds are only the subject of the 30-year, 25-year and 15-year starting points.

M.11 The appropriate starting point when setting a sentence of detention during Her Majesty’s pleasure for offenders aged under 18 when they committed the offence is always 12 years (paragraph 7 of Schedule 21).

M.12 The second step after choosing a starting point is to take account of any aggravating or mitigating factors which would justify a departure from the starting point. Additional aggravating factors (other than those specified in paragraphs 4 (2), 5(2) and 5A) are listed at paragraph 10 of Schedule 21. Examples of mitigating factors are listed at paragraph 11 of Schedule 21. Taking into account the aggravating and mitigating features, the court may add to or subtract from the starting point to arrive at the appropriate punitive period.

M.13 The third step is that the court should consider the effect of section 143(2) of the Act in relation to previous convictions; section 143(3) of the Act where the offence was committed whilst the offender was on bail; and section 144 of the Act where the offender has pleaded guilty (paragraph 12 of Schedule 21). The court should then take into account what credit the offender would have received for a remand in custody under section 240 or 240ZA of the Act and/or for a remand on bail subject to a qualifying curfew condition under section 240A, but for the fact that the mandatory sentence is one of life imprisonment. Where the offender has been thus remanded in connection with the offence or a related offence, the court should have in mind that no credit will otherwise be given for this time when the prisoner is considered for early release. The appropriate time to take it into account is when setting the minimum term. The court should make any appropriate subtraction from the punitive period it would otherwise impose, in order to reach the minimum term.
Following these calculations, the court should have arrived at the appropriate minimum term to be announced in open court. As paragraph 9 of Schedule 21 makes clear, the judge retains ultimate discretion and the court may arrive at any minimum term from any starting point. The minimum term is subject to appeal by the offender under section 271 of the Act and subject to review on a reference by the Attorney-General under section 272 of the Act.

Guidance

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

N.1 Where the court is passing a sentence of mandatory life imprisonment for an offence committed before 18 December 2003, the court should take a fourth step in determining the minimum term in accordance with section 276 and Schedule 22 of the Act.

N.2 The purpose of those provisions is to ensure that the sentence does not breach the principle of non-retroactivity, by ensuring that a lower minimum term would not have been imposed for the offence when it was committed. Before setting the minimum term, the court must check whether the proposed term is greater than that which the Secretary of State would probably have notified under the practice followed by the Secretary of State before December 2002.

⁴¹⁴ Commencement: 18 December 2003, CJA 2003 s.336(2).
N.3 The decision in Sullivan, Gibbs, Elener and Elener [2004] EWCA Crim 1762, [2005] 1 Cr. App. R. 3, [2005] 1 Cr. App. R. (S.) 67 gives detailed guidance as to the correct approach to this practice and judges passing mandatory life sentences where the murder was committed prior to 18 December 2003 are well advised to read that judgment before proceeding.

N.4 The practical result of that judgment is that in sentences where the murder was committed before 31 May 2002, the best guide to what would have been the practice of the Secretary of State is the letter sent to judges by Lord Bingham CJ on 10th February 1997, the relevant parts of which are set out below.

N.5 The practice of Lord Bingham, as set out in his letter of 10 February 1997, was to take 14 years as the period actually to be served for the ‘average’, ‘normal’ or ‘unexceptional’ murder. Examples of factors he outlined as capable, in appropriate cases, of mitigating the normal penalty were:

1. Youth;
2. Age (where relevant to physical capacity on release or the likelihood of the defendant dying in prison);
3. [Intellectual disability or mental disorder];
4. Provocation (in a non-technical sense), or an excessive response to a personal threat;
5. The absence of an intention to kill;
6. Spontaneity and lack of premeditation (beyond that necessary to constitute the offence: e.g. a sudden response to family pressure or to prolonged and eventually insupportable stress);
7. Mercy killing;
8. A plea of guilty, or hard evidence of remorse or contrition.

N.6 Lord Bingham then listed the following factors as likely to call for a sentence more severe than the norm:

1. Evidence of planned, professional, revenge or contract killing;
2. The killing of a child or a very old or otherwise vulnerable victim;
3. Evidence of sadism, gratuitous violence, or sexual maltreatment, humiliation or degradation before the killing;
4. Killing for gain (in the course of burglary, robbery, blackmail, insurance fraud, etc.);
5. Multiple killings;
6. The killing of a witness, or potential witness, to defeat the ends of justice;
7. The killing of those doing their public duty (policemen, prison officers, postmasters, firemen, judges, etc.);
8. Terrorist or politically motivated killings;
9. The use of firearms or other dangerous weapons, whether carried for defensive or offensive reasons;
10. A substantial record of serious violence;
11. Macabre attempts to dismember or conceal the body.
Part 3.2 – Custodial penalties

N.7 Lord Bingham further stated that the fact that a defendant was under the influence of drink or drugs at the time of the killing is so common he would be inclined to treat it as neutral. But in the not unfamiliar case in which a couple, inflamed by drink, indulge in a violent quarrel in which one dies, often against a background of longstanding drunken violence, then he would tend to recommend a term somewhat below the norm.

N.8 Lord Bingham went on to say that given the intent necessary for proof of murder, the consequences of taking life and the understandable reaction of relatives to the deceased, a substantial term will almost always be called for, save perhaps in a truly venial case of mercy killing. While a recommendation of a punitive term longer than, say, 30 years will be very rare indeed, there should not be any upper limit. Some crimes will certainly call for terms very well in excess of the norm.

N.9 For the purposes of sentences where the murder was committed after 31 May 2002 and before 18 December 2003, the judge should apply the Practice Statement handed down on 31 May 2002 reproduced at paragraphs N.10 to N.20 below.

N.10 This Statement replaces the previous single normal tariff of 14 years by substituting a higher and a normal starting point of respectively 16 (comparable to 32 years) and 12 years (comparable to 24 years). These starting points have then to be increased or reduced because of aggravating or mitigating factors such as those referred to below. It is emphasised that they are no more than starting points.

The normal starting point of 12 years

N.11 Cases falling within this starting point will normally involve the killing of an adult victim, arising from a quarrel or loss of temper between two people known to each other. It will not have the characteristics referred to in paragraph N.13. Exceptionally, the starting point may be reduced because of the sort of circumstances described in the next paragraph.

N.12 The normal starting point can be reduced because the murder is one where the offender’s culpability is significantly reduced, for example, because:-

(a) the case came close to the borderline between murder and manslaughter; or
(b) the offender suffered from mental disorder, or from a mental disability which lowered the degree of his criminal responsibility for the killing, although not affording a defence of diminished responsibility; or
(c) the offender was provoked (in a non-technical sense) such as by prolonged and eventually unsupportable stress; or
(d) the case involved an over-reaction in self-defence; or
(e) the offence was a mercy killing.

These factors could justify a reduction to 8/9 years (equivalent to 16/18 years).

The higher starting point of 15/16 years

N.13 The higher starting point will apply to cases where the offender’s culpability was exceptionally high, or the victim was in a particularly vulnerable position. Such cases will be characterised by a feature which makes the crime especially serious, such as:-

(a) the killing was ‘professional’ or a contract killing;
(b) the killing was politically motivated;
(c) the killing was done for gain (in the course of a burglary, robbery etc.);
(d) the killing was intended to defeat the ends of justice (as in the killing of a witness or potential witness);
(e) the victim was providing a public service;
(f) the victim was a child or was otherwise vulnerable;
(g) the killing was racially aggravated;
(h) the victim was deliberately targeted because of his or her religion or sexual orientation;
(i) there was evidence of sadism, gratuitous violence or sexual maltreatment, humiliation or degradation of the victim before the killing;
(j) extensive and/or multiple injuries were inflicted on the victim before death;
(k) the offender committed multiple murders.

Variation of the starting point

N.14 Whichever starting point is selected in a particular case, it may be appropriate for the trial judge to vary the starting point upwards or downwards, to take account of aggravating or mitigating factors, which relate to either the offence or the offender, in the particular case.

N.15 Aggravating factors relating to the offence can include:
(a) the fact that the killing was planned;
(b) the use of a firearm;
(c) arming with a weapon in advance;
(d) concealment of the body, destruction of the crime scene and/or dismemberment of the body;
(e) particularly in domestic violence cases, the fact that the murder was the culmination of cruel and violent behaviour by the offender over a period of time.

N.16 Aggravating factors relating to the offender will include the offender’s previous record and failures to respond to previous sentences, to the extent that this is relevant to culpability rather than to risk.

N.17 Mitigating factors relating to the offence will include:
(a) an intention to cause grievous bodily harm, rather than to kill;
(b) spontaneity and lack of pre-meditation.

N.18 Mitigating factors relating to the offender may include:
(a) the offender’s age;
(b) clear evidence of remorse or contrition;
(c) a timely plea of guilty.

Very serious cases

N.19 A substantial upward adjustment may be appropriate in the most serious cases, for example, those involving a substantial number of murders, or if there are several factors identified as attracting the higher starting point present. In suitable cases, the result might even be a minimum term of 30 years (equivalent to 60 years) which would offer little or no hope of the offender’s eventual release. In cases of exceptional gravity, the judge, rather than setting a whole life minimum term, can state that there is no minimum period which could properly be set in that particular case.
Among the categories of case referred to in paragraph N.13, some offences may be especially grave. These include cases in which the victim was performing his duties as a prison officer at the time of the crime, or the offence was a terrorist or sexual or sadistic murder, or involved a young child. In such a case, a term of 20 years and upwards could be appropriate.

In following this guidance, judges should bear in mind the conclusion of the Court in Sullivan that the general effect of both these statements is the same. While Lord Bingham does not identify as many starting points, it is open to the judge to come to exactly the same decision irrespective of which was followed. Both pieces of guidance give the judge a considerable degree of discretion.

3.2.3. Youths (aged 10-18)

3.2.3.1. General principles

Note: CJA 1982 s.11 remains in force, and amended PA 1952 s.43 as to the location in which young offenders are held etc., however s.43 has since been further amended and so s.11 now appears to serve no purpose. See also CJPOA 1994 ss.17 and 18, which remain in force, having amended other enactments.

Age of offender unclear

CJA 1982 s.1\(^{421}\): General restriction on custodial sentences

s.1(6) - for the purposes of any provision of this Act which requires the determination of the age of a person by the court or the Secretary of State his age shall be deemed to be that which it appears to the court or the Secretary of State (as the case may be) to be after considering any available evidence.

Restriction on imposing imprisonment for those under 21

PCC(S)A 2000 s.89\(^{422}\): Restriction on imposing imprisonment on persons under 21

s.89(1) - subject to s.189(2), no court shall:

(a) pass a sentence of imprisonment on a person for an offence if he is aged under 21 when convicted; or

(b) commit a person aged under 21 to prison for any reason s.89(2) - nothing in s.89(1) prevents the committal to prison of a person aged under 21 who is:

(a) remanded in custody;

(b) committed in custody for sentence; or

(c) sent in custody for trial under CDA 1998 s.51 or 51A

\(^{421}\) Commencement: 24 May 1983, SI 1983/182 art.1(2)

\(^{422}\) Commencement: 25 August 2000, PCC(S)A 2000 s.168(1).
Offender crossed age threshold since offence

…the judge was not under any obligation to pass a sentence which did not exceed the sentence which could lawfully have been passed in the youth court. The judge should however have had regard to the age of the appellant at the date of the offence, and the maximum penalty permissible at that time. It was accepted that the sentencing tribunal should have regard to the defendant’s age at the time of the commission of the offence as a powerful factor in determining sentence, and that matters such as maximum penalties available at that time should be taken into account. The Court had decided in Danga that the form of sentence was dictated by the defendant’s age at the date of conviction. A defendant aged 21 at the date of conviction would be sentenced to imprisonment, rather than detention in a young offender institution even if the offence had been committed before he was 21. That approach had been consistently applied in subsequent cases. The present case illustrated the potential significance of the relevant date for determining the defendant’s age for the purposes of sentence. Since the appellant had passed his 18th birthday before he pleaded guilty, the sentencing powers available to the court permitted the judge to pass a sentence of up to a maximum of 10 years detention in a young offender institution. If he had pleaded guilty when still only 17, the maximum available custodial sentence would have been a detention and training order for a term of 24 months. It had been stated in Danga that the broad conceptual approach to sentencing did not undergo a fundamental change simply because the offender passed his 21st birthday. If all factors were identical, an offender aged 21 years was likely to receive in substance much the same punishment as one who was 20 years and 11 months.

Conversion of detention to imprisonment

PCC(S)A 2000 s.99: Conversion of sentence of detention to sentence of imprisonment

s.99(1) power to convert sentences of detention to imprisonment: subject to the following provisions of PCC(S)A 2000 s.99, where a defendant has been sentenced by a relevant sentence of detention to a term of detention and either:

(b) he has attained the age of 18 and has been reported to the SoS by the independent monitoring board of the institution in which he is detained as exercising a bad influence on the other inmates of the institution or as behaving in a disruptive manner to the detriment of those inmates, the SoS may direct that he shall be treated as if he had been sentenced to imprisonment for the same term s.99(2) - where the SoS gives a direction under PCC(S)A 2000 s.99(1) in relation to a defendant, the portion of the term of detention imposed under the relevant sentence of detention which he has already served shall be deemed to have been a portion of a term of imprisonment

s.99(3A) - where the SoS gives a direction under PCC(S)A 2000 s.99(1) in relation to a defendant serving an extended sentence of detention imposed under CJA 2003:

(a) if the sentence was imposed under s.226B, the defendant shall be treated as if he had been sentenced under s.226A …

3.2.3.2.5 Interaction with other sentencing orders

Detention under s.91

It is undesirable that sentences of detention under s.91 and youth custody should be passed to run either consecutively or concurrently with each other. It is not, however, always possible to avoid this. The only way out of the problem in general may be to impose no separate penalty for the offences or which detention under s.91 is not available. Although that solution is not altogether satisfactory, it provides fewer difficulties than any other possible method. (Lord Lane CJ, at p. 350)

Detention in Young Offender Institution

PCC(S)A 2000 s.106: Interaction with sentences of detention in a young offender institution s.106(1) - where a court passes a sentence of detention in a young offender institution in the case of an offender who is subject to a detention and training order, the sentence shall take effect as follows:

(a) if the offender has been released by virtue of s.102(2)-(5), at the beginning of the day on which it is passed;

(b) if not, either as mentioned in paragraph (a) above or, if the court so orders, at the time when the offender would otherwise be released by virtue of subsection (2), (3), (4) or (5) of section 102.

s.106(4) - subject to subsection (5) below, where at any time an offender is subject concurrently:

(a) to a detention and training order, and

(b) to a sentence of detention in a young offender institution, he shall be treated for the purposes of sections 102 to 105 and of section 98 (place of detention), PCC(S)A 2000 Part 5 Chapter IV of this Part (return to detention) and Chapter 6 of Part 12 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (release, licences, supervision and recall) as if he were subject only to the one of them that was imposed on the later occasion.

s.106(5) - nothing in subsection (4) above shall require the offender to be released in respect of either the order or the sentence unless and until he is required to be released in respect of each of them.

Existing DTOs

PCC(S)A 2000 s.101: Term of order, consecutive terms and taking account of remands

s.101(7) - where a detention and training order (“the new order”) is made in respect of an offender who is subject to a detention and training order under which the period of

supervision has begun ("the old order"), the old order shall be disregarded in determining—

(a) for the purposes of subsection (4) above whether the effect of the new order would be that the offender would be subject to detention and training orders for a term which exceeds 24 months; and

(b) for the purposes of subsection (5) above whether the term of the detention and training orders to which the offender would (apart from that subsection) be subject exceeds 24 months.

Hospital and Guardianship Orders

s.104(3C) - a court may order a period of detention or supervision, or impose a fine, under subsection (3) above before or after the end of the term of the detention and training order.

3.2.3.3.1.2 Interaction with other sentencing orders

DTO/Detention in YOI

It is undesirable that sentences of [detention under s.91] and youth custody should be passed to run either consecutively or concurrently with each other. It is not, however, always possible to avoid this. The only way out of the problem in general may be to impose no separate penalty for the offences or which [detention under s.91] is not available. Although that solution is not altogether satisfactory, it provides fewer difficulties than any other possible method. (Lord Lane CJ, at p. 350)

s.226B(1) - this section applies where:

(a) a person aged under 18 is convicted of a specified offence (whether the offence was committed before or after this section comes into force),

(b) the court considers that there is a significant risk to members of the public of serious harm occasioned by the commission by the offender of further specified offences,

(c) the court is not required by section 226(2) to impose a sentence of detention for life under section 91 of the Sentencing Act, and

(d) if the court were to impose an extended sentence of detention, the term that it would specify as the appropriate custodial term would be at least 4 years.

s.226B(2) - the court may impose an extended sentence of detention on the offender.

Note: As to the requirement that the custodial term be at least four years, see R. v Pinnell [2010] EWCA Crim 2848; [2011] 2 Cr. App. R. (S.) 30 (p.168): the headnote to which reads, in part:

... although by section 227(2B) of the 2003 Act, as inserted, the appropriate custodial term in relation to each extended sentence had to be at least four years and separate consecutive sentences, each shorter than four years, could not be extended even if their total was more than four years, by section 153 of the Act the court in fixing the custodial term of an extended sentence under section 227 could aggregate with a specified offence non-specified associated offences, to consider the totality of offending, and so pass an extended sentence for the specified offence with a custodial term longer than that offence alone would justify, provided that the custodial and the extension term did not in aggregate exceed the maximum term permitted for that offence

Where a sentence for a “dangerous offender” is imposed under the provisions in the Criminal Justice Act 2003, whether the sentence requires the calculation of a minimum term or is an extended sentence, the approach will be the same as for any other determinate sentence (see also section G below).

Consecutive sentences

Note: It is permissible to impose consecutive extended sentences but it is desirable to not do so, see e.g. R. v Lang [2005] EWCA Crim 2864; [2006] 2 Cr. App. R. (S.) 3 (p.13)

Judge should give reasons for imposing an extended sentence

In accordance with CJA 2003 s.174, sentencers should usually give reasons for all their conclusions, in particular a finding of dangerousness. Such an explanation should briefly identify the information which has been taken into account.

CJA 2003 s.174: Duty to give reasons for and to explain effect of sentence s.174(1) - a court passing sentence on an offender has the duties in subsections (2) […]

s.174(2) - the court must state in open court, in ordinary language and in general terms, the court’s reasons for deciding on the sentence

3.2.3.4.4 Offences committed before 5 April 2005 etc.

Offences which have been abolished/were committed prior to 5 April 2005

CJA 2003 s.226B: Extended sentence for certain violent or sexual offences: under 18

s.226B(8) - in subsections (1)(a) and (6), references to a specified offence, a specified violent offence and a specified sexual offence include an offence that:

(a) was abolished before 4 April 2005, and

(b) would have constituted such an offence if committed on the day on which the offender was convicted of the offence.

s.226B(9) - where the offence mentioned in subsection (1)(a) was committed before 4 April 2005:

(a) subsection (1) has effect as if paragraph (c) were omitted, and

(b) subsection (4) has effect as if the words “in compliance with section 153(2)” were omitted.

3.2.3.4.5 Appeals

Fresh evidence

CJA 2003 s.229: The assessment of dangerousness

s.229(1) - application of section: where:
(a) a person has been convicted of a specified offence, and
(b) it falls to a court to assess under any of sections 225 to 228 whether there is a significant risk to members of the public of serious harm occasioned by the commission by him of further such offences

s.229(2) - duty/discretion when assessing significant risk: the court:
(a) must take into account all such information as is available to it about the nature and circumstances of the offence,
(aa) may take into account all such information as is available to it about the nature and circumstances of any other offences of which the defendant has been convicted by a court anywhere in the world,
(b) may take into account any information which is before it about any pattern of behaviour of which any of the offences mentioned in paragraph (a) or (aa) forms part, and
(c) may take into account any information about the defendant which is before it.

CAA 1968 s.23: Evidence

s.23(1) - the Court of Appeal may, if they think it necessary or expedient in the interests of justice:
(a) order the production of any document, exhibit or other thing connected with the proceedings, the production of which appears to them necessary for the determination of the case;
(b) order any witness to attend for examination and be examined before the Court (whether or not he was called in the proceedings from which the appeal lies); and
(c) receive any evidence which was not adduced in the proceedings from which the appeal lies

s.23(1A) - [supplementary to s.23(1)(a)]

s.23(2) - the Court of Appeal shall, in considering whether to receive any evidence, have regard in particular to:
(a) whether the evidence appears to the Court to be capable of belief;
(b) whether it appears to the Court that the evidence may afford any ground for allowing the appeal;
(c) whether the evidence would have been admissible in the proceedings from which the appeal lies on an issue which is the subject of the appeal; and

whether there is a reasonable explanation for the failure to adduce the evidence in those proceedings

As the provisions in relation to dangerousness require the court to take into account all information and in the light of the practice set out in R. v Roberts [2006] EWCA Crim 2915; [2007] 1 W.L.R. 1109, s.23 [CAA 1968] does not constrain the Court of Appeal from receiving further information about the offender where it is right to do so. 3.2.3.4.6 Certificates of conviction

s.232A - where:

(a) after the commencement of CJA 2003 Sch.15B a person is convicted in England and Wales of an offence listed in that Schedule, and

(b) the court by or before which the person is so convicted states in open court that the person has been convicted of such an offence on that date, and

(c) that court subsequently certifies that fact, that certificate is evidence, for the purposes of CJA 2003 s.224A, that the person was convicted of such an offence on that date

3.2.3.4.7 Interaction with other sentencing orders

Dangerousness provisions

The first question to be considered in all cases where these provisions apply is whether the offender is dangerous. Where s.224A may be relevant there will be a temptation to move straight to a consideration of that provision. That temptation should be resisted. It may lead to the omission of the crucial first question of whether the offender is dangerous.

The order in which a judge should approach sentencing in a case of this type is this:

i) consider the question of dangerousness. If the offender is not dangerous and s.224A does not apply, a determinate sentence should be passed. If the offender is not dangerous and the conditions in s.224A are satisfied then (subject to s.2(a) and (b)), a life sentence must be imposed;

ii) if the offender is dangerous, consider whether the seriousness of the offence and offences associated with it justify a life sentence. Seriousness is to be considered as set out at [22];

iii) if a life sentence is justified then the judge must pass a life sentence in accordance with s.225. If s.224A also applies, the judge should record that fact in open court;

iv) if a life sentence is not justified, then the sentencing judge should consider whether s.224A applies. If it does then (subject to the terms of s.224A) a life sentence must be imposed; and

470 Commencement: 3 December 2012, as inserted by LASPOA 2012 Sch.19 para.21
Part 3.2 – Custodial penalties

v) if s.224A does not apply the judge should then consider the provisions of s.226A. Before passing an extended sentence the judge should consider a determinate sentence.

3.2.3.5. Detention for life (discretionary under CJA 2003)

3.2.3.5.1 General

Interpretation

CJA 2003 s.226471: Detention for life for serious offences committed by those under 18

s.226(5) - an offence the sentence for which is imposed under this section is not to be regarded as an offence the sentence for which is fixed by law.

Note: The title to section 226 states it applies to offenders who committed offences when they were aged 18, however the section reveals that it is the age at date of conviction which determines whether or not the section applies. Therefore, an offence committed by a 17-year-old who was convicted of the offence aged 18, section 225 would apply, not 226.

Place of detention

CJA 2003 s.235472: Detention under sections 226, 226B and 228

s.235 - a person sentenced to be detained under section 226, 226B or 228 is liable to be detained in such place, and under such conditions, as may be determined by the Secretary of State or by such other person as may be authorised by him for the purpose.

3.2.3.5.2 Availability and test to apply

Availability

CJA 2003 s.226473: Detention for life for serious offences committed by those under 18

s.226(1) - this section applies where:

(a) a person aged under 18 is convicted of a serious offence committed after the commencement of this section, and

s.226(2) - if:
   (a) the offence is one in respect of which the offender would apart from this section be liable to a sentence of detention for life under PCC(S)A 2000 s.91, and

3.2.3.5.4 Guidance

[...] [T]aking into account the law prior to the coming into force of the CJA 2003 and the whole of the new statutory provisions, the question in s.225(2)(b) as to whether the seriousness of the offence (or of the offence and one or more offences associated with it) is such as to justify a life sentence requires consideration of:

i) The seriousness of the offence itself, on its own or with other offences associated with it in accordance with the provisions of CJA 2003 s.143(1). This is always a matter for the judgment of the court.

ii) The defendant’s previous convictions (in accordance with CJA 2003 s.143(2)).

iii) The level of danger to the public posed by the defendant and whether there is a reliable estimate of the length of time he will remain a danger.

iv) The available alternative sentences.

It is inevitable that the application of s.225 in its current form will lead to the imposition of life sentences in circumstances where previously the sentence would have been one of IPP. It is what Parliament intended and also ensures (as Parliament also intended), so far as is possible, the effective protection of the public.

(Lord Thomas CJ at [22]-[23])

Note: It is important to remember that the comments above were in the context of the adult form of life sentence and different considerations may apply.

3.2.3.5.5 Setting the minimum term

What is a life sentence?

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

L.1 Section 82A of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 empowers a judge when passing a sentence of life imprisonment, where such a sentence is not fixed by law, to specify by order such part of the sentence (‘the relevant part’) as shall be served before the prisoner may require the Secretary of State to refer his case to the Parole Board. This is applicable to defendants under the age of 18 years as well as to adult defendants.
Thus the life sentence falls into two parts:

(a) the relevant part, which consists of the period of detention imposed for punishment and deterrence, taking into account the seriousness of the offence, and

(b) the remaining part of the sentence, during which the prisoner’s detention will be governed by consideration of risk to the public.

Definitions

PCC(S)A 2000 s.82A

s.82A(7) - definitions for s.82A:

“court” includes the Court Martial;

s.82A(8) - [provision dealing with service courts]

C(S)A 1997 s.34

s.34(1) - in this Chapter “life prisoner” means a person serving one or more life sentences and includes a transferred life prisoner as defined by section 273 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003.

s.34(2) - in this section “life sentence” means any of the following imposed for an offence, whether committed before or after the commencement of this Chapter, namely—

(a) a sentence of imprisonment for life;

(b) a sentence of detention during Her Majesty’s pleasure or for life under section 90 or 91 of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000; and

(c) a sentence of custody for life under section 93 or 94 of that Act.

(d) a sentence of imprisonment or detention in a young offender institution for public protection under section 225 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (including one passed as a result of section 219 of the Armed Forces Act 2006),

(e) a sentence of detention for public protection under section 226 of that Act (including one passed as a result of section 221 of the Armed Forces Act 2006);

_Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing_

L.4 In cases where the judge is to specify the relevant part of the sentence under section 82A, the judge should permit the advocate for the defendant to address the court as to the appropriate length of the relevant part. (a) the seriousness of the offence, or of the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it;

(b) the effect that the following would have if the court had sentenced the offender to a term of imprisonment—

(i) section 240ZA of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (crediting periods of remand in custody);

(ii) section 246 of the Armed Forces Act 2006 (equivalent provision for service courts);

(iii) any direction which the court would have given under section 240A of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (crediting periods of remand on bail subject to certain types of condition); and

(c) the early release provisions as compared with CJA 2003 s.244(1) (duty to release prisoners at half-way point of sentence etc.)

L.5 In specifying the relevant part of the sentence, the judge should have regard to the specific terms of section 82A and should indicate the reasons for reaching his decision as to the length of the relevant part.

Part 3.2 – Custodial penalties

Note: As to the appropriate length of the minimum term, as a proportion of the notional determinate sentence, see R. v Szczerba [2002] EWCA Crim 440; [2002] 2 Cr. App. R. (S.) 86 (p.387). The headnote to which reads:

half the notional determinate sentence should be taken, less time spent in custody on a remand, as the period specified to be served. If a judge specified a higher proportion than one half, he should always state his reasons for so doing.

No power to impose a “whole life” minimum term

s.82A(4) - if the defendant was aged 21 or over when he committed the offence and the court is of the opinion that, because of the seriousness of the offence or of the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it, no order should be made under PCC(S)A 2000 s.82A(2), the court shall order that, the early release provisions shall not apply

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

L.3 The judge is not obliged by statute to make use of the provisions of section 82A when passing a life sentence. However, the judge should do so, save in the very exceptional case where the judge considers that the offence is so serious that detention for life is justified by the seriousness of the offence alone, irrespective of the risk to the public. In such a case, the judge should state this in open court when passing sentence.

Reduction for guilty plea

Reduction in Sentence for a Guilty Plea Guideline, Sentencing Guidelines Council para.5.1

Where a sentence for a “dangerous offender” is imposed under the provisions in the Criminal Justice Act 2003, whether the sentence requires the calculation of a minimum term or is an extended sentence, the approach will be the same as for any other determinate sentence (see also section G below).

3.2.3.5.6 Interaction with other sentencing orders

Dangerousness provisions

The first question to be considered in all cases where these provisions apply is whether the offender is dangerous. Where s.224A may be relevant there will be a temptation to move straight to a consideration of that provision. That temptation should be resisted. It may lead to the omission of the crucial first question of whether the offender is dangerous.

The order in which a judge should approach sentencing in a case of this type is this:

i) consider the question of dangerousness. If the offender is not dangerous and s.224A does not apply, a determinate sentence should be passed. If the offender is not dangerous and the conditions in s.224A are satisfied then (subject to s.2(a) and (b)), a life sentence must be imposed;

481 Commencement: 30 November 2000, as inserted by CJCSA 2000 s.60(1), CJCSA 2000 s.80. The section was amended on 18 December 2003 by CJA 2003 Sch.32 para.109 to bring it in line with the regime for life sentences under s.225 and 226, CJA 2003 s.336(2).
Law Commission: Sentencing law in England and Wales – Legislation currently in force

ii) if the offender is dangerous, consider whether the seriousness of the offence and the offences associated with it justify a life sentence. Seriousness is to be considered as set out at [22];

iii) if a life sentence is justified then the judge must pass a life sentence in accordance with s.225. If s.224A also applies, the judge should record that fact in open court;

iv) if a life sentence is not justified, then the sentencing judge should consider whether s.224A applies. If it does then (subject to the terms of s.224A) a life sentence must be imposed; and

v) if s.224A does not apply the judge should then consider the provisions of s.226A. Before passing an extended sentence the judge should consider a determinate sentence.

Note: It is important to remember that the comments of the court were in the context of adult offenders.

DTO/Detention in YOI

It is undesirable that sentences of detention under s.91 and youth custody should be passed to run either consecutively or concurrently with each other. It is not, however, always possible to avoid this. The only way out of the problem in general may be to impose no separate penalty for the offences or which detention under s.91] is not available. Although that solution is not altogether satisfactory, it provides fewer difficulties than any other possible method. (Lord Lane CJ, at p. 350)

Hospital and Guardianship Orders

MHA 1983 s.37: Powers of courts to order hospital admission or guardianship

s.37(8) - where an order is made under s.37, the court shall not pass [...] a sentence of imprisonment [...] and for the purposes of this subsection “sentence of imprisonment” includes any sentence or order for detention.

Sexual Offences Prevention Orders

The court did not say that no SOPO will ever be appropriate in the case of an indefinite sentence, but the court had not on the material before it been able to envisage an instance when it would. The usual rule ought to be that an indeterminate sentence needs no SOPO, at least unless there was some very unusual feature which means that such an order could add something useful and did not run the risk of undesirably tying the hands of the offender managers later.483

R. v MI [2012] EWCA Crim 1792

As a result of Smith it will be rare for a SOPO to be made simultaneously with an indeterminate custodial sentence. Rare, of course, does not mean never. In general, however, SOPOs should not be ordered when a defendant is sentenced to imprisonment for public protection. (Lord Judge CJ, at [2])

3.2.3.6. Detention for life (discretionary under common law)

3.2.3.6.1 The existence of the power

[...] Neither the 2003 Act, nor LASPOA 2012, imposed any limit on the power of the court to impose a sentence of life imprisonment in cases where a sentence of life imprisonment may be imposed but the case does not fall within either the statutory life sentence (CJA 2003 s.224A) or the discretionary life sentence (CJA 2003 s.225). Some of these offences may involve a significant risk of serious harm to the public, but are not included within the list of “specified” offences in the dangerousness provisions in the 2003 Act. One obvious example is the offender who commits repeated offences of very serious drug supplying which justifies the imposition of the life sentence. In circumstances like these the court is not obliged to impose the sentence in accordance with s.225(2), but its discretion to do so is unaffected.

In reality, the occasions when this second form of discretionary life sentence is likely to be imposed will be rare, and no inconvenience has yet resulted from applying the description “discretionary” to both forms of sentence. (Lord Chief Justice, at [11] – [12])

Setting the minimum term

Application of section

CJA 2003 s.269[^486^]: Determination of minimum term in relation to mandatory life sentence

s.269(1) - this section applies where after the commencement of this section a court passes a life sentence in circumstances where the sentence is fixed by law.

Duty to set minimum term or impose whole life order

CJA 2003 s.269[^487^]: Determination of minimum term in relation to mandatory life sentence

s.269(4) - if the defendant was 21 or over when he committed the offence and the court is of the opinion that, because of the seriousness of the offence, or of the combination of the offence and one or more offences associated with it, no order should be made under subsection (2), the court must order that the early release provisions are not to apply to the defendant.

3.2.3.7.3 Giving reasons

CJA 2003 s.270\(^{499}\): Duty to give reasons

s.270(1) - subsection (2) applies where a court makes an order under section 269(2) or (4).

s.270(2) - in complying with the duty under section 174(2) to state its reasons for deciding on the order made, the court must, in particular:

(a) state which of the starting points in Schedule 21 it has chosen and its reasons for doing so, and

(b) state its reasons for any departure from that starting point.

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

P.1 Having gone through the three or four steps outlined above, the court is then under a duty, under section 270 of the Act, to state in open court, in ordinary language, its reasons for deciding on the minimum term or for passing a whole life order.

P.2 In order to comply with this duty, the court should state clearly the minimum term it has determined. In doing so, it should state which of the starting points it has chosen and its reasons for doing so. Where the court has departed from that starting point due to mitigating or aggravating features, it must state the reasons for that departure and any aggravating or mitigating features which have led to that departure. At that point, the court should also declare how much, if any, time is being deducted for time spent in custody and/or on bail subject to a qualifying curfew condition. The court must then explain that the minimum term is the minimum amount of time the prisoner will spend in prison, from the date of sentence, before the Parole Board can order early release. If it remains necessary for the protection of the public, the prisoner will continue to be detained after that date. The court should also state that where the prisoner has served the minimum term and the Parole Board has decided to direct release, the prisoner will remain on licence for the rest of his life and may be recalled to prison at any time.

P.3 Where the offender was 21 or over when he committed the offence and the court considers that the seriousness of the offence is so exceptionally high that a ‘whole life order’ is appropriate, the court should state clearly its reasons for reaching this conclusion. It should also explain that the early release provisions will not apply.

3.2.3.7.4 Guidance

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

M.1 The purpose of this section is to give practical guidance as to the procedure for passing a mandatory life sentence under section 269 and schedule 21 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (‘the Act’). This direction also gives guidance as to the transitional arrangements under section 276 and schedule 22 of the Act. It clarifies the correct approach to looking at the practice of the Secretary of State prior to December 2002 for the purposes of schedule 22 of the Act, in the light of the judgment in R. v Sullivan,

M.2 Section 269 came into force on 18 December 2003. Under section 269, all courts passing a mandatory life sentence must either announce in open court the minimum term the prisoner must serve before the Parole Board can consider release on licence under the provisions of section 28 of the Crime (Sentences) Act 1997 (as amended by section 275 of the Act), or announce that the seriousness of the offence is so exceptionally high that the early release provisions should not apply at all (a ‘whole life order’).

M.3 In setting the minimum term, the court must set the term it considers appropriate taking into account the seriousness of the offence. In considering the seriousness of the offence, the court must have regard to the general principles set out in Schedule 21 of the Act as amended and any guidelines relating to offences in general which are relevant to the case and not incompatible with the provisions of Schedule 21. Although it is necessary to have regard to such guidance, it is always permissible not to apply the guidance if a judge considers there are reasons for not following it. It is always necessary to have regard to the need to do justice in the particular case. However, if a court departs from any of the starting points given in Schedule 21, the court is under a duty to state its reasons for doing so (section 270(2)(b) of the Act).

M.4 Schedule 21 states that the first step is to choose one of five starting points: “whole life”, 30 years, 25 years, 15 years or 12 years. Where the 15 year starting point has been chosen, judges should have in mind that this starting point encompasses a very broad range of murders. At paragraph 35 of Sullivan, the court found it should not be assumed that Parliament intended to raise all minimum terms that would previously have had a lower starting point, to 15 years.

M.5 Where the offender was 21 or over at the time of the offence, and the court takes the view that the murder is so grave that the offender ought to spend the rest of his life in prison, the appropriate starting point is a ‘whole life order’. (paragraph 4(1) of Schedule 21). The effect of such an order is that the early release provisions in section 28 of the Crime (Sentences) Act 1997 will not apply. Such an order should only be specified where the court considers that the seriousness of the offence (or the combination of the offence and one or more other offences associated with it) is exceptionally high. Paragraph 4 (2) sets out examples of cases where it would normally be appropriate to take the ‘whole life order’ as the appropriate starting point.

M.6 Where the offender is aged 18 to 20 and commits a murder that is so serious that it would require a whole life order if committed by an offender aged 21 or over, the appropriate starting point will be 30 years. (Paragraph 5(2)(h) of Schedule 21).

M.7 Where a case is not so serious as to require a ‘whole life order’ but where the seriousness of the offence is particularly high and the offender was aged 18 or over when he committed the offence, the appropriate starting point is 30 years (paragraph 5(1) of Schedule 21). Paragraph 5 (2) sets out examples of cases where a 30 year starting point would normally be appropriate (if they do not require a ‘whole life order’).

M.8 Where the offender was aged 18 or over when he committed the offence, took a knife or other weapon to the scene intending to commit any offence or have it available to use as a weapon, and used it in committing the murder, the offence is normally to be regarded as sufficiently serious for an appropriate starting point of 25 years (paragraph 5A of Schedule 21).

M.9 Where the offender was aged 18 or over when he committed the offence and the case does not fall within paragraph 4 (1), 5 (1) or 5A(1) of Schedule 21, the appropriate starting point is 15 years (see paragraph 6).
M.10 18 to 20 year olds are only the subject of the 30-year, 25-year and 15-year starting points.

M.11 The appropriate starting point when setting a sentence of detention during Her Majesty’s pleasure for offenders aged under 18 when they committed the offence is always 12 years (paragraph 7 of Schedule 21).

M.12 The second step after choosing a starting point is to take account of any aggravating or mitigating factors which would justify a departure from the starting point. Additional aggravating factors (other than those specified in paragraphs 4 (2), 5(2) and 5A) are listed at paragraph 10 of Schedule 21. Examples of mitigating factors are listed at paragraph 11 of Schedule 21. Taking into account the aggravating and mitigating features, the court may add to or subtract from the starting point to arrive at the appropriate punitive period.

M.13 The third step is that the court should consider the effect of section 143(2) of the Act in relation to previous convictions; section 143(3) of the Act where the offence was committed whilst the offender was on bail; and section 144 of the Act where the offender has pleaded guilty (paragraph 12 of Schedule 21). The court should then take into account what credit the offender would have received for a remand in custody under section 240 or 240ZA of the Act and/or for a remand on bail subject to a qualifying curfew condition under section 240A, but for the fact that the mandatory sentence is one of life imprisonment. Where the offender has been thus remanded in connection with the offence or a related offence, the court should have in mind that no credit will otherwise be given for this time when the prisoner is considered for early release. The appropriate time to take it into account is when setting the minimum term. The court should make any appropriate subtraction from the punitive period it would otherwise impose, in order to reach the minimum term.

M.14 Following these calculations, the court should have arrived at the appropriate minimum term to be announced in open court. As paragraph 9 of Schedule 21 makes clear, the judge retains ultimate discretion and the court may arrive at any minimum term from any starting point. The minimum term is subject to appeal by the offender under section 271 of the Act and subject to review on a reference by the Attorney-General under section 272 of the Act.

(c) the length of the notified minimum term or, where a notification falling within paragraph 2(b) has been given to the prisoner, to the fact that such a notification has been given.

Guidance

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

N.1 Where the court is passing a sentence of mandatory life imprisonment for an offence committed before 18 December 2003, the court should take a fourth step in determining the minimum term in accordance with section 276 and Schedule 22 of the Act.

N.2 The purpose of those provisions is to ensure that the sentence does not breach the principle of non-retroactivity, by ensuring that a lower minimum term would not have been imposed for the offence when it was committed. Before setting the minimum term, the court must check whether the proposed term is greater than that which the Secretary of State would probably have notified under the practice followed by the Secretary of State before December 2002.

N.3 The decision in Sullivan, Gibbs, Elener and Elener [2004] EWCA Crim 1762, [2005] 1 Cr. App. R. 3, [2005] 1 Cr. App. R. (S.) 67 gives detailed guidance as to the correct approach to this practice and judges passing mandatory life sentences where the murder was committed prior to 18 December 2003 are well advised to read that judgment before proceeding.

N.4 The practical result of that judgment is that in sentences where the murder was committed before 31 May 2002, the best guide to what would have been the practice of the Secretary of State is the letter sent to judges by Lord Bingham CJ on 10th February 1997, the relevant parts of which are set out below.

N.5 The practice of Lord Bingham, as set out in his letter of 10 February 1997, was to take 14 years as the period actually to be served for the ‘average’, ‘normal’ or

527 Commencement: 18 December 2003, CJA 2003 s.336(2).
528 Commencement: 18 December 2003, CJA 2003 s.336(2).
'unexceptional' murder. Examples of factors he outlined as capable, in appropriate cases, of mitigating the normal penalty were:

(1) Youth;
(2) Age (where relevant to physical capacity on release or the likelihood of the defendant dying in prison);
(3) [Intellectual disability or mental disorder];
(4) Provocation (in a non-technical sense), or an excessive response to a personal threat;
(5) The absence of an intention to kill;
(6) Spontaneity and lack of premeditation (beyond that necessary to constitute the offence: e.g. a sudden response to family pressure or to prolonged and eventually insupportable stress);
(7) Mercy killing;
(8) A plea of guilty, or hard evidence of remorse or contrition.

Lord Bingham then listed the following factors as likely to call for a sentence more severe than the norm:

(1) Evidence of planned, professional, revenge or contract killing;
(2) The killing of a child or a very old or otherwise vulnerable victim;
(3) Evidence of sadism, gratuitous violence, or sexual maltreatment, humiliation or degradation before the killing;
(4) Killing for gain (in the course of burglary, robbery, blackmail, insurance fraud, etc.);
(5) Multiple killings;
(6) The killing of a witness, or potential witness, to defeat the ends of justice;
(7) The killing of those doing their public duty (policemen, prison officers, postmasters, firemen, judges, etc.);
(8) Terrorist or politically motivated killings;
(9) The use of firearms or other dangerous weapons, whether carried for defensive or offensive reasons;
(10) A substantial record of serious violence;
(11) Macabre attempts to dismember or conceal the body.

Lord Bingham further stated that the fact that a defendant was under the influence of drink or drugs at the time of the killing is so common he would be inclined to treat it as neutral. But in the not unfamiliar case in which a couple, inflamed by drink, indulge in a violent quarrel in which one dies, often against a background of longstanding drunken violence, then he would tend to recommend a term somewhat below the norm.

Lord Bingham went on to say that given the intent necessary for proof of murder, the consequences of taking life and the understandable reaction of relatives to the deceased, a substantial term will almost always be called for, save perhaps in a truly venial case of mercy killing. While a recommendation of a punitive term longer than, say, 30 years will be very rare indeed, there should not be any upper limit. Some crimes will certainly call for terms very well in excess of the norm.
For the purposes of sentences where the murder was committed after 31 May 2002 and before 18 December 2003, the judge should apply the Practice Statement handed down on 31 May 2002 reproduced at paragraphs N.10 to N.20 below.

This Statement replaces the previous single normal tariff of 14 years by substituting a higher and a normal starting point of respectively 16 (comparable to 32 years) and 12 years (comparable to 24 years). These starting points have then to be increased or reduced because of aggravating or mitigating factors such as those referred to below. It is emphasised that they are no more than starting points.

The normal starting point of 12 years

Cases falling within this starting point will normally involve the killing of an adult victim, arising from a quarrel or loss of temper between two people known to each other. It will not have the characteristics referred to in paragraph N.13. Exceptionally, the starting point may be reduced because of the sort of circumstances described in the next paragraph.

The normal starting point can be reduced because the murder is one where the offender’s culpability is significantly reduced, for example, because:-

(a) the case came close to the borderline between murder and manslaughter; or

(b) the offender suffered from mental disorder, or from a mental disability which lowered the degree of his criminal responsibility for the killing, although not affording a defence of diminished responsibility; or

(c) the offender was provoked (in a non-technical sense) such as by prolonged and eventually unsupportable stress; or

(d) the case involved an over-reaction in self-defence; or

(e) the offence was a mercy killing.

These factors could justify a reduction to 8/9 years (equivalent to 16/18 years).

The higher starting point of 15/16 years

The higher starting point will apply to cases where the offender’s culpability was exceptionally high, or the victim was in a particularly vulnerable position. Such cases will be characterised by a feature which makes the crime especially serious, such as:

(a) the killing was ‘professional’ or a contract killing;

(b) the killing was politically motivated;

(c) the killing was done for gain (in the course of a burglary, robbery etc.);

(d) the killing was intended to defeat the ends of justice (as in the killing of a witness or potential witness);

(e) the victim was providing a public service;

(f) the victim was a child or was otherwise vulnerable;

(g) the killing was racially aggravated;

(h) the victim was deliberately targeted because of his or her religion or sexual orientation;

(i) there was evidence of sadism, gratuitous violence or sexual maltreatment, humiliation or degradation of the victim before the killing;

(j) extensive and/or multiple injuries were inflicted on the victim before death;

(k) the offender committed multiple murders.
Variation of the starting point

N.14 Whichever starting point is selected in a particular case, it may be appropriate for the trial judge to vary the starting point upwards or downwards, to take account of aggravating or mitigating factors, which relate to either the offence or the offender, in the particular case.

N.15 Aggravating factors relating to the offence can include:
(a) the fact that the killing was planned;
(b) the use of a firearm;
(c) arming with a weapon in advance;
(d) concealment of the body, destruction of the crime scene and/or dismemberment of the body;
(e) particularly in domestic violence cases, the fact that the murder was the culmination of cruel and violent behaviour by the offender over a period of time.

N.16 Aggravating factors relating to the offender will include the offender's previous record and failures to respond to previous sentences, to the extent that this is relevant to culpability rather than to risk.

N.17 Mitigating factors relating to the offence will include:
(a) an intention to cause grievous bodily harm, rather than to kill;
(b) spontaneity and lack of pre-meditation.

N.18 Mitigating factors relating to the offender may include:
(a) the offender's age;
(b) clear evidence of remorse or contrition;
(c) a timely plea of guilty.

Very serious cases

N.19 A substantial upward adjustment may be appropriate in the most serious cases, for example, those involving a substantial number of murders, or if there are several factors identified as attracting the higher starting point present. In suitable cases, the result might even be a minimum term of 30 years (equivalent to 60 years) which would offer little or no hope of the offender's eventual release. In cases of exceptional gravity, the judge, rather than setting a whole life minimum term, can state that there is no minimum period which could properly be set in that particular case.

N.20 Among the categories of case referred to in paragraph N.13, some offences may be especially grave. These include cases in which the victim was performing his duties as a prison officer at the time of the crime, or the offence was a terrorist or sexual or sadistic murder, or involved a young child. In such a case, a term of 20 years and upwards could be appropriate.

N.21 In following this guidance, judges should bear in mind the conclusion of the Court in Sullivan that the general effect of both these statements is the same. While Lord Bingham does not identify as many starting points, it is open to the judge to come to exactly the same decision irrespective of which was followed. Both pieces of guidance give the judge a considerable degree of discretion.

(vi) that the respondent may take legal advice; and

(b) allow the respondent a reasonable opportunity to reflect, take advice, explain and, if he or she so wishes, apologise.

rule.48.5(3) The court may then—

(a) take no further action in respect of that conduct;

(b) enquire into the conduct there and then; or

(c) postpone that enquiry (if a magistrates’ court, only until later the same day).

Note. The conduct to which this rule applies is sometimes described as ‘criminal’ contempt of court.

By reason of sections 15 and 45 of the Senior Courts Act 1981, the Court of Appeal and the Crown Court each has an inherent power to imprison (for a maximum of 2 years), or fine (to an unlimited amount), or both, a respondent for contempt of court for the conduct listed in paragraph (1)(a), (b), (d) or (e). See also section 14 of the Contempt of Court Act 1981.

Under section 97(4) of the Magistrates’ Courts Act 1980, and under sections 12 and 14 of the Contempt of Court Act 1981, a magistrates’ court can imprison (for a maximum of 1 month), or fine (to a maximum of £2,500), or both, a respondent who contravenes a provision listed in paragraph (1)(c) or (d). Section 12(1) of the 1981 Act allows the court to deal with any person who—

(a) wilfully insults the justice or justices, any witness before or officer of the court or any solicitor or counsel having business in the court, during his or their sitting or attendance in court or in going to or returning from the court; or

(b) wilfully interrupts the proceedings of the court or otherwise misbehaves in court.

Under section 89 of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000, no respondent who is under 21 may be imprisoned for contempt of court. Under section 108 of that Act, a respondent who is at least 18 but under 21 may be detained if the court is of the opinion that no other method of dealing with him or her is appropriate. Under section 14(2A) of the Contempt of Court Act 1981, a respondent who is under 17 may not be ordered to attend an attendance centre.

Under section 258 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003, a respondent who is imprisoned for contempt of court must be released unconditionally after serving half the term.

By reason of sections 15 and 45 of the Senior Courts Act 1981, the Court of Appeal and the Crown Court each has an inherent power temporarily to detain a respondent, for example to restore order, when dealing with obstructive, disruptive, insulting or intimidating conduct. Under section 12(2) of the Contempt of Court Act 1981, a magistrates’ court can temporarily detain a respondent until later the same day on a contravention of that section.

Part 14 contains rules about bail.

(ii) in the Court of Appeal or the Crown Court, any other conduct with which that court can deal as a civil contempt of court, or rule.48.9(3) The application must—

(a) identify the respondent;

(b) explain that it is an application for the respondent to be dealt with for contempt of court;

(c) contain such particulars of the conduct in question as to make clear what is alleged against the respondent; and

(d) include a notice warning the respondent that the court—

(i) can impose imprisonment, or a fine, or both, for contempt of court, and

(ii) may deal with the application in the respondent’s absence, if the respondent does not attend the hearing.

rule.48.9(4) A court which acts on its own initiative under paragraph (1)(b) must—
(a) arrange for the preparation of a written statement containing the same information as an application; and

(b) arrange for the service on the respondent of—

(i) that written statement, and

(ii) notice of where and when the court will consider the allegation (not less than 14 days after service).

Note. The conduct to which this rule applies is sometimes described as ‘civil’ contempt of court.

By reason of section 45 of the Senior Courts Act 1981, the Crown Court has an inherent power to imprison (for a maximum of 2 years), or fine (to an unlimited amount), or both, a respondent for conduct in contempt of court by failing to comply with a court order or an undertaking given to the court.

Under section 18 of the Criminal Procedure and Investigations Act 1996—

(a) the Crown Court can imprison (for a maximum of 2 years), or fine (to an unlimited amount), or both;

(b) a magistrates’ court can imprison (for a maximum of 6 months), or fine (to a maximum of £5,000), or both, a person who uses disclosed prosecution material in contravention of section 17 of that Act. See also rule 15.8.

Under section 89 of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000, no respondent who is under 21 may be imprisoned for contempt of court. Under section 108 of that Act, a respondent who is at least 18 but under 21 may be detained if the court is of the opinion that no other method of dealing with him or her is appropriate. Under section 14(2A) of the Contempt of Court Act 1981, a respondent who is under 17 may not be ordered to attend an attendance centre.

Under section 258 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003, a respondent who is imprisoned for contempt of court must be released unconditionally after serving half the term.

The Practice Direction sets out a form of application for use in connection with this rule.

The rules in Part 4 require that an application under this rule must be served by handing it to the person accused of contempt of court unless the court otherwise directs.

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 XI Other Proceedings

Contempt in the face of the Magistrates’ Court

General

48A.1 The procedure to be followed in cases of contempt of court is given in CrimPR Part 48. The magistrates’ courts’ power to deal with contempt in the face of the court is contained within section 12 of the Contempt of Court Act 1981. Magistrates’ courts also have the power to punish a witness who refuses to be sworn or give evidence under section 97(4) of the Magistrates’ Courts Act 1980.

Contempt consisting of wilfully insulting anyone specified in section 12 or interrupting proceedings

48A.2 In the majority of cases, an apology and a promise as to future conduct should be sufficient for the court to order a person’s release. However, there are likely to be certain cases where the nature and seriousness of the misconduct requires the court to consider using its powers, under section 12(2) of the Contempt of Court Act 1981, either to fine or to order the person’s committal to custody.
Imposing a penalty for contempt

48A.3 The court should allow the person a further opportunity to apologise for his or her contempt, and should follow the procedure at CrimPR 48.8(4). The court should consider whether it is appropriate to release the person or whether it must exercise its powers to fine the person or to commit the person to custody under section 12 (2) of the 1981 Act. In deciding how to deal with the person, the court should have regard to the period for which he or she has been detained, whether the conduct was admitted and the seriousness of the contempt. Any period of committal to custody should be for the shortest period of time commensurate with the interests of preserving good order in the administration of justice.

s.82(1A) - a magistrates’ court may not issue a warrant of commitment in reliance on subsection (1)(c) for a default in paying—

(a) a charge ordered to be paid under section 21A of the Prosecution of Offences Act 1985 (criminal courts charge), or

(b) a surcharge ordered to be paid under section 161A of the Criminal Justice Act 2003.

s.82(2) - A magistrates’ court shall not in advance of the issue of a warrant of commitment fix a term of imprisonment which is to be served by an offender in the event of a default in paying a sum adjudged to be paid by a conviction, except where it has power to issue a warrant of commitment forthwith, but postpones issuing the warrant under section 77(2) above.

s.82(3) - Where on the occasion of the offender’s conviction a magistrates’ court does not issue a warrant of commitment for a default in paying any such sum as aforesaid or fix a term of imprisonment under the said section 77(2) which is to be served by him in the event of any such default, it shall not thereafter issue a warrant of commitment for any such default or for want of sufficient goods to satisfy such a sum unless—

(a) he is already serving a sentence of custody for life, or a term of imprisonment, youth custody, detention under section 9 of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 or detention in a detention centre; or

(b) the court has since the conviction inquired into his means in his presence on at least one occasion.

s.82(4) - Where a magistrates’ court is required by subsection (3) above to inquire into a person’s means, the court may not on the occasion of the inquiry or at any time thereafter issue a warrant of commitment for a default in paying any such sum unless—

(a) in the case of an offence punishable with imprisonment, the offender appears to the court to have sufficient means to pay the sum forthwith; or

(b) the court—

(i) is satisfied that the default is due to the offender’s wilful refusal or culpable neglect; and

(ii) has considered or tried all other methods of enforcing payment of the sum and it appears to the court that they are inappropriate or unsuccessful.

s.82(4A) - The methods of enforcing payment mentioned in subsection (4)(b)(ii) above are—

(a) a warrant of control under section 76 above;

(b) an application to the High Court or county court for enforcement under section 87 below;

(c) an order under section 88 below;

(d) an attachment of earnings order; and

(e) if the offender is under the age of 25, an order under section 17 of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 (attendance centre orders).

s.82(4B) - The cases in which the offender’s default may be regarded for the purposes of subsection (4)(b)(i) as being attributable to his wilful refusal or culpable neglect include any case in which—

(a) he has refused, otherwise than on reasonable grounds, to consent to a work order proposed to be made under Schedule 6 to the Courts Act 2003 (discharge of fines by unpaid work), or

(b) he has without reasonable excuse failed to comply with such an order.

s.82(5) - After the occasion of an offender’s conviction by a magistrates’ court, the court shall not, unless—

(a) the court has previously fixed a term of imprisonment under section 77(2) above which is to be served by the offender in the event of a default in paying a sum adjudged to be paid by the conviction; or the offender is serving [a sentence of custody for life, or a term of imprisonment, youth custody, detention under section 9 of the Criminal Justice Act 1982] or detention in a detention centre, issue a warrant of commitment for a default in paying the sum or fix such a term except at a hearing at which the offender is present.

s.82(5A) - a magistrates’ court may not issue a warrant of commitment under subsection (5) above at a hearing at which the offender is not present unless the designated officer for the court has first served on the offender a notice in writing stating that the court intends to hold a hearing to consider whether to issue such a warrant and giving the reason why the court so intends.

s.82(5B) - where after the occasion of an offender’s conviction by a magistrates’ court the court holds a hearing for the purpose of considering whether to issue a warrant of commitment for default in paying a sum adjudged to be paid by the conviction, it shall consider such information about the offender’s means as is available to it unless it has previously—
(a) inquired into the offender’s means; and
(b) postponed the issue of the warrant of commitment under section 77(2) above.

s.82(5C) - a notice under subsection (5A) above—
(a) shall state the time and place appointed for the hearing; and
(b) shall inform the offender that, if he considers that there are grounds why the warrant should not be issued, he may make representations to the court in person or in writing, but the court may exercise its powers in relation to the issue of a warrant whether or not he makes representations.

s.82(5D) - except as mentioned in subsection (5E) below, the time stated in a notice under subsection (5A) above shall not be earlier than 21 days after the issue of the notice.

s.82(5E) - where a magistrates’ court exercises in relation to an offender the power conferred by section 77(2) above and at the same hearing issues a notice under subsection (5A) above in relation to him, the time stated in the notice may be a time on any day following the end of the period for which the issue of the warrant of commitment has been postponed.

s.82(5F) - a notice under subsection (5A) above to be served on any person shall be deemed to be served on that person if it is sent by registered post or the recorded delivery service addressed to him at his last known address, notwithstanding that the notice is returned as undelivered or is for any other reason not received by that person.

s.82(6) - where a magistrates’ court issues a warrant of commitment on the ground that one of the conditions mentioned in subsection (1) or (4) above is satisfied, it shall state that fact, specifying the ground, in the warrant.

Appeals

R. (Purnell) v Essex Magistrates’ Court [2015] EWHC 333 (Admin)

There is no right of appeal against the imposition of a prison in default term under MCA 1980 s.108 as such an order was not “a sentence” for the purposes of s.108(3) because it was not made upon conviction but in consequence of conviction and at a different time and for a different reason.
Part 3.3 – Non-custodial penalties

Release

MCA 1980 s.79: Release from custody and reduction of detention on payment s.79(1) - where imprisonment or other detention has been imposed on any person by the order of a magistrates' court in default of payment of any sum adjudged to be paid by the conviction or order of a magistrates' court or for want of sufficient goods to satisfy such a sum, then, on the payment of the sum, together with the costs and charges, if any, of the commitment, or (as the case may be) on the payment of the amount outstanding, the order shall cease to have effect; and if the person has been committed to custody he shall be released unless he is in custody for some other cause.

s.79(2) - where, after a period of imprisonment or other detention has been imposed on any person in default of payment of any sum adjudged to be paid by the conviction or order of a magistrates' court or for want of sufficient goods to satisfy such a sum, payment is made in accordance with rules of court of part of the sum, the period of detention shall be reduced by such number of days as bears to the total number of days in that period less one day the same proportion as the amount so paid bears—

(a) to the amount outstanding at the time the period of detention was imposed, if the procedure in Schedule 12 to the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007 (taking control of goods) had been used for recovering the sum;

(b) otherwise, to so much of the sum as was due at that time.

s.79(3) - in calculating the reduction required under subsection (2) above any fraction of a day shall be left out of account.

s.79(4) - in this Act, references to want of sufficient goods to satisfy a sum of money are references to circumstances where—

(a) a warrant of control has been issued for the sum to be recovered from a person, but

(b) it appears on the return to the warrant that the person's money and goods are insufficient to pay the amount outstanding.

s.79(5) - in this section, “the amount outstanding” has the meaning given by paragraph 50(3) of Schedule 12 to the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007.

CJA 2003 s.258: Early release of fine defaulters etc.

s.258(1) - this section applies in relation to a person committed to prison—

(a) in default of payment of a sum adjudged to be paid by a conviction, or

(b) for contempt of court or any kindred offence.

s.258(2) - as soon as a person to whom this section applies has served one-half of the term for which he was committed, it is the duty of the Secretary of State to release him unconditionally.

s.258(2A) - subsection (2) is subject to paragraph 35 of Schedule 20B (transitional cases).

s.258(2B) - subsection (2) does not apply to a person within subsection (1)(a) if the sum in question is a sum of more than £10 million ordered to be paid under a confiscation order made under Part 2 of the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002.

s.258(2C) - the Secretary of State may by order amend the amount for the time being specified in subsection (2B).

s.258(3) - where a person to whom this section applies is also serving one or more sentences of imprisonment or detention in a young offender institution, nothing in this section or in paragraph 35 of Schedule 20B requires the Secretary of State to release him until he is also required to release him in respect of that sentence or each of those sentences.

s.258(3A) - the reference in subsection (3) to sentences of imprisonment includes sentences of detention under section 91 or 96 of the Sentencing Act or under section 226A, 226B, 227, 228 or 236A of this Act.

s.258(4) - the Secretary of State may at any time release unconditionally a person to whom this section applies if he is satisfied that exceptional circumstances exist which justify the person’s release on compassionate grounds.

3.3.1.1.7 Searching persons at the Crown Court

PCC(S)A 2000 s.142606: Power of Crown Court to order search of persons before it

s.142(1) - where—

(za) the Crown Court orders a person to pay a surcharge under section 161A of the Criminal Justice Act 2003,

(a) the Crown Court imposes a fine on a person or forfeits his recognizance,

(b) the Crown Court makes against a person any such order as is mentioned in paragraph 3, 4 or 9 of Schedule 9 to the Administration of Justice Act 1970 (orders for the payment of costs),

(ba) the Crown Court makes an order against a person under section 21A of the Prosecution of Offences Act 1985 (criminal courts charge),

(c) the Crown Court makes a compensation order against a person,

(ca) the Crown Court makes an unlawful profit order under section 4 of the Prevention of Social Housing Fraud Act 2013 against a person,

(d) the Crown Court makes against a person an order under section 137 above (order for parent or guardian to pay fine, costs, compensation or surcharge), or

(e) on the determination of an appeal brought by a person under section 108 of the Magistrates’ Courts Act 1980 a sum is payable by him, whether by virtue of an order of the Crown Court or by virtue of a conviction or order of the magistrates’ court against whose decision the appeal was brought,

3.3.1.1.8 Interaction with other sentencing orders

Compensation orders

PCC(S)A 2000 s.130: Compensation orders against convicted persons

s.130(11) - in determining whether to make a compensation order against any person, and in determining the amount to be paid by any person under such an order, the court shall have regard to his means so far as they appear or are known to the court.

Discharges

R. v McClelland (1951) 35 Cr. App. R. 22; R. v Sanck (1990-91) 12 Cr. App. R. (S.) 155

It is wrong to impose a fine and a conditional discharge for the same offence.

If an order of conditional discharge is made you cannot fine, because a fine is a punishment and conditional discharge can only be granted where a Court does not think fit to impose a punishment. (McClelland, Lord Chief Justice at p. 23)

Confiscation orders

POCA 2002 s.13: Effect of order on court’s other powers

s.13(2) - the court must take account of the confiscation order before: (a) it imposes a fine on a defendant

POA 1985 s.18: Award of costs against accused

s.18(5) - where a person under 18 is convicted before a magistrates’ court, the amount of costs ordered to be paid by the defendant may not exceed the amount of any fine imposed upon him

Custodial sentences: Determinate

TICs and Totality Definitive Guideline, Sentencing Council

A fine should not generally be imposed in combination with a custodial sentence because of the effect of imprisonment on the means of the defendant. However, exceptionally, it may be appropriate to impose a fine in addition to a custodial sentence where:

● the sentence is suspended;
● a confiscation order is not contemplated; and
● there is no obvious victim to whom compensation can be awarded; and
● the offender has, or will have, resources from which a fine can be paid.

s.19(3) - the court—
(a) shall, in respect of any connected offence, either sentence the offender by making a referral order or make an order discharging him absolutely; and
(b) may not deal with the offender for any such offence in any of the prohibited ways.

Note: Magistrates’ Court Sentencing Guidelines pp.147 et seq. set out guidance on the imposition of fines and the approach to setting the level of a fine.

3.3.1.1.10 Enforcement and collection of fines

PCC(S)A 2000 s.140614: Enforcement of fines imposed and recognizances forfeited by Crown Court s.140(1) - subject to subsec.(5) a fine imposed by the Crown Court shall be treated for the purposes of collection, enforcement and remission of the fine as having been imposed (a) by a magistrates’ court specified in an order made by the Crown Court, or (b) if no such order is made, by the magistrates’ court by which the defendant was sent to the Crown Court for trial CDA 1998 ss.51 or 51A, and, in the case of a fine, as having been so imposed on conviction by the magistrates’ court in question s.140(2) - subsec.(3) applies where a magistrates’ court issues a warrant of commitment on a default in the payment of (a) a fine imposed by the Crown Court s.140(3) - in a case under subsec.(2), the term of imprisonment or detention under section 108 above specified in the warrant of commitment as the term which the offender is liable to serve shall be (a) the term fixed by the Crown Court under s.139 or (b) if that term has been reduced under MCA 1980 s.79 (part payment) or s.85 (remission), that term as so reduced, notwithstanding that that term exceeds the period applicable to the case under CEMA 1979 s.149 (maximum periods of imprisonment in default of payment of certain fines)

s.140(4) - provision dealing with fines imposed by CACD and Supreme Court (treated as if they were imposed by Crown Court), subject to one modification s.140(5) - requirement for consent of Crown Court before magistrates’ court remits all or part of a fine under MCA 1980 ss.85 or 120

s.140(6) - any fine which is enforceable by a magistrates’ court by virtue of this section shall be treated for the purposes of Justices of the Peace Act 1997 and, in particular, s.60 of that Act (application of fines and fees) as having been imposed by a magistrates’ court

3.3.1.1.11 Corporations and public bodies

Note: The Fraud, bribery and money laundering: Corporate offenders Guideline (Sentencing Council) and the Corporate Manslaughter and Health and Safety Offences Causing Death Guideline (Sentencing Guidelines Council) provide some assistance as to the approach taken when imposing fines on corporate offenders. Specifically when dealing with fines, the approach of the courts with regards to means and setting the level of the fine has been similar to dealing with individuals. R v Sellafield; R v Network Rail [2014] EWCA Crim 49 sets out some of the principles.

3.3.1.2. Bind overs

3.3.1.2.1 Binding over to come up for judgment

3.3.1.2.1.1 Availability

Senior Courts Act 1981 s.79\(^615\): Practice and procedure in connection with indictable offences and appeals

s.79(1) - all enactments and rules of law relating to procedure in connection with indictable offences shall continue to have effect in relation to proceedings in the Crown Court s.79(2) - without prejudice to the generality of subsection (1), that subsection applies in particular to […] (b) the release, after respite of judgment, of a convicted person on recognizance to come up for judgment if called on, but meanwhile to be of good behaviour;

Note: The power to bind a person over to come up for judgment cannot be exercised by a magistrates’ court, since the power has not been granted to it by statute. See also R v Ayu (1959) Cr App R. 31

3.3.1.2.1.2 Consent

It is a power which can be exercised only if the subject of the order consents to its being made or acknowledges himself to be bound by its terms.

…it may very well be that the only power in the court which it is proper for the court to exercise upon the defendant declining to give his consent is the power to imprison or to impose some custodial sentence. (Lord Lane CJ at p 1403/p 243)

3.3.1.2.1.3 Conditions attached to a bind over to come up for judgment

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

J.17 If the Crown Court is considering binding over an individual to come up for judgment, the court should specify any conditions with which the individual is to comply in the meantime and not specify that the individual is to be of good behaviour.

R. v Hodges (1967) 51 Cr. App. R. 361

It was permissible to include a condition for the defendant to return to his native Ireland and not to return to the United Kingdom for a period of ten years.

Save in exceptional circumstances [the power to keep someone out of the jurisdiction on pain of imprisonment] should be used only to ensure that the defendant goes to a country of which he is a citizen or in which he is habitually resident, or where there are very special circumstances in which the receiving country is prepared to take him for his own well-being.. 3.3.1.2.1.5 Appeals

An order binding over an offender to come up for judgment on conditions is a “sentence” for the purpose of Criminal Appeal Act 1968, s.50.

3.3.1.2.1.6 Breach

R. v David (1940) 27 Cr. App. R. 50
It is not accurate to refer to a decision that there has been a breach of recognisance as a “conviction”.

R. v Ayu (1959) 43 Cr. App. R. 31

3.3.1.2.2 Binding over to keep the peace

3.3.1.2.2.1 Availability

In addition to the Magistrates’ Court, the Crown Court has the power to impose a bind over and there is no requirement that a complaint be made.

The order may be made at any time during the proceedings.

Note: A person called to give evidence who is not called as a witness is not a person “before the court” for the purposes of the Act, see R. v Swindon Crown Court ex parte Pawittar Singh (1983) 5 Cr. App. R. (S.) 422.

There is authority for the existence of a common law power to use a bind over to “prevent conduct which is contrary to a good way of life”: Percy v DPP [1995] All E.R. 124, 129 (Hooper J, at p. 113)

3.3.1.2.2.3 Procedure on complaint

MCA 1980 ss.51-57: Jurisdiction to issue summons and deal with complaints and Hearing of complaint

Note: These sections deal with the procedure on the making of a complaint. They have not been detailed as they form the civil jurisdiction of the court as opposed to the criminal.

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

J.5 Sections 51 to 57 of the Magistrates’ Courts Act 1980 set out the jurisdiction of the magistrates’ court to hear an application made on complaint and the procedure which is to be followed. This includes a requirement under section 53 to hear evidence and the parties, before making any order. This practice should be applied to all cases in the magistrates’ court and the Crown Court where the court is considering imposing a binding over order. The court should give the individual who would be subject to the order and the prosecutor the opportunity to make representations, both as to the making of the order and as to its terms. The court should also hear any admissible evidence the parties wish to call and which has not already been heard in the proceedings. Particularly careful consideration may be required where the individual who would be subject to the order is a witness in the proceedings.

3.3.1.2.2.4 Power to remand where complaint made under s.115

MCA 1980 s.115: Binding over to keep the peace or be of good behaviour

s.115(2) - where a complaint is made under this section, the power of the court to remand the defendant under subsection (5) of section 55 above shall not be subject to the restrictions imposed by subsection (6) of that section.
3.3.1.2.2.5 Procedure etc. in criminal proceedings

There is no requirement that a complaint be made.

The order may be made at any time during the proceedings.

Complainants and witnesses should be warned before a bind over is imposed upon them. An acquitted defendant could be bound over without warning.

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

J.5  […] The court should give the individual who would be subject to the order and the prosecutor the opportunity to make representations, both as to the making of the order and as to its terms. The court should also hear any admissible evidence the parties wish to call and which has not already been heard in the proceedings. Particularly careful consideration may be required where the individual who would be subject to the order is a witness in the proceedings.

J.6 Where there is an admission which is sufficient to found the making of a binding over order and / or the individual consents to the making of the order, the court should nevertheless hear sufficient representations and, if appropriate, evidence, to satisfy itself that an order is appropriate in all the circumstances and to be clear about the terms of the order.

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

J.10 The court must be satisfied on the merits of the case that an order for binding over is appropriate and should announce that decision before considering the amount of the recognisance. If unrepresented, the individual who is made subject to the binding over order should be told he has a right of appeal from the decision.

3.3.1.2.2.6 Making the order

Test to apply

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

J.2 Before imposing a binding over order, the court must be satisfied so that it is sure that a breach of the peace involving violence, or an imminent threat of violence, has occurred or that there is a real risk of violence in the future. Such violence may be perpetrated by the individual who will be subject to the order or by a third party as a natural consequence of the individual’s conduct.

J.6 Where there is an admission which is sufficient to found the making of a binding over order and / or the individual consents to the making of the order, the court should nevertheless hear sufficient representations and, if appropriate, evidence, to satisfy itself that an order is appropriate in all the circumstances and to be clear about the terms of the order.
Burden and standard of proof

_Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing_

J.8 The court should be satisfied so that it is sure of the matters complained of before a binding over order may be imposed. Where the procedure has been commenced on complaint, the burden of proof rests on the complainant. In all other circumstances, the burden of proof rests upon the prosecution.

Content of bind over

_Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing_

J.3 In light of the judgment in Hashman, courts should no longer bind an individual over “to be of good behaviour”. Rather than binding an individual over to “keep the peace” in general terms, the court should identify the specific conduct or activity from which the individual must refrain.

J.4 When making an order binding an individual over to refrain from specified types of conduct or activities, the details of that conduct or those activities should be specified by the court in a written order, served on all relevant parties. […]

R. v Randall (1986) 8 Cr. App. R. (S.) 433

There is no power to add a condition to a statutory bind over.

Length

_Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing_

J.4 The length of the order should be proportionate to the harm sought to be avoided and should not generally exceed 12 months.

It is desirable that the bind over should be for a finite period. McCowan J, at p.44, cites Pickford J in _R v. Charles Edgar_ (1913) 9 Cr. App. R. 13 as saying (at p.14):

“Objection is taken in this case to the fact that the defendant has been ordered to enter into a recognisance for an indefinite period. It is not necessary to decide whether there is power to order a recognisance to be entered into for life; we do not decide that there is no such power. It seems, however, that in all cases it has been the practice to limit the time for recognisance, and in no case has an indefinite time been inserted in the order. The court thinks it is better, whether there is power to leave the time indefinite or not, that the usual practice should be followed, and a time inserted.”

Setting the amount of recognisance

_Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing_

J.11 When fixing the amount of recognisance, courts should have regard to the individual’s financial resources and should hear representations from the individual or his legal representatives regarding finances.

J.12 A recognisance is made in the form of a bond giving rise to a civil debt on breach of the order.

Where a court propose to bind over a person who has been convicted in a substantial recognisance he should be given the opportunity to address the court on the question of the amount.

Giving reasons

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

J.4 The court should state its reasons for the making of the order, its length and the amount of the recognisance.

Refusal to enter into recognisance/Requirement for consent

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

J.13 If there is any possibility that an individual will refuse to enter a recognizance, the court should consider whether there are any appropriate alternatives to a binding over order (for example, continuing with a prosecution). Where there are no appropriate alternatives and the individual continues to refuse to enter into the recognisance, the court may commit the individual to custody. In the magistrates’ court, the power to do so will derive from section 1(7) of the Justices of the Peace Act 1968 or, more rarely, from section 115(3) of the Magistrates’ Courts Act 1980, and the court should state which power it is acting under; in the Crown Court, this is a common law power.

J.14 Before the court exercises a power to commit the individual to custody, the individual should be given the opportunity to see a duty solicitor or another legal representative and be represented in proceedings if the individual so wishes. Public funding should generally be granted to cover representation. In the Crown Court this rests with the Judge who may grant a Representation Order.

J.15 In the event that the individual does not take the opportunity to seek legal advice, the court shall give the individual a final opportunity to comply with the request and shall explain the consequences of a failure to do so.

JPA 1968 s.1\(^{621}\): Appointment of justices, oaths of office, etc.

s.1(7) - any court of record having a criminal jurisdiction has, as ancillary to that jurisdiction, the power to […] [commit] him to prison if he does not comply

MCA 1980 s.115\(^{622}\): Binding over to keep the peace or be of good behaviour

s.115(3) - if any person ordered by a magistrates' court under subsection (1) above to enter into a recognizance, with or without sureties, to keep the peace or to be of good behaviour fails to comply with the order, the court may commit him to custody for a period not exceeding 6 months or until he sooner complies with the order.

Note: For those aged under 21, see also PCC(S)A 2000 s.60(1)(b) which contains the power to impose an attendance centre order.

s.108(1) - in any case where, but for s.89(1), a court would have power [...] (c) to commit such a person to prison for contempt of court or any kindred offence, the court shall have power, subject to subsection (3) (test to apply) below, to commit him to be detained under this section or, as the case may be, to make an order fixing a term of detention under this section in the event of default, for a term not exceeding the term of imprisonment.

Howley v Oxford (1985) 81 Cr. App. R. 246

A person over 18 but under 21 who refuses to be bound over by a magistrates’ court may be detained under PCC(S)A 2000 s.108.

There is no power to order the detention of a person under the age of 18 years who refuses to be bound over.

PCC(S)A 2000 s.60: Attendance centre orders

s.60(1) - where a court would have power, but for s.89 (restrictions on imprisonment of young offenders and defaulters), to commit a person aged under 21 to prison [...] for failing to do or abstain from doing anything required to be done or left undone, the court may, if it has been notified by the Secretary of State that an attendance centre is available for the reception of persons of his description, order him to attend at such a centre, to be specified in the order, for such number of hours as may be so specified

3.3.1.2.2.8 Appeals

Magistrates’ Court to Crown Court

Magistrates' Courts (Appeals from Binding over Orders) Act 1956 s.1: Right of appeal to quarter sessions

s.1(1) - where, under Justices of the Peace Act 1361, or otherwise, a person is ordered by a magistrates’ court to enter into a recognisance with or without sureties to keep the peace or to be of good behaviour, he may appeal to the Crown Court s.1(2) - provisions dealing with procedural requirements/modifications

s.1(3) - nothing in s.1 applies in relation to any order an appeal from which lies to the Crown Court apart from the provisions of s.1

s.1(4) - disapplication of s.1 in relation to bind overs made before the expiration of a period of one month before the Act was passed

[The judge] fell into the error of trying to equate an appeal against a bind over with either an appeal against conviction or an appeal against sentence. It was, in truth, sui generis…if the defendant wanted to appeal it was to be by way of rehearing…if the matter was contested, the facts which justified the justices and, as the prosecution would say, which justified the Crown Court had to be strictly proved, just as strictly proved as they had to be in front of the justices. (Donaldson LJ, at p. 1311/p. 82)

Magistrates’ Court to Divisional Court

Emohare v Thames Magistrates’ Court [2009] EWHC 689 (Admin)

Whilst the Magistrates’ Court (Appeals from Bindings Over Orders) Act 1956 s.1 provides an ability to appeal to the Crown Court, it does not preclude an appeal by way of Case Stated instead.

Crown Court to Divisional Court

R. v Randall (1986) 8 Cr. App. R. (S.) 433

The Court of Appeal has no jurisdiction to hear an appeal arising from the imposition of a bind over; an appellant would not have been dealt with for “an offence” as required by the Criminal Appeal Act 1968, s.10(2). The matter did however fall within the power of the High Court by way of judicial review.

3.3.1.2.2.9 Breach

Procedure

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

J.7 Where there is an allegation of breach of a binding over order and this is contested, the court should hear representations and evidence, including oral evidence, from the parties before making a finding. If unrepresented and no opportunity has been given

626 Commencement: 5 July 1956 previously the court should give a reasonable period for the person said to have breached the binding over order to find representation.

MCA 1980 s.116: Discharge of recognizance to keep the peace or be of good behaviour on complaint of surety

s.116(1) - on complaint being made to a justice of the peace by a surety to a recognizance to keep the peace or to be of good behaviour entered into before a magistrates' court that the person bound by the recognizance as principal has been, or is about to be, guilty of conduct constituting a breach of the conditions of the recognizance, the justice may issue a warrant to arrest the principal and bring him before a magistrates’ court or a summons requiring the principal to appear before such a court; but the justice shall not issue a warrant unless the complaint is in writing and substantiated on oath.

s.120(1) - this section applies where: (a) a recognizance to keep the peace or to be of good behaviour has been entered into before a magistrates’ court or (b) any recognizance is conditioned for the appearance of a person before a magistrates’ court, or for his doing any other thing connected with a proceeding before a magistrates’ court.

s.120(2) - if, in any other case falling within subsection (1), the recognizance appears to the magistrates’ court to be forfeited, the court may: (a) declare the recognizance to be forfeited; and (b) adjudge each person bound by it, whether as principal or surety, to pay the sum in which he is bound; but in a case falling within subsection (1)(a) above, the court shall not declare the recognizance to be forfeited except by order made on complaint.

s.120(5) - a recognizance such as is mentioned in s.120 shall not be enforced otherwise than in accordance with s.120, and accordingly shall not be transmitted to the Crown Court nor shall its forfeiture be certified to that Court.

Criminal Practice Directions 2015 VII Sentencing

J.9 Where there is an allegation of breach of a binding over order, the court should be satisfied on the balance of probabilities that the defendant is in breach before making any order for forfeiture of a recognisance. The burden of proof shall rest on the prosecution.

R. v McGarry (1945) 30 Cr. App. R. 187

The breach should be proved just as if the allegation were that the defendant had committed an offence.

Powers

MCA 1980 s.116: Discharge of recognizance to keep the peace or be of good behaviour on complaint of surety

s.116(2) - The magistrates’ court before which the principal appears or is brought in pursuance of such a summons or warrant as aforesaid may, unless it adjudges the recognizance to be forfeited, order the recognizance to be discharged and order the principal to enter into a new recognizance, with or without sureties, to keep the peace or to be of good behaviour.

s.116(3) - The court which declares the recognizance to be forfeited may, instead of adjudging any person to pay the whole sum in which he is bound, adjudge him to pay part only of the sum or remit the sum.

Note: There is no power to commit a person to prison for breaking a condition of a recognizance unless he is in default of payment following an order forfeiting the recognizance, R. v Gilbert, unreported, 4 April 1974.

Recommendation for deportation

R. v Akan (1972) 56 Cr. App. R. 716

An order for conditional discharge and a recommendation for deportation could be imposed together as a recommendation for deportation was not to be regarded as a “disqualification or disability”.

s.46(1) - notwithstanding anything in PCC(S)A 2000 s.14(3) (conviction of defendant discharged to be disregarded for the purposes of enactments relating to disqualification), a court in England and Wales which on convicting a person of an offence involving obligatory or discretionary disqualification makes: (b) an order discharging him absolutely or conditionally, may on that occasion also exercise any power conferred, and must also discharge any duty imposed, on the court by RTOA 1988 ss.34 (disqualification), 35 (disqualification for repeated offences), 36 (disqualification until test is passed), 44 (endorsement) or 44A (endorsement in accordance with order) s.1(1) - where a court by or before which a person is convicted of an offence committed on licensed premises is satisfied that in committing that offence he resorted to violence or offered or threatened to resort to violence, the court may, subject to subsection (2) below, make an order (in this Act referred to as an “exclusion order”) prohibiting him from entering those premises or any other specified premises, without the express consent of the licensee of the premises or his servant or agent.

s.1(2) - an exclusion order may be made either—

(a) in addition to any sentence which is imposed in respect of the offence of which the person is convicted; or but not otherwise.

Fine

It is wrong to impose a fine and a conditional discharge for the same offence.

If an order of conditional discharge is made you cannot fine, because a fine is a punishment and conditional discharge can only be granted where a Court does not think fit to impose a punishment. (McClelland, Lord Chief Justice at p. 23)

834 Commencement: 30 November 2009, SI 2009/3074 art.2(n)
CJIA 2008 Sch.2 para.23

Subsection (4), and the provisions mentioned in subsection (6), of section 1 apply in relation to a power conferred by paragraph 6(2)(b), 8(2)(b), 13(4)(b) or 14(4)(b) to impose a requirement as they apply in relation to any power conferred by section 1 or Part 1 of Schedule 1 to make a youth rehabilitation order which includes such a requirement.

Breach: Failure to comply

CJIA 2008 Sch.2 para.3

If the responsible officer is of the opinion that the offender has failed without reasonable excuse to comply with a youth rehabilitation order, the responsible officer must give the offender a warning under this paragraph unless under paragraph 4(1) or (3) the responsible officer causes an information to be laid before a justice of the peace in respect of the failure.

A warning under this paragraph must—

(a) describe the circumstances of the failure,

(b) state that the failure is unacceptable, and

(c) state that the offender will be liable to be brought before a court—

(i) in a case where the warning is given during the warned period relating to a previous warning under this paragraph, if during that period the offender again fails to comply with the order, or

(ii) in any other case, if during the warned period relating to the warning, the offender fails on more than one occasion to comply with the order.

The responsible officer must, as soon as practicable after the warning has been given, record that fact.

In this paragraph, "warned period", in relation to a warning under this paragraph, means the period of 12 months beginning with the date on which the warning was given.

CJIA 2003 Sch.2 para.4

If the responsible officer—

(a) has given a warning ("the first warning") under paragraph 3 to the offender in respect of a youth rehabilitation order,

(b) during the warned period relating to the first warning, has given another warning under that paragraph to the offender in respect of a failure to comply with the order, and

(c) is of the opinion that, during the warned period relating to the first warning, the offender has again failed without reasonable excuse to comply with the order, the responsible officer must cause an information to be laid before a justice of the peace in respect of the failure mentioned in paragraph (c).

para.4(2) - but sub-paragraph (1) does not apply if the responsible officer is of the opinion that there are exceptional circumstances which justify not causing an information to be so laid.

para.4(3) - if—
(a) the responsible officer is of the opinion that the offender has failed without reasonable excuse to comply with a youth rehabilitation order, and
(b) sub-paragraph (1) does not apply (in a case not within subparagraph (2)), the responsible officer may cause an information to be laid before a justice of the peace in respect of that failure.

para.4(4) - in this paragraph, “warned period” has the same meaning as in paragraph 3.

(b) if the information is in writing and on oath, issue a warrant for the offender’s arrest.

para.5(2) - any summons or warrant issued under this paragraph must direct the offender to appear or be brought—para.5(5) - sub-paragraphs (6) and (7) apply where the offender does not appear in answer to a summons issued under this paragraph.

838 Commencement: 30 November 2009, SI 2009/3074 art.2(n)

   (a) unless the summons was issued under this sub-paragraph, issue a further summons requiring the offender to appear at the place and time specified in it, or
   (b) in any case, issue a warrant for the arrest of the offender.

PCC(S)A 2000 s.25\(^{870}\): First meeting: Failure to agree contract s.25(1) - where it appears to a youth offender panel to be appropriate to do so, the panel may—

  (b) resume consideration of the offender's case at a further meeting of the panel.

s.25(2) - if, however, it appears to the panel at the first meeting or any such further meeting that there is no prospect of agreement being reached with the offender within a reasonable period after the making of the referral order (or orders)—

  (b) it appears to the panel that the offender is in breach of any of the terms of the contract.

s.26(5) - where the panel has discussed with the offender such a breach as is mentioned in subsection (4)(b) above—

(b) the panel may decide to end the meeting and refer the offender back to that court.

s.26(6) - where a variation in the terms of the contract is agreed between the offender and the panel, the panel shall cause a written record of the variation to be produced forthwith—

(a) review the extent of the offender’s compliance to date with the terms of the contract; and

(b) decide, in the light of that review, whether his compliance with those terms has been such as to justify the conclusion that, by the time the compliance period expires, he will have satisfactorily completed the contract; and the panel shall give the offender written confirmation of its decision.

s.27(3) - where the panel decides that the offender’s compliance with the terms of the contract has been such as to justify that conclusion, the panel’s decision shall have the effect of discharging the referral order (or orders) as from the end of the compliance period.

s.27(4) - otherwise the panel shall refer the offender back to the appropriate court.

s.27(5) - nothing in section 22(2) above prevents the panel from making the decision mentioned in subsection (3) above in the offender’s absence if it appears to the panel to be appropriate to do that instead of exercising either of its powers under section 22(2).

s.27(6) - Section 22(2)(a) above does not permit the final meeting to be adjourned (or re-adjourned) to a time falling after the end of the compliance period.

s.27(7) - in this section “the compliance period”, in relation to a youth offender contract, means the period for which the contract has effect in accordance with section 24 above.

para.6(3) - Subsections (3) and (4) of section 55 of the Magistrates’ Courts Act 1980 (which among other things restrict the circumstances in which a warrant may be issued) shall “summons” there were inserted the words “cannot be served or”.

para.6(7) - where the offender is aged 18 or over at the time when he is brought before a youth court other than the relevant court under sub-paragraph (4)(b) above, or is aged 18 or para.2(5) - where the Crown Court deals with an offender under sub-paragraph (4) above, it shall revoke the reparation order if it is still in force.

para.2(6) - a fine imposed under this paragraph shall be deemed, for the purposes of any enactment, to be a sum adjudged to be paid by a conviction.

   (b) make an order amending it—
      (i) by cancelling any provision included in it; or
      (ii) by inserting in it (either in addition to or in substitution for any of its provisions) any provision which could have been included in the order if the court had then had power to make it and were exercising the power.

para.5(2) - sub-paragraph (1) above has effect subject to paragraph 6 below.

para.5(3) - where an application under sub-paragraph (1) above for the revocation of a reparation order is dismissed, no further application for its revocation shall be made under that sub-paragraph by any person except with the consent of the relevant court.

Imprisonment

Magistrates’ Courts Sentencing Guidelines, Sentencing Guidelines Council

[...] [W]here a custodial sentence of 12 months or more is imposed and the offender is liable to be released on licence and thus subject to recall, an order will not generally be necessary. There might be cases where geographical restraints could supplement licence conditions.

Note: The excerpt from the guidelines concerns ASBOs, not CBOs, however it is likely the guidance would be considered to apply to CBOs due to the similarity in the nature of the two orders.

Parenting orders

CDA 1998 s.9: Parenting orders: supplemental s.9(1) - where a person under the age of 16 is convicted of an offence, the court: (a) if it is satisfied that the relevant condition is fulfilled, shall make a parenting order; and (b) if it is not so satisfied, shall state in open court that it is not and why it is not.

s.9(1B) - if an injunction under the Anti-social Behaviour, Crime and Policing Act 2014 s.1 is granted or a criminal behaviour order is made under s.22 of that Act in respect of a person under the age of 16 the court: (a) must make a parenting order if it is satisfied that the relevant condition is fulfilled; (b) if it is not so satisfied, must state in open court that it is not and why it is not.

3.4.2. Disqualification from being the director of a company

3.4.2.1. General

Note: There are a number of civil powers under the 1986 Act, for obvious reasons, these are not included in this document. Below are details of the orders a court can make upon a conviction for a relevant offence and, for context, the provision setting out a disqualification undertaking.

Taking account of matters other than criminal convictions

s.1(4) - a disqualification order may be made on grounds which are or include matters other than criminal convictions, notwithstanding that the person in respect of whom it is to be made may be criminally liable in respect of those matters.

3.4.2.2. Effect

What is a disqualification order?

Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 s.1\(^{968}\): Disqualification orders: general

s.1(1) - in the circumstances specified below in this Act a court may, and under sections 6 and 9A shall, make against a person a disqualification order, that is to say an order that for a period specified in the order:

(a) he shall not be a director of a company, act as receiver of a company's property or in any way, whether directly or indirectly, be concerned or take part in the promotion, formation or management of a company unless (in each case) he has the leave of the court, and

(b) he shall not act as an insolvency practitioner.

R. v Cole 1998 BCC 87

A judge cannot pick and choose which disqualification applies; the legislation envisages one disqualification with a number of consequences, not five different types of disqualification.

Note: The Act has been amended since this decision but there is no reason to suspect that the position is any different now.

R. v Ward [2001] EWCA Crim 1648

There is no power to limit the disqualification; the disqualification applies to all categories listed in section 1.

When does the disqualification begin?

Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 s.1\(^{969}\): Disqualification orders: general

s.1(2) - in each section of this Act which gives to a court power or, as the case may be, imposes on it the duty to make a disqualification order there is specified the maximum (and, in section 6, the minimum) period of disqualification which may or (as the case s.5(2) - where a person is convicted of a summary offence counting for those purposes, the court by which he is convicted (or, in England and Wales, any other magistrates' court acting in the same local justice area) may make a disqualification order against him if the circumstances specified in the next subsection are present.

\end{itemize}

s.5(3) - those circumstances are that, during the 5 years ending with the date of the conviction, the person has had made against him, or has been convicted of, in total not less than 3 default orders and offences counting for the purposes of this section; and those offences may include that of which he is convicted as mentioned in subsection (2) and any other offence of which he is convicted on the same occasion.

Maximum length

Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 s.5\(^{975}\): Disqualification on summary conviction

s.5(5) - the maximum period of disqualification under this section is 5 years.

3.4.2.6. Interaction with other sentencing orders

Compensation orders

A sentencer who imposes a compensation order should be careful not to reduce or inhibit the defendant's means to pay the order. When a compensation order is made it is generally wrong in principle to inhibit a defendant from freely engaging in business activities which must have been contemplated as necessary for the purposes of fulfilling his obligations under the compensation order, by disqualifying him from acting as a director of a company.

Discharges

PCC(S)A 2000 s.12978: Absolute and conditional discharge

s.12(7) - nothing in this section shall be construed as preventing a court, on discharging an offender absolutely or conditionally in respect of any offence, from [...] imposing any disqualification on him [...]

s.13 - if a person acts in contravention of a disqualification order or disqualification undertaking or in contravention of section 12(2), 12A or 12B, or is guilty of an offence under section 11, he is liable:

(a) on conviction on indictment, to imprisonment for not more than 2 years or a fine, or both; and

(b) on summary conviction, to imprisonment for not more than 6 months or a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum, or both.

LP(ECP)A 1980 s.1: Exclusion orders

s.1(2) - an exclusion order may be made either:

but not otherwise.

Length of the order

LP(ECP)A 1980 s.1: Exclusion orders

s.1(3) - an exclusion order shall have effect for such period, not less than three months or more than two years, as is specified in the order, unless it is terminated under section 2(2) below.

3.4.4.2.3 Making the order

Test to apply

F(S)A 1989 s.14A997: Banning orders made on conviction of an offence s.14A(2) - if the court is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds to believe that making a banning order would help to prevent violence or disorder at or in connection with any regulated football matches, it must make such an order in respect of the offender.

"[Under section 14A] the first element—the conviction of a relevant offence—will already have been established to the criminal standard. [...] [T]he legislature expected, in a normal case, that the conviction itself would be sufficient to satisfy the court under subs.(2), but that if there were something in the particular case that meant that the judge was not so satisfied then he should explain what it was in open court. There is clearly no requirement under s.14A for either repetition or propensity." (HHJ Gordon at [13])

Evidence and standard of proof

F(S)A 1989 s.14A998: Banning orders made on conviction of an offence

s.14A(3A) - for the purpose of deciding whether to make an order under this section the court may consider evidence led by the prosecution and the defence.

F(S)A 1989 s.14A[999]: Banning orders made on conviction of an offence

s.14A(4A) - the court may adjourn any proceedings in relation to an order under this section even after sentencing the offender.

s.14A(4B) - if the offender does not appear for any adjourned proceedings, the court may further adjourn the proceedings or may issue a warrant for his arrest.

s.14A(4BA) - if the court adjourns or further adjourns any proceedings under subsection (4A) or (4B), the court may remand the offender.

s.14A(4BB) - a person who, by virtue of subsection (4BA), is remanded on bail may be required by the conditions of his bail:

(a) not to leave England and Wales before his appearance before the court, and s.14A(4C) - the court may not issue a warrant under subsection (4B) above for the offender's arrest unless it is satisfied that he has had adequate notice of the time and place of the adjourned proceedings.

Length of orders

F(S)A 1989 s.14F[1001]: Period of banning orders.

s.14F(1) - subject to the following provisions of this Part, a banning order has effect for a period beginning with the day on which the order is made.

European orders

Note: There exists an order giving magistrates' courts and, in certain circumstances, the Crown Court, the power to make a European protection order (“EPO”). An EPO may impose prohibitions or restrictions upon an individual and may be made after an application by an individual who is “protected” by a court order in England and Wales (most likely to be a restraining order) and who resides or is going to reside in another member state. The EPO requests that the relevant member state recognises the protection order. See Criminal Justice (European Protection Order) (England and Wales) Regulations 2014 (SI 2014/3300).

The SI also makes provision for the recognition of an EPO made in another member state, which involves a magistrates' court imposing a restraining order under s.5 of the Protection from Harassment Act 1997 which replicates the provisions contained in the EPO as closely as possible (see reg.13).

3.4.6. Serious Crime Prevention Orders

3.4.6.1. General

What is a Serious Crime Prevention Order?

SCA 2007 s.1: Serious Crime Prevention Orders

s.1(5) - in this Part “serious crime prevention order” means:

(a) an order under this section; or

(b) an order under section 19 (corresponding order of the Crown Court on conviction).

s.19(8) - an order under this section is also called a serious crime prevention order.

Nature of proceedings

SCA 2007 s.35: Proceedings in the High Court

s.35(1) - proceedings before the High Court in relation to serious crime prevention orders are civil proceedings.

s.35(2) - one consequence of this is that the standard of proof to be applied by the court in such proceedings is the civil standard of proof.

SCA 2007 s.36: Proceedings in the Crown Court s.36(1) - proceedings before the Crown Court arising by virtue of section 19, 20, 21 or 22E are civil proceedings.

s.36(2) - one consequence of this is that the standard of proof to be applied by the court in such proceedings is the civil standard of proof.

s.36(3) - two other consequences of this are that the court—

(a) is not restricted to considering evidence that would have been admissible in the criminal proceedings in which the person concerned was convicted; and

(b) may adjourn any proceedings in relation to a serious crime prevention order even after sentencing the person concerned.

Part 3.4 – Behaviour Orders

3.4.6.2. Availability

Restrictions on making an order

SCA 2007 s.6: Any individual must be 18 or over
An individual under the age of 18 may not be the subject of a serious crime prevention order.

SCA 2007 s.7: Other exceptions

s.7(1) - a person may not be made the subject of a serious crime prevention order in England and Wales if the person falls within a description specified by order of the Secretary of State.

s.7(2) - a person may not be made the subject of a serious crime prevention order in Northern Ireland if the person falls within a description specified by order of the Department of Justice in Northern Ireland.

Who may make an application?

SCA 2007 s.8: Limited class of applicants for making of orders

A serious crime prevention order may be made only on an application by:

(a) in the case of an order in England and Wales:
   (i) the Director of Public Prosecutions; or
   (ii) the Director of the Serious Fraud Office; and

(b) in the case of an order in Northern Ireland, the Director of Public Prosecutions for Northern Ireland.

3.4.6.3. Applications

Functions of applicant authorities

SCA 2007 s.37: Functions of applicant authorities

s.37 - Schedule 2 (functions of applicant authorities under this Part) has effect.

SCA 2007 Sch.2: Functions of applicant authorities under Part 1

The provisions of the Schedule are not reproduced here. The Explanatory Note about s.37 and Sch.2 is as follows.

126. This section gives effect to Schedule 2 which provides for the functions of the applicant authorities that can make applications for orders (Director of Public Prosecutions, Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions, Director of the Serious Fraud Office and Director of Public Prosecutions for Northern Ireland). These functions include... applying for serious crime prevention orders, or the variation or discharge of an order; appearing on applications by others for the variation or discharge of an order; having the conduct of or appearing in any other proceedings about a serious crime prevention order; providing advice about any proceedings or possible proceedings in connection with a serious crime prevention order; or anything for the purposes of, or in connection with, these functions. Special provision has to be made because functions in relation to serious crime prevention orders fall outside the usual prosecutorial functions of the Directors.

127. Paragraphs 1 to 5 of Schedule 2 list the functions of the Director of Public Prosecutions under Part 1 of the Act and provide that he can delegate his functions to a Crown Prosecutor (paragraph 2). Paragraphs 6 to 11 of this Schedule list the functions of the Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions under Part 1 of the Act and provide that he can delegate his functions to a Revenue and Customs Prosecutor (paragraph 7). Paragraphs 12 to 15 of this Schedule list the functions of the Director of the Serious Fraud Office under Part 1 of the Act and provide that he can delegate his functions to a member of the Serious Fraud Office (paragraph 13). The powers to delegate alter the usual position in relation to the carrying out of functions on behalf of the Directors by their staff. A Director must expressly delegate his functions rather than it occurring automatically. This is intended to ensure that the exercise of the powers is kept under tight control by the Directors.

128. Paragraphs 3, 8 and 14 provide that the functions of the Directors are exercisable under the superintendence of the Attorney General.

129. Paragraphs 16 to 20 of this Schedule list the functions of the Director of Public Prosecutions for Northern Ireland under Part 1 of the Act and make provision about the exercising of those functions.

Note: The role of the Director of Revenue and Customs Prosecutions (DRCP) was merged with the Director of Public Prosecutions (DPP) and therefore reference to the DRCP in the explanatory note should be read as a reference to the DPP, see SI 2014/834 art.3 for more details. The SI amended primary and secondary legislation where appropriate but did not amend the explanatory notes.

3.4.6.14. Case law

A serious crime prevention order must be proportionate. The interference which it will create with the defendant’s freedom of action must be justified by the public benefit which the order will have in achieving the statutory purpose, and the provisions of the order must be commensurate with the risk that the defendant will commit further serious offences in England and Wales.

Like other forms of preventive order, a serious crime prevention order is not an additional or alternative form of sentence. It is not designed to punish and is not to be imposed because it is thought that the defendant deserves it. Preventive orders of this kind must be expressed in terms from which the defendant, and any police officer contemplating enforcement, can readily know what he may and may not do.
3.4.7. Sexual Harm Prevention Orders

3.4.7.1. General

Note: There is still a power to make a SOPO where an application was made before the commencement date. Otherwise, there is a power to make a SHPO; the difference of note is that the test for imposing the order is lowered, from “serious sexual harm” to “sexual harm”.

3.4.7.7. Interaction with other sentencing orders

Note: Smith, below, was decided in relation to SOPOs not SHPOs, however the principle should apply to the new orders due to their similar nature.

General

“[…] It must be remembered that a defendant convicted of sexual offences is likely to be subject to at least three other relevant regimes [notification, disqualification from working with children, licence]. No SOPO is needed if it merely duplicates such a regime. Nor must a SOPO interfere with such a regime.” (Hughes LJ, at [9])

Extended or Determinate term of imprisonment

“[…] [A] SOPO may plainly be necessary if the sentence is a determinate term or an extended term. In each of those cases, whilst conditions may be attached to the licence, that licence will have a defined and limited life. The SOPO by contrast can extend beyond it and this may be necessary to protect the public from further offences and serious sexual harm as a result.” (Hughes LJ, at [14])

Life sentences

“The usual rule ought to be that an indeterminate sentences needs so SOPO, at leas unless there is some very unusual feature which means that such an order could add something useful and did not run the risk of undesirably tying the hands of the offender managers later.” (Hughes LJ, at [13])

Notification

“[…] [I]t is not normally a proper use of the power to impose a SOPO to use it to extend notification requirements beyond the period prescribed by law. Absent some unusual feature, it would therefore be wrong to add to a SOPO terms which although couched as prohibitions amounted in effect to no more than notification requirements, but for a period longer than the law provides for. But it does not follow that the duration of a SOPO ought generally to be the same as the duration of notification requirements. Notification requirements and the conditions of a SOPO are generally two different things. The first require positive action by the defendant, who must report his movements to the police. The second prohibit him from doing specified things. Ordinarily there ought to be little or no overlap between them. If the circumstances require it, we can see no objection to the prohibitory provisions of a SOPO extending beyond the notification requirements of the statute. It may also be possible that a SOPO for less than an indefinite period might be found to be the right order in a case where the notification requirements endure for ever; that also is permissible in law.” (Hughes LJ, at [17])

Parenting orders

s.8(1) - application of section: […] (b) a Sexual Harm Prevention Order is made in respect of a child or young person; […]

s.8(2) - subject to s.8(3) and s.9(1), if in the proceedings the court is satisfied that the relevant condition is fulfilled, it may make a parenting order in respect of a person who is a parent or guardian of the child or young person or, as the case may be, the person convicted of the offence under ss.443 or 444 (“the parent”).

1182 Commencement: 30 September 1998, SI 1998/2327 art.2(1)(a) s.8(3) - A court shall not make a parenting order unless it has been notified by the Secretary of State that arrangements for implementing such orders are available in the area in which it appears to the court that the parent resides or will reside and the notice has not been withdrawn.

s.8(6) - The relevant condition is that the parenting order would be desirable in the interests of preventing:

1. in a case falling within paragraph (a), (aa) or (b) of s.8(1), any repetition of the kind of behaviour which led to the order being made or the injunction granted;
2. in a case falling within paragraph (c), the commission of any further offence by the child or young person;
3. in a case falling within paragraph (d), the commission of any further offence under Education Act 1996 ss.443 or 444.

Suspended sentences

... [A] SOPO may plainly be necessary if the sentence is a determinate term or an extended term. In each of those cases, whilst conditions may be attached to the licence, that licence will have a defined and limited life. The SOPO by contrast can extend beyond it and this may be necessary to protect the public from further offences and serious sexual harm as a result.

The same is true, only more clearly, where the sentence is a suspended sentence. The SOPO serves a different purpose from the suspension of the sentence, and its duration is certain to be longer, since it cannot be made unless prohibitions for at least five years are called for: s 107(1)(b). (Hughes LJ, [14]-[15])

3.4.7.8. Variation, renewal and discharge of orders

(b) shall not return the passport after the prohibition has ceased to apply, or when it is suspended, except where the passport has not expired and an application for its return is made to him by the offender.

The order cannot exclude certain countries

The legislation does not contemplate a TRO that is linked to only certain parts of the world where the drug trade flourishes with its greatest potency. The drug trade is truly international.

Duty to give reasons for the order

[…] [U]nless the exchanges between counsel and the court clearly disclose why the need to make an order arises and, secondly, why a certain period is to be imposed, the judge should give succinct reasons explaining why he is imposing the order and his reasons for the period he imposes. (Newman J, at [17])

s.22(4) - on an appeal under subsection (1)(c), (2) or (3)(b), the Crown Court may make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to its determination of the appeal, and may also make such incidental or consequential orders as appear to it to be just.
Effect of orders made on appeal

s.22(5) - any order made by the Crown Court on an appeal under subsection (1)(c) or (2) is for the purposes of section 20(10) or 21(8) (respectively) to be treated as if it were an order of the court from which the appeal was brought.

s.22(6) - subsection (5) does not apply to an order directing that an application be reheard by a magistrates' court.

Offenders are not able to buy shorter sentences

R. v Copley (1979) 1 Cr. App. R. (S.) 55

It is not open to offenders to buy their way out of prison, or to buy shorter sentences, by offering money in the way of compensation.

A compensation order is not a punishment

…it is not right, certainly not right in every case and certainly not right in this case, to regard the imposition of a compensation order as being by way of additional punishment. (French J, at p.514)

3.5.1.1.2 Availability and power to order

When can an order be imposed?

PCC(S)A 2000 s.130: Compensation order against convicted persons

s.130(1) - a court by or before which a person is convicted of an offence, instead of or in addition to dealing with him in any other way, may, on application or otherwise, make an order (in this Act referred to as a “compensation order”) requiring him—

(a) to pay compensation for any personal injury, loss or damage resulting from that offence or any other offence which is taken into consideration by the court in determining sentence; or

(b) to make payments for funeral expenses or bereavement in respect of a death resulting from any such offence, other than a death due to an accident arising out of the presence of a motor vehicle on a road;

but this is subject to the following provisions of this section and to section 131 below.

Mandatory or required sentences

PCC(S)A 2000 s.130: Compensation order against convicted persons

s.130(2) - where the person is convicted of an offence the sentence for which is fixed by law or falls to be imposed under a provision mentioned in subsection (2ZA), subsection (1) above shall have effect as if the words “instead of or” were omitted.

s.130(2ZA) - the provisions referred to in subsection (2) are—

(a) section 1(2B) or 1A(5) of the Prevention of Crime Act 1953;

(b) section 51A(2) of the Firearms Act 1968;

1288 Commencement: 25 August 2000, PCC(S) 2000 s.168(1).
1289 Commencement: 25 August 2000, PCC(S) 2000 s.168(1).
(c) section 139(6B), 139A(5B) or 139AA(7) of the Criminal Justice Act 1988;
(d) section 110(2) or 111(2) of this Act;
(e) section 224A, 225(2) or 226(2) of the Criminal Justice Act 2003;
(f) section 29(4) or (6) of the Violent Crime Reduction Act 2006.

s.130(2A) - a court must consider making a compensation order in any case where this section empowers it to do so.

Theft/Fraud where damage occurred out of owner's possession

s.130(5) - in the case of an offence under the Theft Act 1968 or Fraud Act 2006, where the property in question is recovered, any damage to the property occurring while it was out of the owner’s possession shall be treated for the purposes of subsection (1) above as having resulted from the offence, however and by whomever the damage was caused.

Funeral expenses

s.130(9) - a compensation order in respect of funeral expenses may be made for the benefit of any one who incurred the expenses.

Bereavement

s.130(10) - a compensation order in respect of bereavement may be made only for the benefit of a person for whose benefit a claim for damages for bereavement could be made under section 1A of the Fatal Accidents Act 1976; and the amount of compensation in respect of bereavement shall not exceed the amount for the time being specified in section 1A(3) of that Act.

Duty to give reasons where compensation order not made

s.130(3) - a court shall give reasons, on passing sentence, if it does not make a compensation order in a case where this section empowers it to do so.
3.5.1.1.3 Motor-vehicle exception

Power to make the order

PCC(S)A 2000 s.130\textsuperscript{1294}: Compensation order against convicted persons

s.130(6) - a compensation order may only be made in respect of injury, loss or damage (other than loss suffered by a person’s dependants in consequence of his death) which was due to an accident arising out of the presence of a motor vehicle on a road, if—

(a) it is in respect of damage which is treated by subsection (5) above as resulting from an offence under the Theft Act 1968 or Fraud Act 2006; or

(b) it is in respect of injury, loss or damage as respects which—

(i) the offender is uninsured in relation to the use of the vehicle; and

(ii) compensation is not payable under any arrangements to which the Secretary of State is a party.

Setting the amount

PCC(S)A 2000 s.130\textsuperscript{1295}: Compensation order against convicted persons

s.130(7) - where a compensation order is made in respect of injury, loss or damage due to an accident arising out of the presence of a motor vehicle on a road, the amount to be paid may include an amount representing the whole or part of any loss of or reduction in preferential rates of insurance attributable to the accident.

Interpretation etc.

PCC(S)A 2000 s.130\textsuperscript{1296}: Compensation order against convicted persons

s.130(8) - a vehicle the use of which is exempted from insurance by section 144 of the Road Traffic Act 1988 is not uninsured for the purposes of subsection (6) above.

3.5.1.1.4 Deciding whether or not to make an order

Must prove a loss/injury

Note: There are several cases which establish the principle that the loss must be proved and that where the loss is disputed an order should not be made until proven, as an example, see R. v Kneeshaw (1974) 58 Cr. App. R. 439.

Magistrates’ Courts Sentencing Guidelines, Sentencing Guidelines Council

p.165 [7] In cases where it is difficult to ascertain the full amount of the loss suffered by the victim, consideration should be given to making a compensation order for an amount representing the agreed or likely loss. Where relevant information is not immediately available, it may be appropriate to grant an adjournment for it to be obtained.

Part 3.5 – Financial ancillary orders

An award of compensation is not appropriate where matters such as full details of the injury and matters which may reduce the amount of compensation are not ascertained and cannot be ascertained. In such circumstances proceedings in the County Court would be more appropriate.

Complex cases

It is wrong to make a compensation order where there are difficult and complex issues of liability and the sum claimed is neither agreed nor proved.

Order should be attributed to relevant offence

TICs and Totality Guideline, Sentencing Council

p.12 Where compensation is being ordered, that will need to be attributed to the relevant offence as will any necessary ancillary orders.

3.5.1.5 Fixing the amount

General

PCC(S)A 2000 s.130: Compensation order against convicted persons

s.130(4) - compensation under subsection (1) above shall be of such amount as the court considers appropriate, having regard to any evidence and to any representations that are made by or on behalf of the accused or the prosecutor.

s.130(11) - in determining whether to make a compensation order against any person, and in determining the amount to be paid by any person under such an order, the court shall have regard to his means so far as they appear or are known to the court.

R. v Amey (1982) 4 Cr. App. R. (S) 410
Care must be taken to ensure that the evidence is sufficient before making an order. The amount of loss should be established by evidence, not inference or guesswork.

Magistrates’ Courts Sentencing Guidelines, Sentencing Guidelines Council

Note: Pages 165 and 166 of the guidelines specify suggested amounts for physical injury. They are taken from the CICS (2001). The CICS table was updated in 2012.

Global orders

TICs and Totality Guideline, Sentencing Council p.16
The court should not fix a global compensation figure unless the offences were committed against the same victim (R v Warton [1976] Crim LR 520). Where there are competing claims for limited funds, the total compensation available should normally be apportioned on a pro rata basis (R v Miller [1976] Crim LR 694).

1297 Commencement: 25 August 2000, PCC(S) 2000 s.168(1).
Offenders aged under 18

PCC(S)A 2000 s.131: Limit on amount payable under compensation order of magistrates' court in case of young offender s.131(A1) - this section applies if (but only if) a magistrates' court has convicted a person aged under 18 (“the offender”) of an offence or offences.

s.131(1) - the compensation to be paid under a compensation order made by the court in respect of the offence, or any one of the offences, shall not exceed £5,000.

s.131(2) - the compensation or total compensation to be paid under a compensation order or compensation orders made by the court in respect of any offence or offence taken into consideration in determining sentence shall not exceed the difference (if any) between—

(a) the amount or total amount which under subsection (1) above is the maximum for the offence or offences of which the offender has been convicted; and

(b) the amount or total amounts (if any) which are in fact ordered to be paid in respect of that offence or those offences.

Payment by instalments

Where the offender has little money, the order may have to be scaled down or additional time allowed to pay; the court may allow compensation to be paid over a period of up to three years in appropriate cases.

3.5.1.1.6 Effect of compensation order on damages awarded in civil proceedings

PCC(S)A 2000 s.134: Effect of compensation order on subsequent award of damages in civil proceedings

s.134(1) - this section shall have effect where a compensation order, or a service compensation order, has been made in favour of any person in respect of any injury, loss or damage and a claim by him in civil proceedings for damages in respect of the injury, loss or damage subsequently falls to be determined.

s.134(2) - the damages in the civil proceedings shall be assessed without regard to the order, but the plaintiff may only recover an amount equal to the aggregate of the following—

(a) any amount by which they exceed the compensation; and

(b) a sum equal to any portion of the compensation which he fails to recover, and may not enforce the judgment, so far as it relates to a sum such as is mentioned in paragraph (b) above, without the leave of the court.

s.134(3) - in this section “service compensation order” means a service compensation order under the Armed Forces Act 2006.

3.5.1.1.7 Interaction with other sentencing orders

Community orders

TICs and Totality Guideline, Sentencing Council, p.16
A compensation order can be combined with a community order.

Confiscation orders

TICs and Totality Guideline, Sentencing Council, p.16
A compensation order can be combined with a confiscation order where the amount that may be realised is sufficient. If such an order is made, priority should be given to compensation (R v Mitchell [2001] Crim LR 239).

POCA 2002 s.13: Effect of order on court's other powers

s.13(1) - if the court makes a confiscation order it must proceed as mentioned in subsections (2) and (4) in respect of the offence or offences concerned.

s.13(2) - the court must take account of the confiscation order before—
   (a) it imposes a fine on the defendant, or
   (b) it makes an order falling within subsection (3).

s.13(3) - these orders fall within this subsection—
   (a) an order involving payment by the defendant, other than [an order under section 21A of the Prosecution of Offences Act 1985 (criminal courts charge) or a priority order;

   (b) an order under section 27 of the Misuse of Drugs Act 1971 (c. 38) (forfeiture orders);

   (c) an order under section 143 of the Sentencing Act (deprivation orders);

   (d) an order under section 23 or 23A of the Terrorism Act 2000 (c. 11) (forfeiture orders).

s.13(3A) - in this section “priority order” means any of the following—
   (a) a compensation order under section 130 of the Sentencing Act;

   (b) an order requiring payment of a surcharge under section 161A of the Criminal Justice Act 2003;

   (c) an unlawful profit order under section 4 of the Prevention of Social Housing Fraud Act 2013.

1300 Commencement: 24 March 2003, SI 2003/333 art.2 and Sch.1, as amended by SCA 2015 s.6 on 1 June 2015.
Discharges

PCC(S)A 2000 s.12\(^{1301}\): Absolute and conditional discharge

s.12(7) - nothing prevents a court from imposing in addition to a discharge: a compensation order

Disqualification from being a company director

A sentencer who imposes a compensation order should be careful not to reduce or inhibit the offender’s means to pay the order. When a compensation order is made, it is generally wrong in principle to inhibit offenders from freely engaging in business activities which must have been contemplated as necessary for the purposes of fulfilling their obligations under the compensation order, by disqualifying them from acting as directors of companies.

Fines

s.130(12) - where the court considers—

(a) that it would be appropriate both to impose a fine and to make a compensation order, but

(b) that the offender has insufficient means to pay both an appropriate fine and appropriate compensation, the court shall give preference to compensation (though it may impose a fine as well).

TICs and Totality Guideline, Sentencing Council, p.16

Priority is given to the imposition of a compensation order over a fine. This does not affect sentences other than fines. This means that the fine should be reduced or, if necessary, dispensed with altogether, to enable the compensation to be paid.

Imprisonment (immediate)

TICs and Totality Guideline, Sentencing Council, p 16

A compensation order can be combined with a sentence of immediate custody where the offender is clearly able to pay or has good prospects of employment on his release from custody.

Suspended sentence orders

TICs and Totality Guideline, Sentencing Council, p 16

A compensation order can be combined with a suspended sentence order.

Note: The guideline cites PCC(S)A 2000 s.118(5) as its authority for this proposition; a suspended sentence order is an order under the CJA 2003. The order under the 2000 Act to which s.118 applies is a suspended sentence. This provision has been repealed subject to certain savings. There is no provision dealing with SSOs under the 2003 Act.

Part 3.5 – Financial ancillary orders

Surcharge

CJA 2003 s.161A: Court’s duty to order payment of surcharge

s.161A(3) - where a court dealing with an offender considers—

(a) that it would be appropriate to make one or more of a compensation order, an unlawful profit order and a slavery and trafficking reparation order, but

(b) that he has insufficient means to pay both the surcharge and and appropriate amounts under such of those orders as it would be appropriate to make, the court must reduce the surcharge accordingly (if necessary to nil).

Surcharge where order made/varied on appeal

PCC(S)A 2000 s.132: Compensation orders: appeals etc.

s.132(4A) - where an order is made in respect of a person under subsection (3) or (4) above, the Court of Appeal or the Supreme Court shall make such order for the payment of a surcharge under section 161A of the Criminal Justice Act 2003, or such variation of the order of the Crown Court under that section, as is necessary to secure that the person’s liability under that section is the same as it would be if he were being dealt with by the Crown Court.

3.5.1.1.8 Review of compensation orders

Power

PCC(S)A 2000 s.133: Review of compensation orders

s.133(1) - the magistrates’ court for the time being having functions in relation to the enforcement of a compensation order (in this section referred to as “the appropriate court”) may, on the application of the person against whom the compensation order was made, discharge the order or reduce the amount which remains to be paid; but this is subject to subsections (2) to (4) below.

When can the power be exercised?

PCC(S)A 2000 s.133: Review of compensation orders

s.133(2) - the appropriate court may exercise a power conferred by subsection (1) above only—

(a) at a time when (disregarding any power of a court to grant leave to appeal out of time) there is no further possibility of an appeal on which the compensation order could be varied or set aside; and

(b) at a time before the person against whom the compensation order was made has paid into court the whole of the compensation which the order requires him to pay.

s.133(3) - the appropriate court may exercise a power conferred by subsection (1) above only if it appears to the court—

(a) that the injury, loss or damage in respect of which the compensation order was made has been held in civil proceedings to be less than it was taken to be for the purposes of the order; or

(b) in the case of a compensation order in respect of the loss of any property, that the property has been recovered by the person in whose favour the order was made; or

(c) that the means of the person against whom the compensation order was made are insufficient to satisfy in full both the order and any or all of the following made against him in the same proceedings—

(i) a confiscation order under Part 6 of the Criminal Justice Act 1988 or Part 2 of the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002;

(ii) an unlawful profit order under section 4 of the Prevention of Social Housing Fraud Act 2013;

(iii) a slavery and trafficking reparation order under section 8 of the Modern Slavery Act 2015; or

(d) that the person against whom the compensation order was made has suffered a substantial reduction in his means which was unexpected at the time when the order was made, and that his means seem unlikely to increase for a considerable period.

Must get consent of Crown Court

PCC(S)A 2000 s.133: Review of compensation orders

s.133(4) - where the compensation order was made by the Crown Court, the appropriate court shall not exercise any power conferred by subsection (1) above in a case where it is satisfied as mentioned in paragraph (c) or (d) of subsection (3) above unless it has first obtained the consent of the Crown Court.

Orders made on appeal

PCC(S)A 2000 s.133: Review of compensation orders

s.133(5) - where the compensation order has been made on appeal, for the purposes of subsection (4) above it shall be deemed—

(a) if it was made on an appeal brought from a magistrates’ court, to have been made by that magistrates’ court;

(b) if it was made on an appeal brought from the Crown Court or from the criminal division of the Court of Appeal, to have been made by the Crown Court.

3.5.1.1.9 Appeals

Compensation not payable until time limit to appeal conviction or sentence or vary sentence has expired

s.32(1) - a person in whose favour a compensation order is made shall not be entitled to receive the amount due to him until (disregarding any power of a court to grant leave to appeal out of time) there is no further possibility of an appeal on which the order could be varied or set aside.

s.132(2) - the Criminal Procedure Rules may make provision regarding the way in which the magistrates’ court for the time being having functions (by virtue of section 41(1) of the Administration of Justice Act 1970) in relation to the enforcement of a compensation order is to deal with money paid in satisfaction of the order where the entitlement of the person in whose favour it was made is suspended.

Court of Appeal: Power to annul or vary order

PCC(S)A 2000 s.132: Compensation orders: appeals etc.

s.132(3) - the Court of Appeal may by order annul or vary any compensation order made by the court of trial, although the conviction is not quashed; and the order, if annulled, shall not take effect and, if varied, shall take effect as varied.

Order made/varied on appeal: Surcharge

PCC(S)A 2000 s.132: Compensation orders: appeals etc.

s.132(4A) - where an order is made in respect of a person under subsection (3) or (4) above, the Court of Appeal or the Supreme Court shall make such order for the payment of a surcharge under section 161A of the Criminal Justice Act 2003, or such variation of the order of the Crown Court under that section, as is necessary to secure that the person’s liability under that section is the same as it would be if he were being dealt with by the Crown Court.

TICs

3.5.1.2. Restitution Orders

3.5.1.2.1 Making the order

Availability

PCC(S)A 2000 s.148: Restitution orders

s.148(1) - this section applies where goods have been stolen, and either—

(a) a person is convicted of any offence with reference to the theft (whether or not the stealing is the gist of his offence); or

(b) a person is convicted of any other offence, but such an offence as is mentioned in paragraph (a) above is taken into consideration in determining his sentence.

s.148(5) - the court shall not exercise the powers conferred by this section unless in the opinion of the court the relevant facts sufficiently appear from evidence given at the trial or the available documents, together with admissions made by or on behalf of any person in connection with any proposed exercise of the powers.

s.148(6) - in subsection (5) above “the available documents” means—

(a) any written statements or admissions which were made for use, and would have been admissible, as evidence at the trial; and

(b) such documents as were served on the offender in pursuance of regulations made under paragraph 1 of Schedule 3 to the Crime and Disorder Act 1998.

Application not necessary

PCC(S)A 2000 s.149: Restitution orders: supplementary

PCC(S)A 2000 s.148: Restitution orders

s.148(2) - where this section applies, the court by or before which the offender is convicted may on the conviction (whether or not the passing of sentence is in other respects deferred) exercise any of the following powers—

(a) the court may order anyone having possession or control of the stolen goods to restore them to any person entitled to recover them from him; or

(b) on the application of a person entitled to recover from the person convicted any other goods directly or indirectly representing the stolen goods (as being the proceeds of any disposal or realisation of the whole or part of them or of goods so representing them), the court may order those other goods to be delivered or transferred to the applicant; or

(c) the court may order that a sum not exceeding the value of the stolen goods shall be paid, out of any money of the person convicted which was taken out of his possession on his apprehension, to any person who, if those goods were in the possession of the person convicted, would be entitled to recover them from him; and in this subsection “the stolen goods” means the goods referred to in subsection (1) above.

R. v Church (1971) 55 Cr. App. R. 65

The court has no power to receive evidence after the conclusion of the trial to establish the basis for making a restitution order. Restitution orders should only be made in the plainest cases.

(k) Part 1 or 2 of the Extradition Act 2003(l).

(2) In this Part, ‘costs’ means—
(a) the fees payable to a legal representative;
(b) the disbursements paid by a legal representative; and
(c) any other expenses incurred in connection with the case.

Costs orders: general rules

45.2.—(1) The court must not make an order about costs unless each party and any other person directly affected—
(a) is present; or
(b) has had an opportunity—
(i) to attend, or
(ii) to make representations.
(2) The court may make an order about costs—
   (a) at a hearing in public or in private; or
   (b) without a hearing.

(3) In deciding what order, if any, to make about costs, the court must have regard to all the circumstances, including—
   (a) the conduct of all the parties; and
   (b) any costs order already made.

(4) If the court makes an order about costs, it must—
   (a) specify who must, or must not, pay what, to whom; and
   (b) identify the legislation under which the order is made, where there is a choice of powers.

(5) The court must give reasons if it—
   (a) refuses an application for a costs order; or
   (b) rejects representations opposing a costs order.

(6) If the court makes an order for the payment of costs—
   (a) the general rule is that it must be for an amount that is sufficient reasonably to compensate the recipient for costs—
       (i) actually, reasonably and properly incurred, and
       (ii) reasonable in amount; but
   (b) the court may order the payment of—
       (i) a proportion of that amount,
       (ii) a stated amount less than that amount,
       (iii) costs from or until a certain date only,
       (iv) costs relating only to particular steps taken, or
       (v) costs relating only to a distinct part of the case.

(7) On an assessment of the amount of costs, relevant factors include—
   (a) the conduct of all the parties;
   (b) the particular complexity of the matter or the difficulty or novelty of the questions raised;
   (c) the skill, effort, specialised knowledge and responsibility involved;
   (d) the time spent on the case;
   (e) the place where and the circumstances in which work or any part of it was done;
       and
   (f) any direction or observations by the court that made the costs order.

(8) If the court orders a party to pay costs to be assessed under rule 45.11, it may order that party to pay an amount on account.

(9) An order for the payment of costs takes effect when the amount is assessed, unless the court exercises any power it has to order otherwise.
Part 3.5 – Financial ancillary orders

Court’s power to vary requirements

45.3.—(1) The court may—
   (a) extend a time limit for serving an application or representations under rules 45.4 to 45.10, even after it has expired; and
   (b) consider an application or representations—
       (i) made in a different form to one set out in the Practice Direction, or
       (ii) made orally instead of in writing.

(2) A person who wants an extension of time must—
   (a) apply when serving the application or representations for which it is needed; and
   (b) explain when serving the application or representations for which it is needed; and

Costs out of central funds

45.4.—(1) This rule applies where the court can order the payment of costs out of central funds.

(2) In this rule, costs—
   (a) include—
       (i) on an appeal, costs incurred in the court that made the decision under appeal, and
       (ii) at a retrial, costs incurred at the initial trial and on any appeal; but
   (b) do not include costs met by legal aid.

(3) The court may make an order—
   (a) on application by the person who incurred the costs; or
   (b) on its own initiative.

(4) Where a person wants the court to make an order that person must—
   (a) apply as soon as practicable; and
   (b) outline the type of costs and the amount claimed, if that person wants the court to direct an assessment; or
   (c) specify the amount claimed, if that person wants the court to assess the amount itself.

(5) The general rule is that the court must make an order, but—
   (a) the court may decline to make a defendant’s costs order if, for example—
       (i) the defendant is convicted of at least one offence, or
       (ii) the defendant’s conduct led the prosecutor reasonably to think the prosecution case stronger than it was; and
   (b) the court may decline to make a prosecutor’s costs order if, for example, the prosecution was started or continued unreasonably.

(6) If the court makes an order—
   (a) the court may direct an assessment under, as applicable—
       (i) Part III of the Costs in Criminal Cases (General) Regulations 1986(a), or
(ii) Part 3 of the Serious Crime Act 2007 (Appeals under Section 24) Order 2008(b);

(b) the court may assess the amount itself in a case in which either—

(i) the recipient agrees the amount, or

(ii) the court decides to allow a lesser sum than that which is reasonably sufficient to compensate the recipient for expenses properly incurred in the proceedings;

(c) an order for the payment of a defendant’s costs which includes an amount in respect of fees payable to a legal representative, or disbursements paid by a legal representative, must include a statement to that effect.

(7) If the court directs an assessment, the order must specify any restriction on the amount to be paid that the court considers appropriate.

(8) If the court assesses the amount itself, it must do so subject to any restriction on the amount to be paid that is imposed by regulations made by the Lord Chancellor.

Costs on conviction and sentence, etc.

45.5.—(1) This rule applies where the court can order a defendant to pay the prosecutor’s costs if the defendant is—

(a) convicted or found guilty;

(d) in an extradition case—

(i) ordered to be extradited, under Part 1 of the Extradition Act 2003,

(ii) sent for extradition to the Secretary of State, under Part 2 of that Act, or

(iii) unsuccessful on an appeal by the defendant to the High Court, or on an application by the defendant for permission to appeal from the High Court to the Supreme Court.

(2) The court may make an order—

(a) on application by the prosecutor; or

(b) on its own initiative.

(3) Where the prosecutor wants the court to make an order—

(a) the prosecutor must—

(i) apply as soon as practicable, and

(ii) specify the amount claimed; and

(b) the general rule is that the court must make an order if it is satisfied that the defendant can pay.

(4) A defendant who wants to oppose an order must make representations as soon as practicable.

(5) If the court makes an order, it must assess the amount itself.

(b) on its own initiative.

(4) A person who wants the court to make an order must—

(b) notify each other party;

(c) specify—

(i) the amount claimed, and

(ii) against whom; and

(i) apply in writing not more than 14 days later, and

(ii) serve the application on the appellant and on the Crown Court officer.

(5) A party who wants to oppose an order must—

(a) make representations as soon as practicable; and

(b) where the application was under paragraph (4)(d), serve written representations on the applicant, and on the Crown Court officer, not more than 7 days after it was served.

(6) Where the application was under paragraph (4)(d), the Crown Court officer may—

(a) submit it to the Crown Court; or

(b) serve it on the magistrates’ court officer, for submission to the magistrates’ court.

(7) If the court makes an order, it may direct an assessment under rule 45.11, or assess the amount itself where—

(a) the appellant abandons an appeal to the Crown Court;

(b) the Crown Court decides an appeal, except an appeal under—

(i) section 108 of the Magistrates’ Courts Act 1980, or
(ii) section 45 of the Mental Health Act 1983; or
(c) the Court of Appeal decides an appeal to which Part 40 applies (Appeal to the Court of Appeal about reporting or public access restriction).

(8) If the court makes an order in any other case, it must assess the amount itself.

Costs on an application

(4) A party who wants to oppose an order must make representations as soon as practicable.

(5) If the court makes an order, it may direct an assessment under rule 45.11, or assess the amount itself.

Costs resulting from unnecessary or improper act, etc.

45.8.—(1) This rule applies where the court can order a party to pay another party’s costs incurred as a result of an unnecessary or improper act or omission by or on behalf of the first party.

Costs out of central funds

45.4.—(1) This rule applies where the court can order the payment of costs out of central funds.

(2) In this rule, costs—
   (a) include—
   (i) on an appeal, costs incurred in the court that made the decision under appeal, and
   (ii) at a retrial, costs incurred at the initial trial and on any appeal; but
   (b) do not include costs met by legal aid.

(3) The court may make an order—
   (a) on application by the person who incurred the costs; or
   (b) on its own initiative.

(4) Where a person wants the court to make an order that person must—
   (a) apply as soon as practicable; and
   (b) outline the type of costs and the amount claimed, if that person wants the court to direct an assessment; or
   (c) specify the amount claimed, if that person wants the court to assess the amount itself.

(5) The general rule is that the court must make an order, but—
   (a) the court may decline to make a defendant’s costs order if, for example—
      (i) the defendant is convicted of at least one offence, or
      (ii) the defendant’s conduct led the prosecutor reasonably to think the prosecution case stronger than it was; and
   (b) the court may decline to make a prosecutor’s costs order if, for example, the prosecution was started or continued unreasonably.

(6) If the court makes an order—
   (a) the court may direct an assessment under, as applicable—
      (i) Part III of the Costs in Criminal Cases (General) Regulations 1986(a), or
      (ii) Part 3 of the Serious Crime Act 2007 (Appeals under Section 24) Order 2008(b);
   (b) the court may assess the amount itself in a case in which either—
      (i) the recipient agrees the amount, or
      (ii) the court decides to allow a lesser sum than that which is reasonably sufficient to compensate the recipient for expenses properly incurred in the proceedings;
   (c) an order for the payment of a defendant’s costs which includes an amount in respect of fees payable to a legal representative, or disbursements paid by a legal representative, must include a statement to that effect.

(7) If the court directs an assessment, the order must specify any restriction on the amount to be paid that the court considers appropriate.

Note. See also rule 45.2.

An order for the payment of costs out of central funds can be made—

(a) for a defendant—

   (i) on acquittal,

   (ii) where a prosecution does not proceed,

   (iii) where the Crown Court allows any part of a defendant’s appeal from a magistrates’ court,

   (iv) where the Court of Appeal allows any part of a defendant’s appeal from the Crown Court,

   (v) where the Court of Appeal decides a prosecutor’s appeal under Part 37 (Appeal to the Court of Appeal against ruling at preparatory hearing) or Part 38 (Appeal to the Court of Appeal against ruling adverse to prosecution),

   (vi) where the Court of Appeal decides a reference by the Attorney General under Part 41 (Reference to the Court of Appeal of point of law or unduly lenient sentence),

(See section 16 of the Prosecution of Offences Act 1985 and regulation 14 of the Costs in Criminal Cases (General) Regulations 1986; section 36(5) of the Criminal Justice Act 1972 and paragraph 11 of Schedule 3 to the Criminal Justice Act 1988; article 14 of the Serious Crime Act 2007 (Appeals under Section 24) Order 2008; and sections 61 and 134 of the Extradition Act 2003.)

(b) for a private prosecutor, in proceedings in respect of an offence that must or may be tried in the Crown Court;

(See section 17 of the Prosecution of Offences Act 1985 and regulation 14 of the Costs in Criminal Cases (General) Regulations 1986.)

(c) for a person adversely affected by a serious crime prevention order, where the Court of Appeal—

   (i) allows an appeal by that person about that order, or

   (ii) decides an appeal about that order by someone else.

(See article 14 of the Serious Crime Act 2007 (Appeals under Section 24) Order 2008.)

Where the court makes an order for the payment of a defendant’s costs out of central funds—

(a) the general rule is that the order may not require the payment of any amount in respect of fees payable to a legal representative, or disbursements paid by a legal representative (including expert witness costs), but if the defendant is an individual then an order may require payment of such an amount in a case—

3.5.4.7. Prosecution costs (paid by defendant)

General

Practice Direction (Costs in Criminal Proceedings) 2015

3.4 An order should be made where the court is satisfied that the defendant or appellant has the means and the ability to pay. The order is not intended to be in the nature of a penalty which can only be satisfied on the defendant’s release from prison. An order should not be made on the assumption that a third party might pay. Whilst the court should take into account any debt of the appellant or defendant, where the greater part of those debts relates to the offence itself, the court may still make an order for costs.

3.5 Where co-defendants are husband and wife, the couple’s means should not be taken together. Where there are multiple defendants the court may make joint and several orders, but the costs ordered to be paid by an individual should be related to the costs in or about the prosecution of that individual. In a multi handed case where some defendants have insufficient means to pay their share of the costs, it is not right for that share to be divided among the other defenders.

3.6 The prosecution should serve upon the defence, at the earliest time, full details of its costs so as to give the defendant a proper opportunity to make representations upon them if appropriate. If a defendant wishes to dispute all or any of the prosecution’s claim for costs, the defendant should, if possible, give proper notice to the prosecution of the objections proposed to be made or at least make it plain to the court precisely what those objections are. There is no provision for assessment of prosecution costs in a criminal case, such disputes have to be resolved by the court, which must specify the amount to be paid.\(^{1365}\)

Costs on conviction and sentence, etc.

45.5.—(1) This rule applies where the court can order a defendant to pay the prosecutor’s costs if the defendant is—

(a) convicted or found guilty;

(b) dealt with in the Crown Court after committal for sentence there;

(c) dealt with for breach of a sentence; or

(d) in an extradition case—

(i) ordered to be extradited, under Part 1 of the Extradition Act 2003,

(ii) sent for extradition to the Secretary of State, under Part 2 of that Act, or

(iii) unsuccessful on an appeal by the defendant to the High Court, or on an application by the defendant for permission to appeal from the High Court to the Supreme Court.

\(^{1365}\) See R v Associated Octel Ltd [1996] EWCA Crim 1327; [1997] Crim LR 144.
(2) The court may make an order—
   (a) on application by the prosecutor; or
   (b) on its own initiative.

(3) Where the prosecutor wants the court to make an order—
   (a) the prosecutor must—
       (i) apply as soon as practicable, and
       (ii) specify the amount claimed; and
   (b) the general rule is that the court must make an order if it is satisfied that the defendant can pay.

(4) A defendant who wants to oppose an order must make representations as soon as practicable.

(5) If the court makes an order, it must assess the amount itself.

Note. See—
(a) rule 45.2;
(b) section 18 of the Prosecution of Offences Act 1985(a) and regulation 14 of the Costs in Criminal Cases (General) Regulations 1986; and
(c) sections 60 and 133 of the Extradition Act 2003.

Under section 18(4) and (5) of the 1985 Act, if a magistrates’ court—
(a) imposes a fine, a penalty, forfeiture or compensation that does not exceed £5—
   (i) the general rule is that the court will not make a costs order against the defendant, but
   (ii) the court may do so;
(b) fines a defendant under 18, no costs order against the defendant may be for more than the fine.

Part 39 (Appeal to the Court of Appeal about conviction or sentence) contains rules about appeal against a Crown Court costs order to which this rule applies.

   (b) the Crown Court dismisses an appeal against such a conviction or against the sentence imposed on that conviction; or
   (c) any person is convicted of an offence before the Crown Court;
the court may make such order as to the costs to be paid by the accused to the prosecutor as it considers just and reasonable.
Power to order: Court of Appeal

POA 1985 s.18: Award of costs against accused

s.18(2) - where the Court of Appeal dismisses—

(a) an appeal or application for leave to appeal under Part I of the Criminal Appeal Act 1968;

(c) an appeal or application for leave under section 9(11) of the Criminal Justice Act 1987; or

(d) an appeal or application for leave to appeal under section 35(1) of the Criminal Procedure and Investigations Act 1996, it may make such order as to the costs to be paid by the accused, to such person as may be named in the order, as it considers just and reasonable.

High Court

Practice Direction (Costs in Criminal Proceedings) 2015

3.8 The High Court is not covered by section 18 of the Act but it has complete discretion over all costs between the parties in relation to proceedings before it.\(^{1369}\)

Amount must be specified

POA 1985 s.18: Award of costs against accused

s.18(3) - the amount to be paid by the accused in pursuance of an order under this section shall be specified in the order.

Restriction on costs in magistrates’ courts where nominal fine imposed

POA 1985 s.18: Award of costs against accused

s.18(4) - where any person is convicted of an offence before a magistrates’ court and—

(a) under the conviction the court orders payment of any sum as a fine, penalty, forfeiture or compensation; and

(b) the sum so ordered to be paid does not exceed £5;

the court shall not order the accused to pay any costs under this section unless in the particular circumstances of the case it considers it right to do so.

3.5.4.8. Solicitors paying costs: The inherent jurisdiction of the senior courts

Practice Direction (Costs in Criminal Proceedings) 2015

1.2.3 The Senior Courts also have the power under their inherent jurisdiction over officers of the court to order a solicitor personally to pay costs thrown away. The inherent jurisdiction of the court should be invoked only to avoid a clear injustice. Where the legislature has stepped in with particular legislation in a particular area (eg, the wasted costs provisions) then, within that particular area, the existing inherent jurisdiction will be ousted or curtailed, at any rate in so far as the particular legislation is negative in character. Given the present provisions relating to costs, the exercise of the inherent jurisdiction will occur only in the rarest of circumstances.

4.6 Awards of Costs against Solicitors under the Court’s Inherent Jurisdiction

4.6.1 In addition to the power under regulation 3 of the General Regulations to order that costs improperly incurred be paid by a party to the proceedings and the power to make wasted costs orders under section 19A of the Act, the Senior Courts (which includes the Crown Court) may, in the exercise of its inherent jurisdiction over officers of the court, order a solicitor personally to pay costs thrown away by reason of a serious breach on the part of the solicitor of his duty to the court.

4.6.2 No such order may be made unless reasonable notice has been given to the solicitor of the matter alleged against him and he is given a reasonable opportunity of being heard in reply.

4.6.3 This power should be used only in exceptional circumstances not covered by the statutory powers: see para 1.2.3.

Part 3.7 – Driving disqualification/endorsement

Production of licence

*RTOA 1988 s.27

s.27(1) - where a person who is the holder of a licence is convicted of an offence involving obligatory or discretionary disqualification, and a court proposes to make an order disqualifying him or an order under section 44 of this Act, the court must, unless it has already received them, require the licence and its counterpart to be produced to it.

s.27(3) - if the holder of the licence has not caused it and its counterpart to be delivered, or posted it and its counterpart, in accordance with section 7 of this Act and does not produce it and its counterpart as required under this section or section 40 of the Crime (Sentences) Act 1997, section 146 or 147 of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 or section 223A or 436A of the Criminal Procedure (Scotland) Act 1975, or if the holder of the licence does not produce it and its counterpart as required by section 40B of the Child Support Act 1991, then, unless he satisfied the court that he has applied for a new licence and has not received it—

(a) he is guilty of an offence, and

(b) the licence shall be suspended from the time when its production was required until it and its counterpart are produced to the court and shall, while suspended, be of no effect.

s.27(4) - subsection (3) above does not apply where the holder of the licence—

(a) has caused a current receipt for the licence and its counterpart issued under section 56 of this Act to be delivered to the proper officer of the court not later than the date before the date appointed for the hearing, or

(b) has posted such a receipt, at such time that in the ordinary course of post it would be delivered not later than that day, in a letter duly addressed to the proper officer and either registered or sent by the recorded delivery service, or

(c) surrenders such a receipt to the court at the hearing, and produces the licence and its counterpart to the court immediately on its return.

s.27(4A) - subsection (3) does not apply where section 7(1B) applies in relation to the proceedings and the holder of the licence—

(a) has caused a current receipt for the licence issued under section 56 to be delivered to the designated officer specified in the single justice procedure notice within the period described in section 7(1B)(a),

(b) has posted it to that officer within that period in such manner as is described in section 7(1B)(b), or

(c) surrenders such a receipt to the court at the hearing described in section 7(1B)(c), and produces the licence to the court immediately on its return.

s.27(5) - In this section— “proper officer” means—

(a) in relation to a magistrates’ court in England and Wales, the designated officer for the court, and

(b) in relation to any other court, the clerk of the court.

“single justice procedure notice” has the same meaning as in section 29 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003.

Court may take into account endorsements

RTOA 1988 s.31: Court may take particulars endorsed into consideration s.31(1) - where a person is convicted of an offence involving obligatory or discretionary disqualification—

   (a) any existing endorsement on the counterpart of his licence or on his driving record is prima facie evidence of the matters endorsed, and
   (b) the court may, in determining what order to make in pursuance of the conviction, take those matters into consideration.

s.31(2) - this section has effect notwithstanding anything in section 166(1) to (6) of the Criminal Procedure (Scotland) Act 1995 (requirements as to notices of previous convictions).

Absent defendants

MCA 1980 s.11: Non-appearance of accused: general provisions

s.11(4) - in proceedings to which this subsection applies, the court shall not in a person’s absence impose any disqualification on him, except on resumption of the hearing after an adjournment under section 10(3) above; and where a trial is adjourned in pursuance of this subsection the notice required by section 10(2) above shall include notice of the reason for the adjournment.

Purpose of disqualification

…disqualification has a dual role or function. First, it is part of the penalty, as is clear from the sentencing guidelines, and the level of culpability is relevant to the length of disqualification. Second, it has an important preventative element…Thus when assessing the appropriate length of disqualification, the court looks backwards as well as forwards… (Haddon-Cave J, at [13])

Punishment

RTOA 1988 s.33: Fine and imprisonment

s.33(1) - where a person is convicted of an offence against a provision of the Traffic Acts specified in column 1 of Part I of Schedule 2 to this Act or regulations made under any such provision, the maximum punishment by way of fine or imprisonment which may be imposed on him is that shown in column 4 against the offence and (where appropriate) the circumstances or the mode of trial there specified.

Conspiracy

R. v Langley [2014] EWCA Crim 1284

In R. v Devine (1990) 12 Cr App R 235 the court held that there was a power to disqualify in a conspiracy case. That was under the 1973 Act. Section 147(6) was in similar terms to its equivalent under the 1973 Act, and so it followed that there was a power to disqualify under s.147 in conspiracy cases. In the instant case, however, it was in any event open to the court to disqualify using section 146, as had been done at first instance.

Interpretation

s.147A(9) - the Secretary of State may by order—

(a) if the amending order makes provision in respect of section 244(3)(a) of that Act, provide that the proportion specified in subsection (4)(h) of this section is to be read, in the case of a custodial sentence to which the amending order applies, as a reference to the new proportion;

(b) if the amending order makes provision in respect of section 247(2) of that Act, provide that the proportion specified in subsection (4)(e) and (f) of this section is to be read, in the case of a custodial sentence to which the amending order applies, as a reference to the new proportion.

s.147A(10) - in this section—

“amending order” means an order under section 267 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (alteration by order of relevant proportion of sentence);

(b) at the time of sentencing for the offence, a custodial sentence imposed on the person on an earlier occasion has not expired.

s.147B(2) - in determining the period for which the person is to be disqualified under section 146 or 147, the court must have regard to the consideration in subsection (3) if and to the extent that it is appropriate to do so.

s.147B(3) - the consideration is the diminished effect of disqualification as a distinct punishment if the person who is disqualified is also detained in pursuance of a custodial sentence.

s.147B(4) - if the court proposes to order the person to be disqualified under section 146 or 147 and to impose a custodial sentence for the same offence, the court may not in relation to that disqualification take that custodial sentence into account for the purposes of subsection (2).

s.147B(5) - in this section “suspended sentence” has the same meaning as in section 147A.

3.7.7.2. Number of points to be taken into account

Determining the number of points

RTOA 1988 s.29: Penalty points to be taken into account on conviction s.29(1) - where a person is convicted of an offence involving obligatory endorsement, the penalty points to be taken into account on that occasion are (subject to subsection (2) below)—

(a) any that are to be attributed to the offence or offences of which he is convicted, disregarding any offence in respect of which an order under section 34 of this Act is made, and

(b) any that were on a previous occasion ordered to be endorsed on the counterpart of any licence held by him or on his driving record, unless the offender has since that occasion and before the conviction been disqualified under section 35 of this Act.

s.29(2) - if any of the offences was committed more than three years before another, the penalty points in respect of that offence shall not be added to those in respect of the other.

Note: The effect is that (a) points are not taken into account where an order for obligatory or discretionary disqualification is made and (b) a “totting up” disqualification erases penalty points. The relevant date for “wiping the slate clean” is the date of sentence, not conviction, see R. v Brentwood Justices ex parte Richardson (1992) 95 Cr. App. R. 187.

3.7.11. Special reasons

No duty to order endorsement/disqualification where special reasons exist

RTOA 1988 s.34\(^{1632}\): Disqualification for certain offences

s.34(1) - where a person is convicted of an offence involving obligatory disqualification, the court must order him to be disqualified for such period not less than twelve months as the court thinks fit unless the court for special reasons thinks fit to order him to be disqualified for a shorter period or not to order him to be disqualified.

s.44(1) - Where a person is convicted of an offence involving obligatory endorsement, the court must order there to be endorsed on the counterpart of any licence held by him particulars of the conviction and also—

(a) if the court orders him to be disqualified, particulars of the disqualification, or

   (i) particulars of the offence, including the date when it was committed, and
   (ii) the penalty points to be attributed to the offence.

s.44(2) - where the court does not order the person convicted to be disqualified, it need not make an order under subsection (1) above if for special reasons it thinks fit not to do so.

Test to apply

R. v Wickins (1958) 42 Cr. App. R. 236

…the most important of the other cases to which the learned Recorder referred is Whittall v Kirby [1947] K.B. 194... “A ‘special reason’ within the exception is one which is special to the facts of the particular case, that is, in other words, a mitigating or extenuating circumstance, not amounting in law to a defence to the charge, yet directly connected with the commission of the offence, and one which the court ought properly to take into consideration when imposing punishment.”

If one takes the essence of that definition, there are four conditions there laid down which have to be satisfied.

The first is that it must be a mitigating or an extenuating circumstance…

The next is that it must not amount in law to a defence to the charge…

The third is that it must be directly connected with the commission of the offence…

The fourth is that the matter is one which the court ought properly to take into consideration when imposing punishment. (Devlin J, at pp.239-240)

3.7.12. Interaction of driving disqualifications with other sentencing orders

Absolute and conditional discharge

PCC(S)A 2000 s.12\(^ {1634} \): Absolute and conditional discharge

s.12(7) - nothing prevents a court from imposing in addition to a discharge: any disqualification

RTOA 1988 s.46\(^ {1635} \): Combination of disqualification and endorsement with probation orders and orders for discharge

s.46(1) - notwithstanding anything in PCC(S)A 2000 s.14(3) (conviction of defendant discharged to be disregarded for the purposes of enactments relating to disqualification), a court in England and Wales which on convicting a person of an offence involving obligatory or discretionary disqualification makes: (b) an order discharging him absolutely or conditionally, may on that occasion also exercise any power conferred, and must also discharge any duty imposed, on the court by RTOA 1988 ss.34 (disqualification), 35 (disqualification for repeated offences), 36 (disqualification until test is passed), 44 (endorsement) or 44A (endorsement in accordance with order)

s.46(2) - a conviction—

(a) in respect of which a court in England and Wales has ordered a person to be disqualified, or

(b) of which particulars have been endorsed on the counterpart of any licence held by him or on his driving record, is to be taken into account, notwithstanding anything in section 14(1) of the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 (conviction of offender discharged to be disregarded for the purpose of subsequent proceedings), in determining his liability to punishment or disqualification for any offence involving obligatory or discretionary disqualification committed subsequently.

s.46(3) - where—

(a) a person is charged in Scotland with an offence involving obligatory or discretionary disqualification, and

(b) the court makes an order in respect of the offence under 246(2) or (3) (absolute discharge) of the Criminal Procedure (Scotland) Act 1995, then, for the purposes of sections 34, 35, 36, 44, 45 and 45A of this Act, he shall be treated as if he had been convicted of an offence of the kind in question and section 247 of that Act shall not apply.

Fixed penalties

RTOA 1988 s.30: Penalty points: modification where fixed penalty also in question s.30(1) - Sections 28 and 29 of this Act shall have effect subject to this section in any case where—

(a) a person is convicted of an offence involving obligatory endorsement, and

(b) the court is satisfied that the counterpart of his licence or his driving record has been or is liable to be endorsed under section 57, 57A, 77 or 77A of this Act in respect of an offence (referred to in this section as the “connected offence”) committed on the same occasion as the offence of which he is convicted.

s.30(2) - the number of penalty points to be attributed to the offence of which he is convicted is—

(a) the number of penalty points to be attributed to that offence under section 28 of this Act apart from this section, less

(b) the number of penalty points required to be endorsed on the counterpart of his licence or on his driving record under section 57, 57A, 77 or 77A of this Act in respect of the connected offence (except so far as they have already been deducted by virtue of this paragraph).

Totting up and disqualification until test is passed

Magistrates’ Courts Sentencing Guidelines, Sentencing Guidelines Council p.185

15. An offender disqualified as a ‘totter’ under the penalty points provisions may also be ordered to retake a driving test; in this case, the extended test applies.

Discretionary disqualification and totting up

Magistrates’ Courts Sentencing Guidelines, Sentencing Guidelines Council p.185

12. In some cases in which the court is considering discretionary disqualification, the offender may already have sufficient penalty points on his or her licence that he or she would be liable to a ‘totting up’ disqualification if further points were imposed. In these circumstances, the court should impose penalty points rather than discretionary disqualification so that the minimum totting up disqualification period applies […]

Disqualification until test is passed and revocation of new drivers’ licences

para.10 - where—

(a) a person’s test certificate has been revoked under paragraph 5 (or a person’s Northern Ireland test certificate has been revoked under a provision of Northern Ireland law corresponding to paragraph 5(1) or (1ZA)) or his licence and test certificate have been revoked under paragraph 8 (or a person’s Northern Ireland test certificate has been revoked under a provision of Northern Ireland law corresponding to paragraph 8(1) or (1ZA)).
licence and Northern Ireland test certificate have been revoked under a provision of Northern Ireland law corresponding to paragraph 8(1) or (1ZA)); but

(b) before he passes a relevant driving test, an order is made in relation to him under section 36 of the Road Traffic Offenders Act 1988 (disqualification until test is passed), paragraph 6(1) or, as the case may be, paragraph 9(1) shall not apply to him.

Endorsement and obligatory disqualification

If a court imposes a sentence of disqualification from driving, it cannot order penalty points to be endorsed.

Note: See also the decision in R. v Usaceva [2015] EWCA Crim 166 which held that the decision in R. v Kent [1983] 1 W.L.R. 794; (1983) 77 Cr. App. R. 120; (1983) 5 Cr. App. R. (S,) 171, decided under the Road Traffic Act 1972 then in force, to the effect that, if a court imposed an obligatory sentence of disqualification from driving, it could not also order penalty points to be endorsed on an offender’s licence, would apply to the currently in force Road Traffic Offenders Act 1988

RTOA 1988 s.37\(^{1641}\) : Effect of order of disqualification

s.37(3) - notwithstanding anything in Part III of the Road Traffic Act 1988, a person disqualified by an order of a court under section 36 of this Act is (unless he is also disqualified otherwise than by virtue of such an order) entitled to obtain and to hold a provisional licence and to drive a motor vehicle in accordance with the conditions subject to which the provisional licence is granted.

Determining whether to make a destruction order or a contingent destruction order

The relevant principles that can be made in respect of a dog whose owner has been convicted under s.3(1) of the 1991 Act of failing to keep a dog under control in a public place are that:

(1) The court is empowered under s.4(1) of the 1991 Act to order the destruction of the dog.

(2) Nothing in that provision shall require the court to order destruction if the court is satisfied that the dog would not constitute a danger to public safety: s.4(1)(a) of the 1991 Act.

(3) The court should ordinarily consider, before ordering immediate destruction, whether to exercise the power under s.4(a)(4) of the 1991 Act to order that, unless the owner of the dog keeps it under proper control, the dog shall be destroyed (“a suspended order of destruction”).

(4) A suspended order of destruction under that provision may specify the measures to be taken by the owner for keeping the dog under control whether by muzzling, keeping it on a lead, or excluding it from a specified place or otherwise: see s.4(a)(5) of the 1991 Act.

(5) A court should not order destruction if satisfied that the imposition of such a condition would mean the dog would not constitute a danger to public safety.

(6) In deciding what order to make, the court must consider all the relevant circumstances which include the dog's history of aggressive behaviour and the owner's history of controlling the dog concerned in order to determine what order should be made. (Silber J, at [11])

Terminating the disqualification

DDA 1991 s.4: Destruction and disqualification orders

s.4(6) - any person who is disqualified for having custody of a dog by virtue of an order under subsection (1)(b) above may, at any time after the end of the period of one year beginning with the date of the order, apply to the court that made it (or a magistrates' court acting in the same local justice area as that court) for a direction terminating the disqualification.

Power to dispose of the application to terminate the disqualification

s.4(7) - on an application under subsection (6) above the court may—

(a) having regard to the applicant's character, his conduct since the disqualification was imposed and any other circumstances of the case, grant or refuse the application; and

(b) order the applicant to pay all or any part of the costs of the application; and where an application in respect of an order is refused no further application in respect of that order shall be entertained if made before the end of the period of one year beginning with the date of the refusal.

3.8.3.2. Breach

s.4(8) - any person who—

(a) has custody of a dog in contravention of an order under subsection (1)(b) above; or

(b) fails to comply with a requirement imposed on him under subsection (4)(a) above, is guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale.

3.8.3.3. Stand-alone orders

Destruction order

DDA 1991 s.4B: Destruction orders otherwise than on a conviction

s.4B(1) - where a dog is seized under section 5(1) or (2) below or in exercise of a power of seizure conferred by any other enactment and it appears to a justice of the peace, or in Scotland a justice of the peace or sheriff—

(a) that no person has been or is to be prosecuted for an offence under this Act or an order under section 2 above in respect of that dog (whether because the owner cannot be found or for any other reason); or

(b) that the dog cannot be released into the custody or possession of its owner without the owner contravening the prohibition in section 1(3) above, he may order the destruction of the dog and, subject to subsection (2) below, shall do so if it is one to which section 1 above applies.

1699 Commencement: 8 June 1997, DD(A)A 1997 s.3(1), SI 1997/1151 art.2. s.4B(2) - nothing in subsection (1)(b) above shall require the justice or sheriff to order the destruction of a dog if he is satisfied—
   (a) that the dog would not constitute a danger to public safety; and
   (b) where the dog was born before 30th November 1991 and is subject to the prohibition in section 1(3) above, that there is a good reason why the dog has not been exempted from that prohibition.

s.4B(2A) - for the purposes of subsection (2)(a), when deciding whether a dog would constitute a danger to public safety, the justice or sheriff—
   (a) must consider—
      (i) the temperament of the dog and its past behaviour, and
      (ii) whether the owner of the dog, or the person for the time being in charge of it, is a fit and proper person to be in charge of the dog, and
   (b) may consider any other relevant circumstances.
3.8.4. Dogs: Contingent destruction orders

3.8.4.1. Stand-alone orders

Destruction order

s.4B(1) - where a dog is seized under section 5(1) or (2) below or in exercise of a power of seizure conferred by any other enactment and it appears to a justice of the peace, or in Scotland a justice of the peace or sheriff—

(a) that no person has been or is to be prosecuted for an offence under this Act or an order under section 2 above in respect of that dog (whether because the owner cannot be found or for any other reason); or

(b) that the dog cannot be released into the custody or possession of its owner without the owner contravening the prohibition in section 1(3) above,

he may order the destruction of the dog and, subject to subsection (2) below, shall do so if it is one to which section 1 above applies.

s.4B(2) - nothing in subsection (1)(b) above shall require the justice or sheriff to order the destruction of a dog if he is satisfied—

(a) that the dog would not constitute a danger to public safety; and

(b) where the dog was born before 30th November 1991 and is subject to the prohibition in section 1(3) above, that there is a good reason why the dog has not been exempted from that prohibition.

s.4B(2A) - for the purposes of subsection (2)(a), when deciding whether a dog would constitute a danger to public safety, the justice or sheriff—

(a) must consider—

(i) the temperament of the dog and its past behaviour, and

(ii) whether the owner of the dog, or the person for the time being in charge of it, is a fit and proper person to be in charge of the dog, and

(b) may consider any other relevant circumstances.

Contingent destruction order

DDA 1991 s.4B: Destruction orders otherwise than on a conviction

s.4B(3) - where in a case falling within subsection (1)(b) above the justice or sheriff does not order the destruction of the dog, he shall order that, unless the dog is exempted from the prohibition in section 1(3) above within the requisite period, the dog shall be destroyed.

s.4B(4) - Subsections (2) to (4) of section 4 above shall apply in relation to an order under subsection (1)(b) or (3) above as they apply in relation to an order under subsection (1)(a) of that section.

“Requisite period” etc.

s.4B(5) - Subsections (2) and (3) of section 4A above shall apply in relation to an order under subsection (3) above as they apply in relation to an order under subsection (1) of that section, except that the reference to the court in subsection (2) of that section shall be construed as a reference to the justice or sheriff.

Note: See R. (Ali) v Chief Constable of Merseyside [2014] EWHC 4772 (Admin): Where the court made a contingent destruction order in respect of a prohibited dog and the owner complied with the contingency by obtaining an exemption from the prohibition in the Dangerous Dogs Act 1991 s.1(3) within the requisite period, the police could not, as they had in the instant cases, summarily destroy the dogs because they believed that the exemption had ceased to exist. Where that was the case, the police would have to apply to the court for a destruction order.

3.8.4.2. Post-conviction orders

Mandatory order

DDA 1991 s.4A: Contingent destruction orders

s.4A(1) - where:

(b) the court does not order the destruction of the dog under section 4(1)(a) above; and the court shall order that, unless the dog is exempted from that prohibition within the requisite period, the dog shall be destroyed.

(c) in the case of an offence under section 1 above, the dog is subject to the prohibition in section 1(3) above.

Keeping dogs under proper control: Discretionary order

DDA 1991 s.4A: Contingent destruction orders

The “requisite period”

s.4A(3) - subject to subsection (2) above, the requisite period for the purposes of such an order is the period of two months beginning with the date of the order.

The contents of the order

s.4A(5) - an order under subsection (4) above—

(a) may specify the measures to be taken for keeping the dog under proper control, whether by muzzling, keeping on a lead, excluding it from specified places or otherwise; and

(b) if it appears to the court that the dog is a male and would be less dangerous if neutered, may require it to be neutered.

(a) appoint a person to undertake the destruction of the dog and require any person having custody of it to deliver it up for that purpose; and

Determining whether to make a destruction order or a contingent destruction order

The relevant principles that can be made in respect of a dog whose owner has been convicted under s.3(1) of the 1991 Act of failing to keep a dog under control in a public place are that:

(1) The court is empowered under s.4(1) of the 1991 Act to order the destruction of the dog.

(2) Nothing in that provision shall require the court to order destruction if the court is satisfied that the dog would not constitute a danger to public safety: s.4(1)(a) of the 1991 Act.

(3) The court should ordinarily consider, before ordering immediate destruction, whether to exercise the power under s.4(a)(4) of the 1991 Act to order that, unless the owner of the dog keeps it under proper control, the dog shall be destroyed (“a suspended order of destruction”).

(4) A suspended order of destruction under that provision may specify the measures to be taken by the owner for keeping the dog under control whether by muzzling, keeping it on a lead, or excluding it from a specified place or otherwise: see s.4(a)(5) of the 1991 Act.

(5) A court should not order destruction if satisfied that the imposition of such a condition would mean the dog would not constitute a danger to public safety.

(6) In deciding what order to make, the court must consider all the relevant circumstances which include the dog's history of aggressive behaviour and the owner's history of controlling the dog concerned in order to determine what order should be made. (Silber J, at [11])

DDA 1991 s.4: Destruction and disqualification orders

Part 3.9 – Consequences of conviction

CTA 2008 s.61: References to a person being “dealt with” for an offence s.61(1) - references in this Part to a person being dealt with for or in respect of an offence are to their being sentenced, or made subject to a hospital order, in respect of the offence. References in this Part to an offence being dealt with are to a person being dealt with in respect of the offence.

s.61(2) - subject to the following provisions of this section, references in this Part to the time at which a person is dealt with for an offence are to the time at which they are first dealt with—

(a) in England and Wales, by a magistrates’ court or the Crown Court;

This is referred to below as “the original decision”.

s.61(3) - where the original decision is varied (on appeal or otherwise), then—

(a) if the result is that the conditions for application of the notification requirements to a person in respect of an offence cease to be met (and paragraph (c) below does not apply), the notification requirements are treated as never having applied to that person in respect of that offence;

(b) if the result is that the conditions for application of the notification requirements to a person in respect of an offence are met where they were not previously met (and paragraph (c) below does not apply)—

(i) the person is treated as dealt with for the offence when the variation takes place, and

(ii) the notification requirements apply accordingly;

(c) if—

(i) a conviction of, or finding in relation to, a different offence is substituted, and

(ii) the conditions for application of the notification requirements were met in respect of the original offence and are also met in respect of the substituted offence, the person is treated as if they had been dealt with for the substituted offence at the time of the original decision;

(d) if the sentence is varied so as to become one by virtue of which the notification requirements would apply for a different period, the period for which those requirements apply shall be determined as if the sentence as varied had been imposed at the time of the original decision;

(e) in any other case, the variation is disregarded.

s.61(4) - for the purposes of—

(a) section 41(5) (effect of order adding offence to list of terrorism offences),

(b) section 44(a) or paragraph 4(a) of Schedule 6 (persons subject to notification requirements: age when dealt with for offence),

(c) section 46(2) or paragraph 6(2) of Schedule 6 (effect of order reducing term or period triggering notification requirements),

Commencement: 1 October 2009, SI 2009/1493 art.2(a).
(d) section 53(5)(b) or paragraph 7(5)(b) of Schedule 6 (period for which notification requirements apply: ending of period resulting from finding of disability etc where person subsequently tried), and

(e) paragraph 2(3) of Schedule 5 (conditions for making foreign travel restriction order: behaviour since offence dealt with), a person is treated as dealt with at the time of the original decision and any subsequent variation of the decision is disregarded.

s.61(5) - for the purposes of—

(a) section 43(1) and (2) or paragraph 3(1) and (2) of Schedule 6 (application of Part to offences dealt with before commencement), and

(b) paragraph 2(4) of Schedule 5 (conditions for making foreign travel restriction order where offence dealt with before commencement), a person is dealt with for an offence before the commencement of this Part if the time of the original decision falls before the commencement of this Part.

Where in such a case subsection (3) above applies for the purposes of any provision of this Part, that subsection has effect as if the provisions of this Part had been in force at all material times.

s.61(6) - in section 47(6) (adaptation of initial notification requirements in case of offence dealt with before commencement)—

(a) the reference in the opening words to an offence dealt with before the commencement of this Part is to an offence where the time of the original decision falls before the commencement of this Part, and

(b) the reference in the closing words to when the offence is dealt with has the same meaning as in subsection (1) of that section.

s.61(7) - references in this section to the variation of a decision include any proceedings by which the decision is altered, set aside or quashed, or in which a further decision is come to following the setting aside or quashing of the decision.

3.10.1. Automatic liability for deportation

3.10.1.1. The duty to make a deportation order

Duty to make deportation order

UKBA 2007 s.32: Automatic deportation

s.32(1) - in this section “foreign criminal” means a person—
(a) who is not a British citizen,
(b) who is convicted in the United Kingdom of an offence, and
(c) to whom Condition 1 or 2 applies.

s.32(2) - condition 1 is that the person is sentenced to a period of imprisonment of at least 12 months.

s.32(3) - condition 2 is that—
(a) the offence is specified by order of the Secretary of State under section 72(4)(a) of the Nationality, Immigration and Asylum Act 2002 (c. 41) (serious criminal), and
(b) the person is sentenced to a period of imprisonment.

s.32(4) - for the purpose of section 3(5)(a) of the Immigration Act 1971 (c. 77), the deportation of a foreign criminal is conducive to the public good.

s.32(5) - the Secretary of State must make a deportation order in respect of a foreign criminal (subject to section 33).

s.32(6) - the Secretary of State may not revoke a deportation order made in accordance with subsection (5) unless—
(a) he thinks that an exception under section 33 applies,
(b) the application for revocation is made while the foreign criminal is outside the United Kingdom, or
(c) section 34(4) applies.

s.32(7) - subsection (5) does not create a private right of action in respect of consequences of non-compliance by the Secretary of State.

1807 Commencement: 1 August 2008, in respect of a person to whom Condition 1 (within the meaning of UKBA 2007 s.32) applies, SI 2008/1818 art.2(a) and Sch.1.
Exceptions to the duty to make an order

UKBA 2007 s.33\(^{1808}\). Exceptions

s.33(1) - Section 32(4) and (5)—
(a) do not apply where an exception in this section applies (subject to subsection (7) below), and
(b) are subject to sections 7 and 8 of the Immigration Act 1971 (Commonwealth citizens, Irish citizens, crew and other exemptions).

s.33(2) - exception 1 is where removal of the foreign criminal in pursuance of the deportation order would breach—
(a) a person’s Convention rights, or
(b) the United Kingdom’s obligations under the Refugee Convention.

s.33(3) - exception 2 is where the Secretary of State thinks that the foreign criminal was under the age of 18 on the date of conviction.

s.33(4) - exception 3 is where the removal of the foreign criminal from the United Kingdom in pursuance of a deportation order would breach rights of the foreign criminal under the [EU] treaties.

s.33(5) - exception 4 is where the foreign criminal—
(a) is the subject of a certificate under section 2 or 70 of the Extradition Act 2003 (c. 41),
(b) is in custody pursuant to arrest under section 5 of that Act,
(c) is the subject of a provisional warrant under section 73 of that Act,
(d) is the subject of an authority to proceed under section 7 of the Extradition Act 1989 (c. 33) or an order under paragraph 4(2) of Schedule 1 to that Act, or
(e) is the subject of a provisional warrant under section 8 of that Act or of a warrant under paragraph 5(1)(b) of Schedule 1 to that Act.

s.33(6) - exception 5 is where any of the following has effect in respect of the foreign criminal—
(a) a hospital order or guardianship order under section 37 of the Mental Health Act 1983 (c. 20),
(b) a hospital direction under section 45A of that Act,
(c) a transfer direction under section 47 of that Act,
(e) a guardianship order under section 58 of that Act,
(f) a hospital direction under section 59A of that Act, s.33(6A) - exception 6 is where the Secretary of State thinks that the application of section 32(4) and (5) would contravene the United Kingdom’s obligations under the Council of Europe Convention on Action against Trafficking in Human Beings (done at Warsaw on 16th May 2005).

\(^{1808}\) Commencement: 1 August 2008, in respect of a person to whom Condition 1 (within the meaning of UKBA 2007 s.32) applies, SI 2008/1818 art.2(a) and Sch.1.
s.33(7) - the application of an exception—
   (a) does not prevent the making of a deportation order;
   (b) results in it being assumed neither that deportation of the person concerned is conducive to the public good nor that it is not conducive to the public good; but section 32(4) applies despite the application of Exception 1 or 4.

No useful purpose would be served in making a recommendation where automatic deportation applies.

Rearranging sentences to avoid deportation

Note: This is an example of a case where the defence suggested the sentences be rearranged to avoid the deportation provisions and having regard to the age of the offending and the fact that “deportation was never in the judge’s mind”, the Court of Appeal acceded to the request.

R. v Mintchev [2011] EWCA Crim 499
As a matter of principle it would not be right to reduce an otherwise appropriate sentence so as to avoid the provisions of the UK Borders Act 2007 because: (a) sentences are intended to be commensurate with the seriousness of the offence, (b) when passing sentence a judge is neither entitled not obliged to reach a contrived result so as to avoid the operation of a statutory provision and (c) automatic deportation provisions are not a penalty included in the sentence. They are instead a consequence of the sentence.

Deportation order may not be made while appeal pending

UKBA 2007 s.34\footnote{Commencement: 1 August 2008, in respect of a person to whom Condition 1 (within the meaning of UKBA 2007 s.32) applies, SI 2008/1818 art.2(a) and Sch.1.}: Timing

s.34(1) - Section 32(5) requires a deportation order to be made at a time chosen by the Secretary of State.

s.34(2) - a deportation order may not be made under section 32(5) while an appeal or further appeal against the conviction or sentence by reference to which the order is to be made—
   (a) has been instituted and neither withdrawn nor determined, or
   (b) could be brought.

s.34(3) - for the purpose of subsection (2)(b)—
   (a) the possibility of an appeal out of time with permission shall be disregarded, and
   (b) a person who has informed the Secretary of State in writing that the person does not intend to appeal shall be treated as being no longer able to appeal.
Secretary of State may withdraw decision or revoke order

UKBA 2007 s.34: Timing

s.34(4) - the Secretary of State may withdraw a decision that section 32(5) applies, or revoke a deportation order made in accordance with section 32(5), for the purpose of—

(a) taking action under the Immigration Acts or rules made under section 3 of the Immigration Act 1971 (c. 77) (immigration rules), and

(b) subsequently taking a new decision that section 32(5) applies and making a deportation order in accordance with section 32(5).

Detention pending deportation

UKBA 2007 s.36: Detention

s.36(1) - a person who has served a period of imprisonment may be detained under the authority of the Secretary of State—

(a) while the Secretary of State considers whether section 32(5) applies, and

(b) where the Secretary of State thinks that section 32(5) applies, pending the making of the deportation order.

s.36(2) - where a deportation order is made in accordance with section 32(5) the Secretary of State shall exercise the power of detention under paragraph 2(3) of Schedule 3 to the Immigration Act 1971 (c. 77) (detention pending removal) unless in the circumstances the Secretary of State thinks it inappropriate.

s.36(3) - a court determining an appeal against conviction or sentence may direct release from detention under subsection (1) or (2).

s.36(4) - provisions of the Immigration Act 1971 which apply to detention under paragraph 2(3) of Schedule 3 to that Act shall apply to detention under subsection (1) (including provisions about bail).

s.36(5) - Paragraph 2(5) of Schedule 3 to that Act (residence, occupation and reporting restrictions) applies to a person who is liable to be detained under subsection (1).

Family members of the “foreign criminal”

UKBA 2007 s.37: Family

s.37(1) - where a deportation order against a foreign criminal states that it is made in accordance with section 32(5) (“the automatic deportation order”) this section shall have effect in place of the words from “A deportation order” to “after the making of the deportation order against him” in section 5(3) of the Immigration Act 1971 (period during which family members may also be deported).

1810 Commencement: 1 August 2008, in respect of a person to whom Condition 1 (within the meaning of UKBA 2007 s.32) applies, SI 2008/1818 art.2(a) and Sch.1.

1811 Commencement: 1 August 2008, in respect of a person to whom Condition 1 (within the meaning of UKBA 2007 s.32) applies, SI 2008/1818 art.2(a) and Sch.1.

1812 Commencement: 1 August 2008, in respect of a person to whom Condition 1 (within the meaning of UKBA 2007 s.32) applies, SI 2008/1818 art.2(a) and Sch.1.
s.37(2) - a deportation order may not be made against a person as belonging to the family of the foreign criminal after the end of the relevant period of 8 weeks.

s.37(3) - in the case of a foreign criminal who has not appealed in respect of the automatic deportation order, the relevant period begins when an appeal can no longer be brought (ignoring any possibility of an appeal out of time with permission).

s.37(4) - in the case of a foreign criminal who has appealed in respect of the automatic deportation order, the relevant period begins when the appeal is no longer pending (within the meaning of section 104 of the Nationality, Immigration and Asylum Act 2002 (c. 41)).

IA 1971 s.5\textsuperscript{1813}: Procedure for, and further provisions as to, deportation

s.5(3) - a deportation order shall not be made against a person as belonging to the family of another person if more than eight weeks have elapsed since the other person left the United Kingdom after the making of the deportation order against him; and a deportation order made against a person on [the ground that they belong to the family of another person] shall cease to have effect if he ceases to belong to the family of the other person, or if the deportation order made against the other person ceases to have effect.

Note: The wording underlined in s.5(3) is the wording removed by s.37(1).\textsuperscript{1814}

3.10.1.2. Appeals

UKBA 2007 s.35\textsuperscript{1815}: Appeal s.35(1) - the Nationality, Immigration and Asylum Act 2002 (c. 41) is amended as follows.

s.35(2) - at the end of section 79 (no deportation order pending appeal) add–

“(3) This section does not apply to a deportation order which states that it is made in accordance with section 32(5) of the UK Borders Act 2007.

(4) But a deportation order made in reliance on subsection (3) does not invalidate leave to enter or remain, in accordance with section 5(1) of the Immigration Act 1971, if and for so long as section 78 above applies.”

\textsuperscript{1814} s.37 is only partially in force (see footnote 12 above) and so it is necessary to retain IA 1971 s.5 and the underlined text as that text is only removed where s.37 applies.

\textsuperscript{1815} Commencement: 1 August 2008, in respect of a person to whom Condition 1 (within the meaning of UKBA 2007 s.32) applies, SI 2008/1818 art.2(a) and Sch.1.
3.10.1.3. Interpretation etc.

s.38(1) - in section 32(2) the reference to a person who is sentenced to a period of imprisonment of at least 12 months–

3.10.2. Recommendation for deportation

3.10.2.1. General

The use of other powers to deport foreign criminals

R. (Dragoman) v Camberwell Green Magistrates' Court [2012] EWHC 4105 (Admin)
The court imposed a community order with a requirement for the defendant to leave the UK for 12 months. The High Court held that there was no such power. The suggestion was that other powers should not be used to “ban” individuals from the UK.

Automatic deportation applies: Do not make a recommendation

No useful purpose would be served in making a recommendation where automatic deportation applies.

Recommendations should now be rare

[...] [I]t will rarely be that either [the Nazari\textsuperscript{1818} and Bouchereau\textsuperscript{1819} tests are] satisfied in the case of an offender none of whose offences merits a custodial sentence of 12 months or more. An offender who repeatedly commits minor offences could conceivably do so, as could a person who commits a single offence involving for example the possession or use of false identity documents for which he receives a custodial sentence of less than 12 months [...] But we repeat that such cases will be rare; and we observe that even if a court makes no recommendation for an offender’s deportation, the Secretary of State may nevertheless deport him if he deems this conducive to the public good. (Maddison J, at [27], giving the judgment of the court)

A recommendation does not form part of the punishment of the offender. A reduction is sentence is not due just because a recommendation has been made.

\textsuperscript{1818} R. v Nazari [1980] 1 W.L.R. 1366; [1980] 3 All E.R. 880: The test was “does the potential detriment to this country justify the recommendation for deportation of this appellant?”. In R. v Kluxen [2010] EWCA Crim 1081; [2011] 1 Cr. App. R. (S.) 39 (p.249) it was said that the domestic courts have since viewed the Nazari and Bouchereau tests as being, for all practical purposes, the same.

\textsuperscript{1819} R. v Bouchereau [1978] Q.B. 732: The test was “whether or not a full enquiry into the circumstances reveals that a genuine and sufficiently serious threat to the requirements of public policy has affected the fundamental interests of society.” In R. v Kluxen [2010] EWCA Crim 1081; [2011] 1 Cr. App. R. (S.) 39 (p.249) it was said that the domestic courts have since viewed the Nazari and Bouchereau tests as being, for all practical purposes, the same.

(b) the question whether an offence is one for which a person is punishable with imprisonment shall be determined without regard to any enactment restricting the imprisonment of young offenders or persons who have not previously been sentenced to imprisonment; and for purposes of deportation a person who on being charged with an offence is found to have committed it shall, notwithstanding any enactment to the contrary and notwithstanding that the court does not proceed to conviction, be regarded as a person convicted of the offence, and references to conviction shall be construed accordingly.

Exceptions and exemptions

IA 1971 s.7\(^{1822}\): Exemption from deportation for certain existing residents

s.7(1) - notwithstanding anything in section 3(5) or (6) above but subject to the provisions of this section, a Commonwealth citizen or citizen of the Republic of Ireland who was such a citizen at the coming into force of this Act and was then ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom—

(b) shall not be liable to deportation under section 3(5) if at the time of the Secretary of State’s decision he had for the last five years been ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom and Islands;

s.7(3) - the “last five years” before the material time under subsection (1)(b) or (c) above is to be taken as a period amounting in total to five years exclusive of any time during which the person claiming exemption under this section was undergoing imprisonment or detention by virtue of a sentence passed for an offence on a conviction in the United Kingdom and Islands, and the period for which he was imprisoned or detained by virtue of the sentence amounted to six months or more.

s.7(4) - for purposes of subsection (3) above—

(b) two or more sentences for consecutive (or partly consecutive) terms shall be treated as a single sentence; and
(c) a person shall be deemed to be detained by virtue of a sentence—
(i) at any time when he is liable to imprisonment or detention by virtue of the sentence, but is unlawfully at large; and
(ii) (unless the sentence is passed after the material time) during any period of custody by which under any relevant enactment the term to be served under the sentence is reduced.

In paragraph (c)(ii) above “relative enactment” means section 240, 240ZA or 240A of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (or, before that section operated, section 17(2) of the Criminal Justice Administration Act 1962) and any similar enactment which is for the time being or has (before or after the passing of this Act) been in force in any part of the United Kingdom and Islands.

s.7(5) - nothing in this section shall be taken to exclude the operation of section 3(8) above in relation to an exemption under this section.

IA 1971 s.8: Exceptions for seamen, aircrews and other special cases s.8(2) - the Secretary of State may by order exempt any person or class of persons, either unconditionally or subject to such conditions as may be imposed by or under the order, from all or any of the provisions of this Act relating to those who are not British citizens.

An order under this subsection, if made with respect to a class of persons, shall be made by statutory instrument, which shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

s.8(3) - subject to subsection (3A) below, the provisions of this Act relating to those who are not British citizens shall not apply to any person so long as he is a member of a mission (within the meaning of the Diplomatic Privileges Act 1964), a person who is a member of the family and forms part of the household of such a member, or a person otherwise entitled to the like immunity from jurisdiction as is conferred by that Act on a diplomatic agent.

s.8(3A) - for the purposes of subsection (3), a member of a mission other than a diplomatic agent (as defined by the 1964 Act) is not to count as a member of a mission unless—
(a) he was resident outside the United Kingdom, and was not in the United Kingdom, when he was offered a post as such a member; and
(b) he has not ceased to be such a member after having taken up the post.

s.8(5A) - an order under subsection (2) above may, as regards any person or class of persons to whom it applies, provide for that person or class to be in specified circumstances regarded (notwithstanding the order) as settled in the United Kingdom for the purposes of section 1(1) of the British Nationality Act 1981.
Power to order

IA 1971 s.6\(^{1823}\): Recommendations by court for deportation

s.6(1) - where under section 3(6) above a person convicted of an offence is liable to deportation on the recommendation of a court, he may be recommended for deportation by any court having power to sentence him for the offence unless the court commits him to be sentenced or further dealt with for that offence by another court:

Proof of being a British citizen

IA 1971 s.3\(^{1824}\): General provisions for regulation and control s.3(8) - when any question arises under this Act whether or not a person is a British citizen, or is entitled to any exemption under this Act, it shall lie on the person asserting it to prove that he is.

3.10.2.3. Making the order

Defendant must be given seven days notice

IA 1971 s.6\(^{1825}\): Recommendations by court for deportation

s.6(2) - a court shall not recommend a person for deportation unless he has been given not less than seven days notice in writing stating that a person is not liable to deportation if he is a British citizen, describing the persons who are British citizens and stating (so far as material) the effect of section 3(8) above and section 7 below; but the powers of adjournment conferred by section 10(3) of the Magistrates’ Courts Act 1980, section 179 or 380 of the Criminal Procedure (Scotland) Act 1975 or any corresponding enactment for the time being in force in Northern Ireland shall include power to adjourn, after convicting an offender, for the purpose of enabling a notice to be given to him under this subsection or, if a notice was so given to him less than seven days previously, for the purpose of enabling the necessary seven days to elapse.

Human Rights Act 1998

There is now no need for a sentencing court to consider the Convention rights of an offender whose offence justifies a recommendation for deportation. The offender’s Convention rights will be considered if the Home Secretary makes an order for deportation against which the offender appeals to the Tribunal.

Giving reasons

It is imperative for the judge to spell out the reasons for making a recommendation.

3.10.2.4. European Union’s Directive

Article 27:

1. Subject to the provisions of this Chapter, Member States may restrict the freedom of movement and residence of Union citizens and their family members, irrespective of nationality, on grounds of public policy, public security or public health. These grounds shall not be invoked to serve economic ends.

2. Measures taken on grounds of public policy or public security shall comply with the principle of proportionality and shall be based exclusively on the personal conduct of the individual concerned. Previous criminal convictions shall not in themselves constitute grounds for taking such measures.

The personal conduct of the individual concerned must represent a genuine, present and sufficiently serious threat affecting one of the fundamental interests of society. Justifications that are isolated from the particulars of the case or that rely on considerations of general prevention shall not be accepted.

3. In order to ascertain whether the person concerned represents a danger for public policy or public security, when issuing the registration certificate or, in the absence of a registration system, not later than three months from the date of arrival of the person concerned on its territory or from the date of reporting his/her presence within the territory, as provided for in Article 5(5), or when issuing the residence card, the host Member State may, should it consider this essential, request the Member State of origin and, if need be, other Member States to provide information concerning any previous police record the person concerned may have. Such enquiries shall not be made as a matter of routine. The Member State consulted shall give its reply within two months.

4. The Member State which issued the passport or identity card shall allow the holder of the document who has been expelled on grounds of public policy, public security, or public health from another Member State to re-enter its territory without any formality even if the document is no longer valid or the nationality of the holder is in dispute.

3.10.2.5. Interaction with other sentencing orders

Conditional discharge

R. v Akan (1972) 56 Cr. App. R. 716

A recommendation for deportation can be made with a conditional discharge.

Imprisonment

R. v G [2011] EWCA Crim 3321

The provisions described as “automatic deportation” do not necessarily lead to deportation, they lead to a liability for deportation. Judges should not therefore impose a shorter sentence or sentence in a different nature from they would otherwise have passed on the basis that they have been informed that the offender is liable to automatic deportation.
Life imprisonment

IA 1971 s.6: Recommendations by court for deportation

s.6(4) - notwithstanding any rule of practice restricting the matters which ought to be taken into account in dealing with an offender who is sentenced to imprisonment, a recommendation for deportation may be made in respect of an offender who is sentenced to imprisonment for life.

3.10.2.6. Appeals

Recommendation is a sentence for purpose of appeals

IA 1971 s.6: Recommendations by court for deportation

s.6(5) - where a court recommends or purports to recommend a person for deportation, the validity of the recommendation shall not be called in question except on an appeal against the recommendation or against the conviction on which it is made; but—the recommendation shall be treated as a sentence for the purpose of any enactment providing an appeal against sentence.

Order suspended where appeal pending

IA 1971 s.6: Recommendations by court for deportation

s.6(6) - a deportation order shall not be made on the recommendation of a court so long as an appeal or further appeal is pending against the recommendation or against the conviction on which it was made; and for this purpose an appeal or further appeal shall be treated as pending (where one is competent but has not been brought) until the expiration of the time for bringing that appeal.

Appeal from magistrates’ court to Crown Court

Senior Courts Act 1981 s.48: Appeals to Crown Court

s.48(2) - On the termination of the hearing of an appeal the Crown Court:

(a) may confirm, reverse or vary the decision appealed against any part of the decision appealed against, including a determination not to impose a separate penalty in respect of an offence; or

(b) may remit the matter with its opinion thereon to the authority whose decision is appealed against; or

(c) may make such other order in the matter as the court thinks just, and by such order exercise any power which the said authority might have exercised.

s.48(3) - subsection (2) has effect subject to any enactment relating to any such appeal which expressly limits or restricts the powers of the court on the appeal.

s.48(4) - subject to section 11(6) of the Criminal Appeal Act 1995, if the appeal is against a conviction or a sentence, the preceding provisions of this section shall be construed as including power to award any punishment, whether more or less severe than that awarded by the magistrates’ court whose decision is appealed against, if that is a punishment which that magistrates’ court might have awarded.

s.48(5) - this section applies whether or not the appeal is against the whole of the decision.

s.48(6) - in this section “sentence” includes any order made by a court when dealing with an offender, including—

(b) a recommendation for deportation made when dealing with an offender.

(b) it appears to the court, having regard to the nature of the offence, the antecedents of the offender and the risk of his committing further offences if set at large, that if a hospital order is made a restriction order should also be made, the court may, instead of making a hospital order or dealing with him in any other manner, commit him in custody to the Crown Court to be dealt with in respect of the offence.

s.45(2) - an appeal by a child or young person with respect to whom any such order has been made, whether the appeal is against the order or against the finding upon which the order was made, may be brought by him or by his parent or guardian on his behalf.

No hospital available

R. v Jones [1977] Crim LR 158

Where a hospital order is suitable but no hospital is available, it is not appropriate for an appeal to come before the Court of Appeal as the only purpose to be served is to give the issue publicity. There is no reason to suppose the court will be able to make a hospital order.

Fresh evidence

Where a defendant wishes to rely on a medical report to suggest that a hospital order should be imposed, the rule for the admission of fresh evidence under CAA 1968 s.23 had to be applied.

[Where an appellant suffers from a mental disorder], the aim of any “fresh evidence” that this appellant wishes the court to receive on appeal pursuant to s.23 of the Criminal Appeal Act 1968 (as amended) must be to assist in satisfying the burden upon him that: (i) at the time of sentence he was suffering from a mental disorder that was susceptible to treatment; (ii) the reason for the offence was the appellant’s mental disorder; (iii) the appellant does not pose a significant risk of serious harm to members of the public occasioned by the commission of serious offences if his mental disorder were to be cured or substantially alleviated; so that (iv) the sentence of custody for life was wrong in principle.

In the context of conviction appeals, this court has emphasised that fresh expert evidence (which in many cases concerns the mental state of the appellant), will not automatically be received by the court pursuant to s.23 of the Criminal Appeal Act 1968: see R. v Erskine; R. v Williams [2010] 1 W.L.R. 183 . Reception will depend on the facts and circumstances of the particular case. Whilst the court must have regard to the matters set out in s.23(2) , ultimately the test is the broad one set out in s.23(1) , viz. whether this court thinks it “necessary or expedient in the interests of justice” to receive the proposed “fresh” evidence. Judicial recommendations

2.21 The Criminal Justice Act 2003 introduced a power for sentencers, when passing sentences on those who have committed offences on or after 4 April 2005, to recommend to the Secretary of State the inclusion of specific additional licence conditions. The Secretary of State is required to give due regard to any such recommendation. There is a presumption that wherever possible, all such recommendations will be included when releasing a prisoner on licence. However, it is accepted that in some cases, the circumstances of the offender may have changed to such a degree that the concerns leading to the judicial recommendation are no longer relevant or that the condition may be detrimental to managing the offender’s risk.

2.22 The Governor of the holding prison will send information on any judicial recommendations to the relevant Probation Trust shortly after the prisoner has been received after sentencing into custody using a copy of the record sheet 5089. Chief Executives of Probation Trusts have been advised to record locally any court-recommended condition(s) and ensure that it is considered prior to ANY type of release under Chapter 6 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 occurring.

2.23 If the OM assesses the recommended instructions as not being necessary or proportionate to managing the risk of the offender in the community, they must consult with PPCS to seek authority to omit such conditions from the licence. In cases where PPCS feels it to be detrimental or inappropriate to include the court-recommended licence condition in the licence, it will write to the sentencing judge to advise him/her of the decision and will provide reasons, and will also inform the Governor of the holding prison so that it may be recorded.

s.125(1) - every court—

(a) must, in sentencing an offender, follow any sentencing guidelines which are relevant to the offender's case, and

(b) must, in exercising any other function relating to the sentencing of offenders, follow any sentencing guidelines which are relevant to the exercise of the function, unless the court is satisfied that it would be contrary to the interests of justice to do so.

Offence ranges: No duty to sentence within category range s.125(2) - subsections (3) and (4) apply where—art.7(1) - existing guidelines which have effect immediately before the coming into force, by virtue of article 2 and paragraph 8 of the Schedule, of section 125(1) of the 2009 Act (sentencing guidelines: duty of court) are to be treated as guidelines issued by the Sentencing Council for England and Wales under section 120 of the 2009 Act (sentencing guidelines).

art.7(5) - in this article, “existing guidelines” has the meaning given in paragraph 28(2) of Schedule 22 to the 2009 Act.

s.126(3) - Subsections (2) to (5) of section 125 apply for the purposes of determining the notional determinate term in relation to an offence as they apply for the purposes of determining the sentence for an offence.

Interpretation

CJA 2009 s.126<sup>1960</sup>: Determination of tariffs etc.

s.126(4) - in this section references to the notional determinate term are to the determinate sentence that would have been passed in the case if the need to protect the public and the potential danger of the offender had not required the court to impose a life sentence (in circumstances where the sentence is not fixed by law) or, as the case may be, an extended sentence of imprisonment or detention.

s.126(5) - in subsection (4) “life sentence” means a sentence mentioned in subsection (2) of section 34 of the Crime (Sentences) Act 1997 other than a sentence mentioned in paragraph (d) or (e) of that subsection.

(b) the High Court has determined a case stated for the opinion of that court on any question arising in any proceeding leading to or resulting from the conviction.

s.142(3) - where a court gives a direction under subsection (2) above—

Criminal Procedure Rules

Under section 155(7), Criminal Procedure Rules can extend that period of 56 days where another defendant is tried separately in the Crown Court on the same or related facts alleged in one or more indictments.

5.1.1.3. Extent of the power

Note: Save for some minor differences between the two powers (e.g. there is no time limit in the Magistrates’ Court) there appears no reason to treat the powers differently.

There must be a hearing in open court and the defendant is entitled to be present at all stages of the sentencing procedure.

Note: This is subject to the Criminal Procedure Rules rule 28.4(4).

The power may be used to increase or reduce the sentence.

R. v Nodjoumi (1985) 7 Cr. App. R. (S.) 183

Cases probably have occurred—they certainly could occur—when the sentence having been passed, the grateful defendant then refuses to give evidence [for the prosecution against co-defendants]. In such a case it might be just that the sentence should be reviewed. Subject to that kind of case, in our judgment, trial judges should not after an interval of days, and after thinking over what they have done by way of sentence, decide that their sentence has been over-lenient. (Lawton LJ, at p.190)

There are also, we think, very good reasons why, when a change is considered to be necessary, it should not usually be markedly radical as it undoubtedly was in the present case. A rare circumstance only, unknown at the time of sentencing, could warrant a departure from that well understood principle or practice. Increasing a sentence by variation, though not unknown in the past, should be carefully avoided. (Watkins LJ, at p.211)

Holmes v Liverpool Justices [2004] EWHC 3131 (Admin)

If it is appropriate for the powers under section 142 to be used, and if they in truth extend to cover this sort of situation where an increase in sentence is intended [which the Court later held they did, albeit only in “very rare circumstances” – see para [43]], then the power must be exercised very speedily. (Collins J, at [26])

…this Court has made it clear that the power to increase the sentence should be exercised with care: see Woop [2002] 2 Cr. App. R. (S.) 65 (p.281). But in our view, the power to increase the sentence would be properly exercised if the mistake was that the court had failed to appreciate for example that the “specified” offence was a “serious” offence, so that the mandatory provisions of s.225 or 227[1976] required an indeterminate sentence as opposed to an extended sentence. Equally the power could be exercised where the mistake was a failure to recognise the offence as a “specified” offence, as a result of which an ordinary determinate sentence or other disposal has been imposed. Whatever inhibition there may be on increasing sentences cannot apply if the court is merely seeking to comply with its statutory obligations. (Latham J, at [7])

The consequence of rescinding a sentence is that the convicted offender is, as a result of the quashing of his sentence, back before the court as a convicted but unsentenced defendant. It seems to us to follow that the court is then in the same position as it was at the time that the original sentence was imposed. It, accordingly, has all the powers it had at that time. It is difficult, therefore, to see why the court should not have jurisdiction, in accordance with R v Annesley [1976] 1 WLR 106 , to adjourn sentence, having quashed the original sentence, if the justice of the case so requires. (Latham J, at [14])

…[the s 155 PCC(S)A variation hearing] should be listed so that all the interested parties, not only the defendant, but the victims, and the public and the media may be present if they wish. This variation hearing undoubtedly took place in open court, but if no one with a direct interest in the case had any idea that it was to be listed, for those most closely concerned the hearing was effectively a private hearing. That should not happen. (Lord Judge CJ, at [32])

1976 This example is obviously no longer relevant however it serves to demonstrate the type of “mistake” that the court considered it permissible to use the power to vary a sentence to increase it.
5.1.2. Common law power: Variations after the statutory time limit has expired

5.1.2.1. Existence of the power

Lawrie v Lees (1881) 7 App. Cas 19 (HL)

There is an inherent power within every court to vary its own orders to carry out its own meaning.

R. v Michael [1976] QB 4141977

The cases show that the court can have an inherent jurisdiction to amend or rectify the order recorded in its record to make such record accord with the order intended by the court.

5.1.2.2. The extent of the power

R. v Michael [1976] QB 4141978

The cases show that the court has an inherent jurisdiction to amend or rectify the order recorded in its record to make such record accord with the order intended by the court.

Customs and Excise Commissioners v Menocal [1980] AC 598 (HL)

[what is now s 155 PCC(S)A 2000] lays down very clearly that any sentence or other order may be varied or rescinded by the Crown Court within 28 days (as it then was) beginning with the day on which the sentence or other order was made. There is however no power in the Crown Court to vary or rescind a sentence or any other order after the expiry of that period. (Lord Salmon, at p.607)

The judge imposed a criminal bankruptcy order but omitted to specify the amount of loss or damage arising from the offence, as required by statute. After the time limit expired, the error was drawn to the judge’s attention and he made the necessary specification. The defence contended that the order was defective and it was too late to vary the order. The Court of Appeal distinguished Customs v Menocal (above) and were reinforced by the decision in Michael (above). The Lord Chief Justice said, at p.209:

Having regard to the existence of the power, having regard to the total unimportance of the alteration performed, we think that that distinguishes this case from the earlier authorities to the contrary to which I have referred. We consider the learned judge properly made the adjustment which he made and it can properly be regarded as an adjustment of an inchoate order which at that moment existed.

Note that this was a first instance decision.

Note that this was a first instance decision.

The defendant had been sentenced to an extended sentence but the way in which the sentence had been articulated by the judge did not comply with the requirements of the relevant legislation. The judge then sought to vary the order outside of the permitted period, relying on Michael and Saville (both above). The defendant appealed. The Court of Appeal found that the judge had not been entitled to adjust the sentence outside of the 56-day period permitted by the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s.155, notwithstanding the fact that the appellant would not have been adversely affected by the adjustment. Customs v Menocal (above) made clear that “any variation of substance made after the expiration of the time limit of 56 days will be of no effect” (Sir Brian Leveson PQBD, at [17]). Additionally, the variation was made without the defendant present, contrary to authority.
5.2 Commencement of sentence

Sentences cannot be backdated

PCC(S)A 2000 s.154: Commencement of Crown Court sentence

s.154(1) - a sentence imposed...by the Crown Court when dealing with a defendant shall take effect from the beginning of the day on which it is imposed, unless the court otherwise directs.

[the authorities] lead us to the conclusion that courts of assize and quarter session did not have power to ante-date their sentences. If there was such a power, there would have been no need to resort to the legal fiction under which sentences were ordered to run from the first day. There was, and there is today, no need for the existence of a power to ante-date in order to fulfil the intention of the court in relation to sentence....in our judgment, the words of [the materially identical predecessor to s 154] do not give to the Crown Court any greater powers in relation to the date from which sentences are made to run than existed by virtue of the same words used in the earlier Acts. (James LJ, at p.224-225)

Sentences to take effect from specified point in future

...there is no power either to antedate a sentence (Gilbert [above]), or to make a sentence begin at some uncertain time in the future otherwise than on the expiry of another sentence. (Rix LJ, at [11])

Effect of pending appeal on interim hospital order

SCA 1981 s.48: Appeals to Crown Court

6.2.2. Specific sentencing orders

Sentencing orders that may be appealed

General: For a discussion of the meaning of “sentence” in the 1968 Act, see R. v Hayden (1974) 60 Cr. App. R. 304. Sentence includes a compensation order and an order for prosecution costs. It does not include an order that the defendant make a contribution towards legal aid costs incurred.

“The essential key to the meaning of “sentence” in this context in our opinion is that it is an order, and it is an order made by a court when dealing with an offender, and we think that means when dealing with someone who has offended in respect of this offence. Those then are the features to which one must look in deciding whether a particular direction, to use a neutral word, made by a court is a sentence for the purposes of the Act of 1968.” (Lord Widgery CJ at [853])

\(^{2038}\) Note that the appeal is to the Civil Division of the Court of Appeal, see R. v Boggild [2011] EWCA Crim 1928.

\(^{2040}\) However R. v Thebith (1970) 54 Cr. App. R. 35 suggests that the order could not be appealed.
Note: The issue is determined by whether the specific order is considered to be “a sentence” imposed for the offence in question (see CAA 1968 s.9(1)). Accordingly, many of the sentencing orders available have been omitted from this list as the issue is uncontroversial (e.g. a Restraining Order or a fine, community order, sentence of imprisonment etc).

s.16C(3) - the condition in this subsection is that if—
(a) the reference had not been made, but the Court would not think it appropriate to grant the application by exercising the power conferred by section 18(3).

s.11(5) - the fact that an appeal is pending against an interim hospital order under the Mental Health Act 1983 shall not affect the power of the court below to renew or terminate the order or to deal with the appellant on its termination; and where the Court of Appeal quash such an order but do not pass any sentence or make any other order in its place the Court may, subject to section 25 of the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994, direct the appellant to be kept in custody or released on bail pending his being dealt with by the court below.

Reconstitution of court

Note: Where the CACD lacks jurisdiction to quash some orders, it may reconstitute itself as an Administrative Court where the constitution of the court satisfies the requirements for a valid Administrative Court bench. An example would be where a Crown Court judge has sat as a District Judge (Magistrates’ Court) under CA 2003 s.66 and the Court wishes to deal with an order made by the Crown Court judge in those circumstances. C v Winchester Crown Court [2014] EWCA Crim 339 is an example of the Div Ct sitting in place of the CoA.

s.3(2) - the Court may, instead of allowing or dismissing the appeal, substitute for the verdict found by the jury a verdict of guilty of the other offence, and pass such sentence in substitution for the sentence passed at the trial as may be authorised by law for the other offence, not being a sentence of greater severity.

Part 6 – Appeals

s.4(2) - except as provided by subsection (3) below, the Court may in respect of any related offence of which the appellant remains convicted pass such sentence, in substitution for any sentence passed thereon at the trial, as they think proper and is authorised by law.

s.4(3) - the Court shall not under this section pass any sentence such that the appellant’s sentence (taken as a whole) for all the related offences of which he remains convicted will, in consequence of the appeal, be of greater severity than the sentence (taken as a whole) which was passed at the trial for all the related offences.

s.4(4) - for the purposes of subsection (1)(a), two or more sentences are related if—
   (a) they are passed on the same day, s.13(4) - where an appeal under section 12 of this Act is allowed, the following provisions apply:—

(a) if the ground, or one of the grounds, for allowing the appeal is that the finding of the jury as to the insanity of the accused ought not to stand and the Court of Appeal are of opinion that the proper verdict would have been that he was guilty of an offence (whether the offence charged or any other offence of which the jury could have found him guilty), the Court—

(i) shall substitute for the verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity a verdict of guilty of that offence; and

(ii) shall, subject to subsection (5) below, have the like powers of punishing or otherwise dealing with the appellant, and other powers, as the court of trial would have had if the jury had come to the substituted verdict; and

(b) in any other case, the Court of Appeal shall substitute for the verdict of the jury a verdict of acquittal.

s.13(5) - the Court of Appeal shall not by virtue of subsection (4)(a) above sentence any person to death; but where under that paragraph they substitute a verdict of guilty of an offence for which apart from this subsection they would be required to sentence the appellant to death, their sentence shall (whatever the circumstances) be one of imprisonment for life.

6.4 Attorney General’s references

6.4.1. At the Crown Court

Goodyear indications: Advocate must warn defendant

…the advocate is personally responsible for ensuring that his client fully appreciates that…any sentence indication given by the judge remains subject to the entitlement of the Attorney General (where it arises) to refer an unduly lenient sentence to the Court of Appeal… (Lord Woolf CJ, at [65])

An indication of sentence at the Crown Court is a matter to be taken into account but it does not preclude the court from increasing the sentence.

6.4.2. Power to refer sentences

Power to refer

CJA 1988 s.36: Reviews of sentencing

s.36(1) - if it appears to the Attorney General—

(a) that the sentencing of a person in a proceeding in the Crown Court has been unduly lenient; and

(b) that the case is one to which this Part of this Act applies, he may, with the leave of the Court of Appeal, refer the case to them for them to review the sentencing of that person; and on such a reference the Court of Appeal may—

(i) quash any sentence passed on him in the proceeding; and

(ii) in place of it pass such sentence as they think appropriate for the case and as the court below had power to pass when dealing with him.

What does ‘unduly lenient’ mean?

CJA 1988 s.36: Reviews of sentencing

s.36(2) - without prejudice to the generality of subsection (1) above, the condition specified in paragraph (a) of that subsection may be satisfied if it appears to the Attorney General that the judge;

(a) erred in law as to his powers of sentencing; or

(b) failed to impose a sentence required by—

(zi) section 1(2B) or 1A(5) of the Prevention of Crime Act 1953;

(i) section 51A(2) of the Firearms Act 1968;

(ia) section 139(6B), 139A(5B) or 139AA(7) of this Act;

s.35(6) - in this Part of this Act “sentence” has the same meaning as in the Criminal Appeal Act 1968, except that it does not include an interim hospital order under Part III of the Mental Health Act 1983, and “sentencing” shall be construed accordingly.

2113 SI 2015/1472 made amendments to the 2006 order (see regs.2 and 3). The references to SOA 2003 ss.59 and 59A were not removed. SI 2015/1472 reg.3 contains a saving provision for the repeal of SOA 2003 s.59A for offences committed wholly or partly prior to 31 July 2015. For that reason it remains in the 2006 Order enabling a) offences of trafficking committed pre-31 July 2015 to be charged under the 2003 Act and b) the AG to refer any sentences imposed for that offence to the CACD.
Part 6 – Appeals

para.4(2) - In this paragraph, “a relevant offence” means an offence set out in paragraph 2(a) to (h), (j) or (k) or paragraph 3.

s.36(3) - for the purposes of this Part of this Act any two or more sentences are to be treated as passed in the same proceeding if they would be so treated for the purposes of section 11 of the Criminal Appeal Act 1968.

Power of the court

R. v Hughes [2010] EWCA Crim 1026

At the hearing of the Attorney General’s Reference this court had, at least in theory, the power not only to uphold or increase the original sentence, but also to reduce it or to impose a different form of sentence. (David Clarke J, at [6])

Test to apply

The first thing to be observed is that it is implicit in the section that this Court may only increase sentences which it concludes were unduly lenient. It cannot, we are confident, have been the intention of Parliament to subject defendants to the risk of having their sentences increased—with all the anxiety that that naturally gives rise to—merely because in the opinion of this Court the sentence was less than this Court would have imposed. A sentence is unduly lenient, we would hold, where it falls outside the range of sentences which the judge, applying his mind to all the relevant factors, could reasonably consider appropriate. In that connection regard must of course be had to reported cases, and in particular to the guidance given by this Court from time to time in the so-called guideline cases. However it must always be remembered that sentencing is an art rather than a science; that the trial judge is particularly well placed to assess the weight to be given to various competing considerations; and that leniency is not in itself a vice. That mercy should season justice is a proposition as soundly based in law as it is in literature.

The second thing to be observed about the section is that, even where it considers that the sentence was unduly lenient, this Court has a discretion as to whether to exercise its powers. Without attempting an exhaustive definition of the circumstances in which this Court might refuse to increase an unduly lenient sentence, we mention one obvious instance: where in the light of events since the trial it appears either that the sentence can be justified or that to increase it would be unfair to the offender or detrimental to others for whose well-being the Court ought to be concerned. (Lord Lane CJ, at p.521)

Court will consider only material available at the Crown Court

The Court stated that it was not the function of the Court of Appeal to substitute, in light of new material, its own view of what the sentence ought now to be. Rather, its task was to decide whether the judge’s sentence, in light of the material before him (or her) could properly be characterised as having been unduly lenient.
