

PROOF READ BY

The Government Legal Service opens the door to a unique community of experts who work at the cutting edge of legal thought and practice. Expect to combine intellectual breadth and depth with a balanced quality of life as you frame original law in the spirit of public service. Your scope for career mobility and personal satisfaction is immense.

Interested in Reforming Property Law?

Property, Family and Trust Team Lawyer

£43,313 - £68,250 (£41,250 - £65,000 if not professionally legally qualified)*

The Law Commission wishes to recruit a property lawyer to work in its Property, Family and Trust Law team, initially on its review of the law of easements and covenants.

We are looking either for a barrister or solicitor qualified to practise in England and Wales or a holder of a law degree who can demonstrate relevant legal experience, for example as a legal academic. You must be able to demonstrate experience in property law, be able to understand law in its social setting and to foresee the consequences of legal change. You need not be a specialist in easements and covenants, but must have an interest in the area and the ability to learn quickly. Excellent writing skills are essential.

You may apply for either a permanent or fixed term appointment or a secondment. The Commission has family friendly policies, sensible working hours and offers a civil service pension. You will join the Government Legal Service (GLS) if you are professionally legally qualified.

*Appointments will usually be made at the bottom of the scale although more may be available for an outstanding candidate.

For an information pack and application form, please contact the GLS Recruitment Team, Chancery House, 53-64 Chancery Lane, London WC2A 1QS quoting ref: 50825. Tel 020 7649 6023, Minicom 020 7406 5790 or visit www.gls.gov.uk Calls may be recorded for training and quality purposes.

Completed application forms are to be received by 27th March 2008. Interviews: week commencing 28th April 2008.

The Law Commission is committed to equality of opportunity. Applications are invited from all qualified and eligible individuals irrespective of race, age, gender, marital status, disability, religious affiliation or sexual orientation.

www.gls.gov.uk

Legal excellence in every department

ZOL

Date: 21.02.08
Revise: 26.02.08
Size: 129x192mm set
tmp.worldwide

Op: gb
4: tf
AH: Leigh

Esend: 220650
Pub: The Times